

SURGICAL CONGRESS OPENS HERE TODAY

Clinics Will Be Held at Various Hospitals.

PUBLIC MEETING TONIGHT

Open Session for the Purpose of Creating Greater Co-operation in Studying Health Problems.

With officers of the American College of Surgeons present from Chicago, the first annual meeting of the Oregon section of the college will open in Portland this morning and will continue throughout today and tomorrow, with a meeting tonight to which the public is invited.

This morning and afternoon and tomorrow morning clinics will be held at the various hospitals, while tomorrow afternoon and evening scientific meetings will take place at the ballroom at the Multnomah hotel. The public meeting tonight will take place at the Multnomah hotel ballroom also, and will open at 8 o'clock. It will be for the purpose of bringing the public and the physicians closer together for a study of health problems, and will mark perhaps the first time in which an open discussion of these problems has been arranged in this city. At the meeting tonight all four of the representatives of the American College of Surgeons, who are in the city for the clinical congress, will speak, while Senator Chamberlain will deliver the opening address.

Congress Opens Today.

The clinical congress will open this morning with registration at the Multnomah hotel at 8 o'clock, and all surgeons here who intend to participate are asked to register at the headquarters. From the hotel the surgeons will go to the various hospitals for the surgical clinics. St. Vincent's hospital, Drs. A. C. Smith, E. A. Sommer, J. A. Pettit, George Whitehead and Norman Fessenden conduct clinics, while at the Portland Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat hospital, Drs. Almsick, Connelley, Dickson, Kiehn and Wright will be in charge.

At 2 o'clock this afternoon there will be a surgical clinic at the Portland hospital with Drs. R. C. Coffey and W. B. Holden in charge. On Saturday morning clinics will be held at the Portland Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat hospital with the same physicians in charge as on Friday morning, and also at the Good Samaritan hospital with Drs. A. E. Rockey, A. E. Mackay and L. W. Hamilton directing.

Public Meeting Scheduled.

The event in which the public is most interested in connection with the clinical congress will take place this evening at the Multnomah hotel at 8 o'clock in the nature of an open meeting. The complete programme for the occasion is as follows:

A. E. Rockey, M. D., F. A. C. S., chairman of the day.
Opening address by George E. Chamberlain, United States senator from Oregon.
Address—"The Organization of the American College of Surgeons," by Franklin H. Martin, M. D., F. A. C. S., secretary-general of the college.
Address—"How to Study a Case," by the work of the American College of Surgeons," by Frederick T. Lusk, M. D., professor of surgery, Northwestern University medical school.

Address—"The Standardization of Hospital," by John U. Bowman, director of the American College of Surgeons, and former president of the board of regents.
Address—"Control of Cancer," by Ernest F. Tucker, M. D., F. A. C. S., regional director of Oregon, Idaho and Washington of the American society for the control of cancer.

On Saturday afternoon and evening at the scientific sessions at the Multnomah hotel talks will be made by Dr. Haggard, Dr. Martin and Dr. Besley, with the following physicians of this city aiding in the programme: J. E. Elise, A. W. Baird, R. Ellchert, Ernest Sommer and Joseph A. Pettit.

Every opportunity to entertain the visitors during their stay here will be taken, and on Sunday they will be taken over the Columbia highway by a delegation of Portland surgeons. This afternoon the women of the party will be taken for automobile trips over the city, and Saturday afternoon a reception will be tendered to Mrs. Besley at the home of Mrs. J. E. Elise, 528 East Seventeenth street North. On Saturday evening there will be a theater party for the women.

The public meeting this evening at the Multnomah was liberally announced yesterday at the various civic luncheons. Dr. Martin spoke briefly before the press club, Mr. Bowman at the Progressive Business Men's club and Dr. Haggard at the Progressive Business Women's club.

10-Acre Tract Involved in Suit.

HOOD RIVER, Or., Sept. 9.—(Special.)—Circuit Judge Wilson of The Dalles began hearing yesterday of a case involving possession of a 10-acre tract of land at Cascade Locks, which is located in the plant of the Columbia Light & Power company, which is owned by Mrs. M. J. Walsh, who gave the land in a contract calling for the donation of a certain amount of electrical energy. The case hinges on interpretation of the contract.

September 28 by Mary Harris ARMOR, L. D., national W. C. T. U. worker and organizer and field secretary for Georgia. Mrs. ARMOR will take for her subject "The Volstead Act." Mrs. ARMOR will be remembered by Washington audiences as a figure in the 1915 fight for state prohibition.

The Community Service Girls will give a dance on the barge Swan Saturday night, leaving foot of Jefferson street at 8:30 o'clock. This will be the last time this season that Swan will make a trip of this kind. A large attendance is anticipated. The 1st infantry from Vancouver barracks will be honor guests.

