

COX STARTS TOUR OF WESTERN STATES

Month Will Be Spent in "Swing Around Circle."

22 STATES TO BE VISITED

9000 Miles Will Be Covered, Making Tour Most Extensive Since Bryan's Trek of 1896.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Sept. 2.—Governor Cox left tonight on a month's swing around the circuit through the west. In Michigan tomorrow he starts his speaking tour...

Jobs for "Dirt Farmers."

Governor Cox declared that if elected president, he would appoint "dirt farmers" to responsible governmental positions...

The democratic presidential nominee discussed agricultural questions and outlined his proposed policies in an address at the executive office to about 100 representatives of the national board of farm organizations...

Federal regulation of cold storage facilities, a fair test of private railroad ownership and the promotion of cooperative buying and selling by farmers was advocated by Governor Cox...

Cox Congratulates Farmers. Declaring himself to be "a farmer and not an agriculturist," Governor Cox said he congratulated American farmers upon "ending their Rip Van Winkle sleep..."

Advocating appointment of farmers to the federal reserve board and also regional boards, Governor Cox added "I mean by that 'dirt' farmers. You know what I mean."

"I wish there were more farmers on them now. I think many interests do not look with favor on my election because they want to change the law (the federal reserve) by making bankers only eligible for membership..."

Farmers Needed on Commissions. Farmers are needed on the tariff and interstate commerce commissions, Governor Cox said, to aid in supervising, respectively, the duties of exports and transportation.

"I don't believe there is a man on the interstate commerce commission who knows much if anything about farming. I'm not criticizing the present commission, but I am contrasting what is with what ought to be."

"More than this, I favor appointment of a dirt farmer as secretary of agriculture. You may recall I have just said in my speech of acceptance..."

"The time is here," the governor continued, "for farming to make the same development in efficiency in manufacturing, by buying as cheaply as possible, producing as much as possible in a working day and having a selling department on the farm. In the past farmers have had only one department, the selling."

Manufacturer His Competitor. "The manufacturer is the competitor of the farmer for labor. You can't get the help that you want unless you organize your business policy along the same fundamental lines. You've got to buy more intelligently than in the past, and that means you've got to buy cooperatively in America."

Agricultural sales, the governor declared, are involved in the conduct of cold storage, grain and livestock marketing. Great interests, the candidate said, control their purchase of farm products and, also, control sales to consumers by "keeping the supply just behind the demand."

Urging federal regulation of cold storage, Governor Cox added: "Unsupervised cold storage plants have caused some city people to look upon the farmer, without any justification whatever, as a profiteer."

In discussing transportation problems, Governor Cox said more terminals and material are needed.

Private Ownership Best. "But private ownership," he declared, "is entitled to the very best test possible. If service and prices can be satisfactorily guaranteed to the public, private ownership, I think it has been demonstrated as best in practically all endeavors, should continue and public ownership not thought of."

Governor Cox also urged further development of waterways with federal aid.

Advocating a definite statutory declaration of interstate conduct, Governor Cox said: "Farmers, laboring people and the public must have firm lines drawn. Instead of spying and snooping around to see who is violating the law, we ought to give help by telling you how far you can go and let business and labor know how far they can go."

committee supplemented this with the remark, "not yet."

Senator Pomeroy had the witness state that the $200,000, if divided equally among the 22 states in which senatorial elections are to be held this fall, would average $9,090 to the state and he then called attention to the federal statute limiting campaign expenditures of a senatorial candidate to $10,000, except in states where a lower limit had been set by statute.

"Now in view of the $176,000 expended in Michigan for a nomination, did your committee think that $200,000 was a reasonable sum for all the senatorial elections?" asked the Ohio senator.

"It was fairly reasonable so far as the purposes of our committee were concerned," responded Senator Poindexter.

FORMER AMBASSADOR ASSAILS DEMOCRACY

Henry Lane Wilson Makes Attack on President.

WORLD DISTRUSTS U. S.

Friendship of Italy Lost, France Is Cool and Britain Suspicious, Says Speaker.

