Do You Like Porterhouse

Probably you do. It is generally considered the choicest cut. It is also, unfortunately, the scarcest.

Steak?

Nearly one-half of the live animal is not meat at all. It consists of hide, oils, bones, etc., which have a low value compared with meat.

A live steer weighing 1000 lbs. yields only about 55% or 550 lbs. of meat.

Of this 550 lbs., only about 8% or . . . . . 44 lbs. is porterhouse.

This means that only about 4 per cent of the live weight of the animal goes into this cut.

But less than half the animals which come to market are high grade, corn fed cattle, from which the choice porterhouse steaks you like must come.

Sirloin, ribs, round, chuck, flanks, etc. make up the greater part of the dressed animal. Chucks alone amount to over one-fifth. Although palatable and nutritious when properly cooked, these cuts cannot bring the price of the finer steaks.

Naturally, these rare and popular steaks have to bring higher prices to enable the dealer to offset the low prices he has to take for cuts less in demand. Otherwise he could not keep on serving you.

And neither could we. High as porterhouse prices may seem to you, our profits on cattle, including the return from hides and other by-products have averaged only about one dollar per head during the past few years, or about onequarter of a cent per pound of beef.
