dustrial revolution was marked by the shift of the people from the country to the cities and from the farms to the factories. Any change in the way the people of the nation make their living affects their moral and religious viewpoint.
Change Centuries Old.
"The early portion of the Old Testament tells us that when the Jewish people ceased to be nomadic herdsmen and became settled agriculturists that economic change made a great difference in their ethical codes and religious views. In England the substitution of coal for wood in the smelting of iron led to not only the transfer of the iron industry from one part of England to another, but it led to changes in housing and mental attitudes.
So the replacing of the hand loom by the power loom wrought many changes not only in the economic conditions, but in the moral outlook of the people concerned in that industry. So when the bulk of the working people of America began to work under new conditions and with new tools and new kinds of bosses it made many changes in their mental and moral attitude.
"Under the old economic system men worked in little shops near their own homes with their own tools. If anybody helped them they were neighbors. The relations between the employer and the employee were very friendly. They attended the same church. They visited in each other's homes. Under the old system men procured their own raw material and sold their own product.
Home Worker Has Passed.
"Not so now. With the coming of elaborate machinery and large factories and new methods of production and marketing the country home worker has disappeared. The work that was individual is now highly organized. This development of industry has created a new class, as well as a labor class. Employers and employees are no longer comrades and neighbors and friends. The employer lives on the heights or in the suburbs. The employee lives in a humble crowded street in a kind of cliff-gwelling apartment.
A comparatively small group of men control the raw material, the power, the railroads and the financial credits of this country. So we have the institution we call big business. In this country there is the most powerful financial and industrial group of masters in all the world.
"These great directing heads of American business life are not irreligious; but their religion is of the benevolent god of big business. They are all their debtors. But they have directed some movements that have been evil.
"They have lobbied in state and national legislatures against some needed progressive laws. They have influenced the courts to block them, and they have brought undue pressure upon the national government. By a series of otherwise very excellent newspapers they have disseminated propaganda that has kept them in and increased their power.
New York Gripped All U. S.
"Before the federal reserve bank law of 1913 went into effect the southern cotton broker and the western wheat and cattle sellers and the small city banker found it to their advantage to keep banks in New York banks. The federal reserve bank law partially emancipated the United States treasury, and the energetic business of the rest of the country from the tyranny of New York City.
"This group of directing financiers in the northeastern portion of our land dislike dividing power with any other group, least of all organized labor. From their central offices in Boston, New York and Philadelphia they wished to control the rules of industry.
"Statisticians estimate that the annual income of this favored class was not far from $15,000,000,000. Some of this money went to great philanthropies. Recently members of this group have talked a little about using some of this income to show labor its place.
"To control organized labor this group and other groups encouraged immigration. They created a servile unorganized labor. So they did all they could to bring sturdy men from southern and eastern Europe and to prevent the labor leaders from unionizing these new-comers. Social scientific management and the invention of the electric foot steeled this group in their fight with organized labor.
Fourth Treated Generously.
"The upper fourth of the workmen in American industry are dealt with generously. The lower two-fourths were often treated unjustly and sometimes inhumanely. They made enough money to barely exist, not enough to enjoyably live. The great war has made this class exploited submerged one-half of American working forces aware that they have rights and wish to fight for them. So the war is on.
"The church is the only institution that can prevent a revolution. And the church can prevent a revolution by guiding an evolution. The greatest economic statistician in America is Roger Babson. His frequent assertion is that the church alone of all institutions can restore stability and security to our troubled industrial order."
The cornerstone was laid by Bert Langford, member of the Bricklayers' union No. 1, assisted by E. S. Kedney, president of the Street Car Men's union, and Joe Brown, a member of the Building Laborers' union.
The ceremony incident to the laying of the cornerstone was brief. Mr. Fitzgerald presided and immediately after the rendition of a medley of patriotic airs by Campbell's American band, Ralph Wilson, veteran member of the plasterers' union, No. 24, led the large delegation gathered about the corner of the buildings of the many years of effort which ended in the actual erection of the building which soon would be ready for occupancy.
14 Halls in Temple.
The new labor temple covers a ground space of 190,150 feet. It will have a total of six floors, containing about 40 offices, 14 meeting halls, one large auditorium, with balcony, ladies' rest rooms, gentlemen's smoking room, library, reading and study rooms, billiard rooms, bathing facilities, lunch, cigar and refreshment accommodations and virtually every convenience necessary for the comfort and pleasure of members of organized labor.