OGDENSBURG, N. Y., Sept. 2.—President Wilson was described as an autocrat of selfish motives and unknown purposes, and his administration characterized as a "reign of autocracy and incompetence" in a speech before a republican gathering here tonight by Henry Lane Wilson, former ambassador to Mexico.

Dr. Wilson said the democratic national convention at San Francisco endorsed the Wilson administration but rebelled "at the dictation of the French Lick political syndicate" and nominated Governor Cox "for the moment this nomination was believed to be the signal for throwing off the shackles of Wilsonism" continued the speaker.

"But this belief was soon dispelled, for the standard bearer of the democratic party made his pilgrimage to Canons and standing bareheaded in the presence of the autocrat of America, made his submission, received the autocratic blessing and the autocratic kiss of peace and went on his way to make American safe for democracy."

Transfers Accepted. "The mantle of Elijah with all its patchwork of autocracy, waste, internationalism, secrecy, arrogance and intolerance was transferred to Elijah and humbly accepted by Elisha, Mr. Hyde was transformed into Dr. Jekyll."

The greater part of Mr. Wilson's speech was devoted to a scathing commentary upon President Wilson's administration. Some of the speaker's comments were:

"The American people have been asked to join in an adventurous expedition to exploit the resources of the exploitation of our institutions for the spirit of our institutions and inimical to our highest and best interests."

Shirt-tail Diplomacy. "To this has been added what might be appropriately described as 'short-tail diplomacy,' a phrase which I describe as the state of mind that induces us to get up in the middle of the night and see to it that our neighbors are doing it; and if they are not doing it, to tell them to do it; and if they are not doing it, to tell them to do it."

This "restless and opaque visioned diplomacy" the speaker said, led to the extension of American sovereignty over Haiti and Santo Domingo, to the overthrow of one Mexican president and the autocratic investiture of another and has cost us the friendship of Italy, the bitter criticisms of France, the cold distrust of Great Britain and the reproachful complaints of China.

"Too much false altruism and not enough plain, everyday common sense" was one of the speaker's characterizations of the Wilson administration and has cost us the friendship of Italy, the bitter criticisms of France, the cold distrust of Great Britain and the reproachful complaints of China.

President Wilson, the speaker said, appointed four nobodies and himself as delegates to the peace conference and then with a retinue of ethnologists, etymologists, psychologists, geographers, secretaries, valets, hotel cooks and fiddlers sailed across the ocean with oriental pomp and ceremony to make the world safe for democracy.

Four Points Untimely Fate. The speaker reviewed what he called the "untimely fate" of four of Mr. Wilson's "four points" at the peace conference, declaring that Japan obtained the approval of the conference to "the great robbery of Shanghai."

Mr. Harding, the speaker said, had declared that if elected president he would immediately set out to accomplish peace with Germany. This Mr. Wilson said could be accomplished by resolution of congress without treaty with Germany and afterward "we can call together the nations of the world for the creation of an association of independent nations which may become the instrumentalities of accomplishing the peace of the world without threatening the sovereignty of the nation."

PONZI CASE FORMS SUBJECT FOR BANKERS' CONVENTION.

Efforts Will Be Made to Secure More Stringent Legislation in Every State of Union.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Sept. 2.—Bankers of the United States intend to make use of the wide publicity involved in the Ponzi case to encourage the attention of state legislatures to enacting and perfecting more stringent laws against the Ponzi scheme, according to Richard S. Hawes, president of the American Bankers' association, who says that considerable time of the national convention to be held in Washington, October 18 to 22, will be devoted to a discussion of effective means to reduce questionable financial operations.

"There is no way of telling whether the Ponzi scheme is a new thing or well founded or not, but, whether they are fully sustained or not, questionable dealings are being staged in never ending numbers from coast to coast. Only the amount of the financial losses has made the Boston case of wide interest."

"It is possible few, if any, towns in the United States are free from the operation of some get-rich-quick game, many of them carefully cloaked in the semblance of great respectability. The annual losses involved can be talked of in billions, at least one or two, and at a time when every bit of capital is being needed to finance our reconstruction efforts."

Blue-sky legislation is scheduled for the next session of congress, a programme and will be considered by the state legislative committee at the Washington convention.

Invitation Goes Astray. Marshal Foch fails to receive bid to American Legion meeting.