BOISE, Idaho, Sept. 9.—(Special.)—The women of Boise celebrated the signing of the suffrage amendment here Saturday by the ringing of bells and the blowing of whistles. Later they planned to hold a banquet at which will be present women from all parts of the state. While Idaho has had suffrage for years, women of the state feel they have a common interest in the granting of the franchise to all in the United States. Political parties in recent conventions gave them a woman presidential elector and a woman candidate for congress.

MEDFORD, Or., Sept. 9.—(Special.)—A wedding of interest to Medford people because of the prominence of the bride and bridegroom—that of Miss Leah Walther, daughter of President H. L. Walther of the Chamber of Commerce, and Lieutenant Floyd Hart, teller of the First National bank and veteran of the aviation service, Tuesday. A wedding breakfast followed the ceremony at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. DeWitt, service Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. Hart departed on their wedding trip.

The woman's auxiliary of Grace Memorial Episcopal church will give a silver tea Tuesday from 3 to 5 P. M. in the rectory, East Sixteenth and Welder streets.

Two dainty little misses, twin daughters, arrived yesterday to gladden the home of Mr. and Mrs. Norris B. Stone. Dainty gifts and flowers are being sent to welcome the new arrivals, who have been named Caroline Chastaine and Helen Louise.

State W. C. T. U. headquarters was the scene of a pleasant impromptu social affair Tuesday afternoon. Members of the entertainment committee for the coming state convention, which was to meet there at this time, learned that it was the birthday of Mrs. Madge Nears, state corresponding secretary, and so brought with them a delightful luncheon. After the business was disposed of a table was spread and an hour of good fellowship enjoyed which delightfully relieved the monotony of committee work. Beautiful flowers were also given the honor guest and brightly colored cards, many succeeding birthdays showered upon her.

OREGON BAPTISTS MEET

100 Delegates Gather at Corvallis for State Meeting.

CORVALLIS, Or., Sept. 9.—(Special.)—More than 100 delegates from all over Oregon assembled last night at the Baptist church in this city to attend the Oregon Baptist state convention.

Among the delegates are 50 ministers. The keys of the city were extended to the visitors by J. C. Lowe, mayor, while Jeff Irish, convention president, responded for the visitors. Addresses were made by Rev. Mr. Young, formerly of Albany; Mr. Starkey of Baker City and Rev. Mr. Cox of Pendleton.

MILL WORK TO RESUME

START OF TRESTLE TO MEAN COMPLETION OF PLANT.

$400,000 Already Spent on Buildings; New Structure Costs $15,000; Is Permanent.

Construction on a trestle about 300 feet long for the use of the Pacific Coast Steel company's big plant at Willbridge was begun yesterday, and the beginning of the work was taken to mean the ultimate completion of the plant and its operation as a steel casting and rolling mill. How soon the plant might actually begin operations was not learned, however, and officials of the company here declared that the construction of the trestle at this time should not necessarily be taken to indicate early operation of the plant.

The Pacific Coast Steel company plant was erected for production of steel needed for war time purposes, a large portion of the company's contracts being for steel ships. The plant was begun in January 1919, but work on it was discontinued in October of that year, after cancellation of ship contracts by the government had resulted in cancellation of steel orders and left the field in an upset condition.

About $400,000 was spent on the plant and the big building to be devoted to casting the steel into ingots, together with one of the two big furnaces, was completed. The foundation for the rolling mill was also laid, but the building itself was not completed.

The trestle will cost about $15,000 and will be of permanent construction, made of cedar piling.

REPUBLICANS FORM CLUB

Plans Made to Take Active Part in Presidential Campaign.

ALBANY, Or., Sept. 9.—(Special.)—The Linn County young people's republican club was organized here last evening at an enthusiastic meeting held in the city council chambers. Plans are being made for an active organization which will take a prominent part in the campaign.

The headquarters of the club will be in Albany, and branch organizations will be perfected in various cities and towns of the county. Miles H. McKey, a local attorney, was elected president of the club and Elmer Maskey, of the Albany Herald, secretary. John R. Penland, county roadmaster, was chosen treasurer. The president was authorized to appoint committees, and the club will be doing active work soon.

The young people who formed the club are very enthusiastic and it is proposed to enroll all of the young republicans of the county, and interest young voters, particularly, in republican primaries.

IDAHO PREPARES HEARING

Lewiston Commercial Club Names Canal Project Committee.

LEWISTON, Idaho, Sept. 9.—(Special.)—P. R. Bevis, commercial club president, has announced the appointment of a committee to prepare for the hearing on the Snake river canalization project, which will be held here October 6.

This committee will co-operate with similar committees from Clarkston and Asotin in assembling data on river transportation and completing other arrangements for the meeting.