The property on which the building is being constructed is valued at $50,000 and the building itself is estimated to cost approximately $220,000. It is estimated that the rentals from the various locals expected to occupy the building will amount to $25,000 a year, with the cost of operation about $19,000, leaving a profit of $6,000 annually.
Following the cornerstone laying, representatives of labor adjourned to Council Crest park, where the annual Labor Day picnic was held. Through an arrangement with the management of this park a portion of the receipts were turned over to the labor temple fund. In addition tags were sold for the benefit of the fund.
EUGENE HAS BIG TIME
Portland Boy Carries Off First Honors in Trap Shoot.
EUGENE, Or., Sept. 6.—(Special).—The labor day trap shoot, under the auspices of the Lane County Sportsmen's association, and the dedication of the new game farm, were attended by several hundred citizens of Eugene, New York and Philadelphia, and many other sportsmen from different parts of the valley, and members of the state game and fish commissions. Governor Ben W. Olcott, who was slated for an address, was unable to be here.
Short speeches were made by Louis E. Bean and Commissioner Warren and Jack. The crowds were shown the several thousand young pheasants now in the pens, to be liberated next spring, and were shown through the entire farm by attendants in charge. Many Eugene people made a picnic day of the affair, taking their lunches with them. The trap shoot was pronounced to have been one of the best ever held in the upper valley.
In the amateur class Frank Van Atta of Portland won first honors, having broken 142 birds out of 150. Abner Blair of Portland was second with 135, and P. B. Dodele of Portland third with 127.
In the professional class, Al Cook Jr. of Portland broke 142 out of 150; J. Reid of Portland was second with 128, and E. L. Deaton of Portland third with a score of 109.
Other high scores were: Newland 126, Sitton 120, McCormack 129, Veatch 134, Bud Kompp 129, Al Cook Sr. 126, Morris 122, Barkley 136, Rickard 135, Peterson 126, and Johnson 124.

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—Franklin D. Roosevelt today placed a wreath on the statue of Lafayette in Prospect park, Brooklyn, during the labor day celebration and later was presented with a silver loving cup by the 13,000 employees of the New York navy-yard. After placing the wreath, he made a speech lauding Lafayette.
NORTH BEND CELEBRATES
Labor Parades and Big Wild West Show Is Given.
NORTH BEND, Or., Sept. 6.—(Special).—Labor had a great inning here today with its celebration at Simpson park, where about 2,500 people gathered to hear the speaking, watch the sporting events and dance. A baseball game between Marshfield and North Bend was won by the Marshfield team by a one-sided score. The Wild West show to several hundred at the old baseball park. The labor parade started in Marshfield at 9:30 and ended at Simpson park at 10:30.

Young of Seattle gave one of the main talks, as did also Rev. Claude Black of Marshfield, Harry Phillips, secretary of the North Bend chamber of commerce, also spoke.
St. Helens Celebrates.
ST. HELENS, Or., Sept. 6.—(Special).—Labor day was observed in St. Helens, by a complete cessation of business. All mills closed down Saturday afternoon, as did the shipyards and terminal works. The banks, public offices and other places of business remained closed all day.
Date of Arrival in London Secret, Owing to Threats.
LUCERNE, Sept. 6.—(By the Associated Press).—The visit of Premier Lloyd George to Lucerne ended yesterday. Accompanied by his suite of 24 persons, he left on a special train for Zermatt.
Two little Swiss girls presented him with Alpine flowers and asked him to return here soon. It is learned, however, he will continue his journey from Zermatt direct to London. The exact date has not been made public, owing, it is said, to an uproar which was started by telegrams and letters, which had led to fears that an attack upon him might be attempted.
The premier, it is declared, is not concerned over these threats.
Oregon City Firemen Enter.
OREGON CITY, Or., Sept. 6.—(Special).—Oregon City was well represented at the firemen's tournament at Corvallis. Among the winners last Sunday were Clyde Helsby, Hirsch Saunders, R. Freeman, Louis Nobel Jr., Jacob Biebig, Harry Sells, Al Cox, Harry Sells, fire chief; Al Cox and Louis Nobel were among those to take part in the big water fight.

