Thirty Assigned to Grades. Three Are Principals.

MATHEMATICS HEAD QUILTS

McMinville Takes Omar N. Bittner From Washington High With Increased Salary.

Forty-four teachers were elected last night at a special meeting of the Portland school board to fill the places of teachers who have resigned. Thirty will teach in the elementary schools, three are grade school principals, nine are high school teachers and two are manual training instructors. The teachers, who were recommended by D. A. Grant, city school superintendent, were elected unanimously by the board.

Mathematics Head Resigns

The resignation of Omar N. Bittner, submitted last night for the first time, caused much discussion. Mr. Bittner, who is the head of the mathematics department at the Washington high school, asked that his resignation be accepted, since he had just been offered a position as superintendent of the McMinnville schools.

A. C. Newell, member of the board, moved that his resignation be accepted, although it was not until Mr. Bittner was a valuable man and he desired to keep him if it were possible to make his salary adequate. Mr. Woodward objected to letting Mr. Bittner go, because, he said, other teachers would be offering their resignations late and leaving Portland. He voted against the resignation, since he felt that Mr. Bittner should remain here.

The necessity for choosing a site for the proposed new James John high school was brought up by George B. Thomas, member of the board. Mr. Thomas said that a site should be selected soon, so that construction could begin when the money for building will be ready in January. Frank L. Shull and Mr. Newell authorized to obtain options on sites for the building.

Two Others Resign

Resignations from Jean L. Grubb and Margaret Cunningham-Nissen were referred to the committee on educational affairs. Miss Armstrong of the Thompson school was granted a leave of absence on account of ill health for the first term of school. The salary of Miss Anne Mulhern, head of the school department of the high school, was raised to $160 to $170 a month. The board pays half of this salary.
