

LIBRARIANS INVEIGH AGAINST MOVIE ART

New Medium of Distribution for Films Wanted.

JAZZ MAY BE FOUGHT

Delegates Warned That "America Is Slipping Into Don't Care Attitude; 'Get By' Is Slogan."

There is no art among producers of moving pictures, according to the consensus of opinion among visiting delegates to the eleventh annual conference of the Northwest Library Association, which opened a three day session in central library yesterday.

Methods by which libraries and librarians of the northwest may combat the evil influence of the "cheap pleasures and lawless amusements" were discussed by Charles W. Smith, president of the association, in his address to the delegates.

Miss Ethel Sawyer, also of Portland, talked on "Library Extension Teaching," wherein she gave experience met in conducting such work.

Efforts to Foster Music. Miss Alice W. Jones, of Portland, told the delegates the "Portland Library Guild," it was patterned after the finer principles of union labor, combined with the old English guilds.

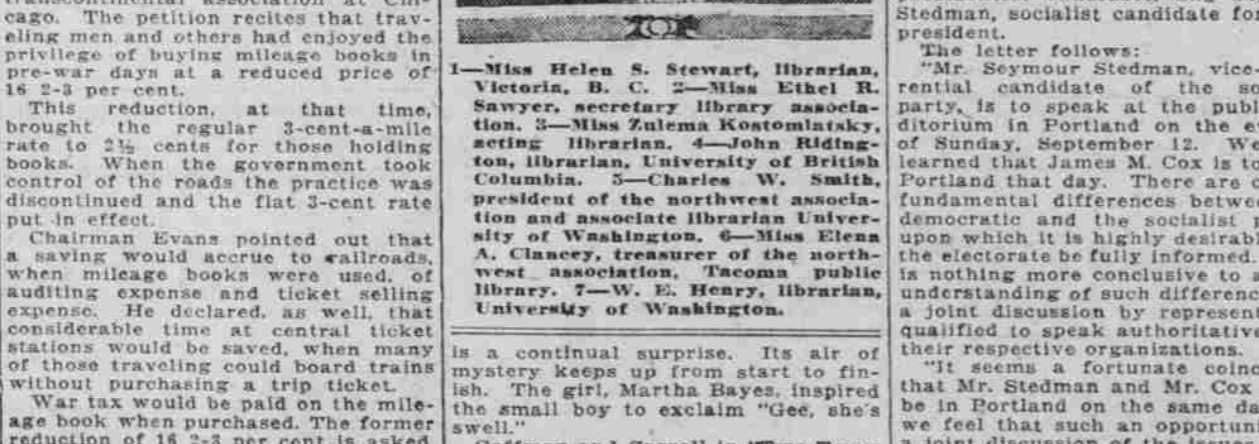

Book Reviews Symposium. Dr. R. F. Scholz, professor of history at the University of Washington, delivered the principal address at the evening session.

Travelers' Protective Official Forwards Petition. Saving to Railroads as Well as to Salesmen Pointed Out—Pre-war Rate Requested.

As chairman of the transcontinental passenger committee of the Travelers' Protective association, Clyde Evans yesterday addressed a petition asking railroads to release mileage books, forwarding them to E. L. Revington of the transcontinental association at Chicago.

Chairman Evans pointed out that a saving would accrue to railroads, when mileage books were used of auditing expense and ticket selling expense. He declared, as well, that considerable time at central ticket stations would be saved, when many of those traveling could board trains without purchasing a trip ticket.

War tax would be paid on the mileage book when purchased. The former reduction of 16 2-3 per cent is asked.

At the Theaters.

Hippodrome.

"GEE, but she's great!" The smallest boy in the back row at the Hippodrome theater voiced the sentiments of the entire audience it was evident from the applause and the general enthusiasm displayed—when he spoke up emphatically in praise of the pretty woman who is one of the members of the headlining act, the musical offering of Elwyn's Rag-Marmalade band. This coterie of four dapper and talented men and the one fair artist played everything from jazz to classic and played with vim and style that was inspiring.

"I Surely Had the Scare of My Life Yesterday"

"After I had prepared the vegetables for dinner, I had fallen out of the mounting—but I found it lying in the sink. I took it into staples today and at their suggestion I had it put in this new mounting. Isn't it beautiful? And I put up in the shop and watched the workmen. It's a wonderfully attractive dancer. Bring your diamond in and hunting. He was a cousin of Sheriff Warfield of this county, who has gone to the scene of the accident.