"My conscience is clear," he said. "I did what I thought best for my country and its people. I uttered no word, and did not act except with the good of my country and the peace of the people in view. I may have erred, but if I did, it was in the interest of the people instead of war."
Senator Jones declared untrue the charge that he was against preparedness, and recounted his support of the various measures, including the increase in the army, urged and recommended by Senator Chamberlain, which had the purpose of preparedness in view.
Senator Jones declared his belief in organized labor, and in the principle of collective bargaining. He reaffirmed the principle that each man has a right to quit work when he desires to do so, and the equal right to work if he wants to, and declared that organized labor should defend both rights with equal vigor.
D. D. Olds, campaign manager in Seattle for John A. Gellatly, candidate on the republican ticket for the nomination for governor, spoke at the same gathering in behalf of Mr. Gellatly, and was given an ovation.

TANLAC PUT HIM BACK ON THE JOB
Burton Again Feels Fine After Getting Rid of Chronic Stomach Trouble.
"Six bottles of Tanlac have put me back to normal shape with a gain of twelve pounds in weight," recently declared A. H. Burton, well-known carpenter, living at 482 Jarrett street, Portland, Oregon.
"For six years I suffered tortures on account of indigestion. After every meal I was seized with awful pains in the pit of my stomach, and gas formed and pressed around my heart so bad I thought I would die. I had to lie in bed for nearly a week. I had lost all desire for food and fell off in weight until I became alarmed about my condition.
"I frequently had headaches that almost drove me distracted and became so dizzy at times everything seemed to go black before my eyes. I became so nervous and irritable the least little thing would upset me, and finally I became so weak and run-down at last I had to give up work altogether.
"It was while I was in this terrible plight that I read in the papers how Tanlac was helping other people and decided to see if it wouldn't help my condition, too. Well, sir, it helped me right from the start. I very soon had an appetite like a wolf and could eat anything I wanted and never suffered a particle from indigestion.
"I steadily gained in weight and am now so much stronger I can do the hardest day's work without getting tinged out. I am not bothered with headaches, nervousness or dizzy spells any more; sleep well at night, and get up in the mornings feeling full of energy. I am giving this statement because I feel that all who suffer as I did ought to know what a grand medicine Tanlac is."
Tanlac is sold in Portland by the Owl Drug Co.—Adv.

MARKET BILL STARTS WAR

ORGANIZATION IS FORMING TO DEFEAT MEASURE.
Foes May Romp on Proposed Interest Law to Even Score With Marketing Backers.

There is growing into an organization an association of interests determined to defeat the state market commission measure which will be on the November ballot.
The measure is sponsored by the State Taxpayers' league, of which Walter M. Pierce is president. It is also rumored that this organization may make a sort of lockfire and boost the amendment to limit interest, because the market commission bill is being advocated by some of the financial interests. Men who are fighting the market commission bill deny that they are fighting for the interest windows but admit there are rumors to that effect.
Among the people who contend that they will be injured by the market commission bill are milkmen, the fruit and produce dealers on Front street, the wholesale grocers, ice cream manufacturers, farmers and the "ice cream vote."
This latter is the vote which is supposed to follow the political advice of the Anti-Blue Law league and includes cigar stands, poolrooms, candy stores and many other places, and the like. It has cut a figure in several elections in the past.

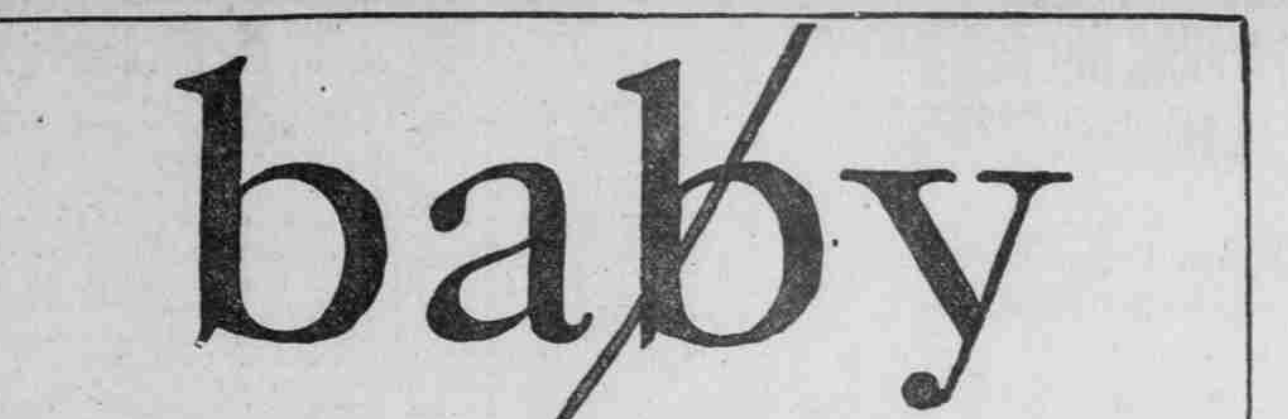

At the Theaters.
Pantages.
GAUTIER'S Bricklayers can none of them read their notices or realize the genuineness of the applause given them for their excellent act, for Gautier's Bricklayers are dogs.
They wear overalls and carry dinner buckets and probably belong to organized labor, which made their act peculiarly appropriate for opening on labor day. When the curtain goes up it discloses a brick building in process of construction, with a gang of laborers on the job. A Jiggs-like rooster bossing the work, the boys chase up and down the ladders, carrying bricks, wind up windlasses and walk around on scaffolds. An inebriated brick builder, a soft drink hound, wobbles in and out of a cafe and interferes with the work of the sober, industrious ones.
Then he experiments once too often and a load of mortar falls on him and lays him out. A grief-stricken canine widow in black weeds rushes to carry him home and a realistic Red Cross ambulance drawn by a dog made up as a horse adds realism to the scene.
When the whistle blows the gang turns into acrobats who leap from the scaffolds to flying holding and adding seeming original features in their routine.
It is an entertaining and diverting act and is an entirely new idea.
Vera Burt is a clever maid who dances like Frances White. She is completely surrounded by five men, all good dancers. They appear in original dances and in a series of imitations. Among them are Eddie Leonard, one of Pat Rooney and a group of "Friscos." A clever Yankee Doodle duo is one specialty and a Chinese duo is another. The boys and Miss Burt all dance well.
Uehrs' quartet starts its delightful act when four girls, garbed as ushers, file out of the audience onto the stage, where they sing charmingly. They are Isabel Edwards, Maude Beauty, Ray Weston and Florence Rehman. The harmony of their voices is splendid. They have made their selections with an idea to suit different tastes. They were warmly applauded.
A capital act is the opening one, in which a wizard on the wire, does, astonishingly rapid steps, and his partner, Miss Grey, dances, sings and steps smartly on the wire. There are now and diverting turns in this clever act which command attention.
A pair of comedians who entertain in a novel way are Harry and Marjorie, one at home in evening clothes and the other as "Uncle Jerry" not quite right in the regalia. Their chat is songs, amuse and interest.
Sol Bern returns with his medley made of lines from popular songs and a diverting monologue which carries laughter.
The photo play is the fourth episode of the serial fascinating series.

Chicago Specialist Says Proper Care Would Prevent Many Cases of Baldness.

Both men and women owe it to themselves to keep their hair healthy, beautiful and abundant—and the proper corrective treatment of scalp disorders will do this.

This Is Better Than Laxatives
One NR Tablet Each Night For a Week Will Correct Your Constipation and Make Constant Dosing Unnecessary. Try It!
Poor digestion and assimilation mean a poorly nourished body and low vitality. Poor elimination means clogged bowels, fermentation, putrefaction and the formation of poisonous gases which are absorbed by the blood and carried through the body.
The result is weakness, headaches, dizziness, coated tongue, inactive liver, bilious attacks, loss of energy, nervousness, poor appetite, indigestion, blood, sallow complexion, pimples, skin diseases, and often times serious illness.
Ordinary laxatives, purges and cathartics force the bowels, but do not clean—may relieve for a few hours, but real, lasting benefit can only come through use of medicine that tones up and strengthens the digestive as well as the eliminative organs.
Get a box of Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) and take one tablet each night for a week. Results will follow the very first dose, but a few days will elapse before you feel and realize the full benefit. When you feel straightened out and feel just right again you need the medicine only every day—an occasional NR Tablet will then keep your system in good condition and you will always feel your best. Remember, keeping well is cost a lot cheaper than getting well.
Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) are sold, guaranteed and recommended by your druggist.
