

SOCIALIST NOMINEE WILL SPEAK SUNDAY

Public Auditorium Engaged by Seymour Stedman.

CHALLENGE GIVEN TO COX

Democratic Standard-Bearer Defted to Debate, But as Yet Has Not Been Accepted.

Seymour Stedman, vice-presidential candidate of the socialist party, will speak at the auditorium Sunday evening. With Eugene V. Debs in jail, Mr. Stedman is the standard bearer of the party in this campaign. Also Sunday night August Gillhaus, vice-presidential candidate of the industrial labor party, frequently confused with the socialist party, is billed to speak at 231 1/2 Oak street.

Mr. Stedman has challenged Governor Cox to a debate, but the challenge has not been answered, although the democratic presidential nominee will also be in Portland Sunday.

Born in Hartford, Conn., in 1871, Mr. Stedman as a youngster tended sheep, herded cattle and worked as a messenger boy in Chicago. Before he attained his majority he was making democratic speeches, but in 1894, in the Pullman strike, he developed into a socialist. When the people's party held its nominating convention in St. Louis in 1908, Mr. Stedman was chairman of the contesting delegation from Illinois, consisting principally of members of the American railway union. After the convention, remnants of the union got together and organized the social democratic party, with Eugene V. Debs as chairman of the first executive committee. Others on the committee were Victor L. Berger and Seymour Stedman. The socialist party is the heir of that organization.

Mrs. W. M. Calk and Mrs. Ethel Stearns Spaulding will be hostesses for the Harding-Coolidge campaign club at the headquarters in the Portland hotel for the remainder of the week. Women will be welcomed and information will be given relative to registration or campaign work. The Harding and Coolidge club has no fees attached to its membership. Lithographed pictures of the republican national candidates as well as campaign buttons will be given to each person who joins.

The local committee of 48 has gone out of business, according to Rev. F. K. Howard, chairman of the state body. The explanation is that when the general committee split in Chicago the local committee followed the example until a unanimous opinion became impossible.

POISON NEEDLE WIELDED

Seattle Schoolboy Gets Mysterious Wound in Arm.

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 9.—(Special.)—Stabbed in the arm by what the police think was a "poison needle," Erick Okker, a schoolboy, living at 180th street and Woodland Park avenue, staggered into the police station today and said he "felt queer."

He was rushed to the city hospital, where marks of a prick were found. The pin was thrust into his arm, the boy said, by a man who sat next to him on a Green Lake car as he was coming down town from his home. The car was almost in the business district, he said, when he felt something sharp enter the upper part of his right arm. He became dizzy and his tongue got thick and "tingly."

The sensation left him, he said, as he got off the car, but returned a half-hour later.

The police have no theory as to the motive for the man who wielded the needle, but they did not try to talk to him.

PARK IS LABOR DELEGATE

Dr. Esther Pohl Lovejoy Asks for Labor Vote.

C. L. Park, business agent of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electrical Railroad Employees, was elected last night as the delegate from the Central Labor council to the state federation of labor annual convention at Penelton, to convene September 17. He was the unanimous choice of the council.

A committee was appointed, consisting of W. L. Hicks, E. E. Pettinell and T. J. Morrow, to investigate and report upon what may be done to assist J. Poeschl, who has made an appeal for assistance.

Esther Pohl Lovejoy, democratic candidate for congress, made a brief address in which she asked for the votes of the members of the council and of the labor organizations.

MONEY ORDER RATE HIGH

Foreign Remittances Cost Less If Sent by Bank Draft.

Conversion rates for international money orders, just put into effect, are the first change from pre-war conditions in meeting remittance money to foreign countries. Remitters of money from this country to Europe may profit by using bank drafts and forwarding them as they would postal money orders. For instance, the postoffice price of the British pound sterling is $4, while the bank price is about $2.58. The new rates are as follows: On Great Britain, $4 for £1; on the Netherlands, 25 cents for one florin; for Sweden, 24 cents for one krona; for Denmark and Norway, 20 cents for one krona; for France, Belgium and Italy, $1 for 10.20 francs. Under the new rates, $50 in American money will buy 515 Belgian or French francs or Italian lire, 257.50 Swiss francs, 250 Danish or Norwegian krona, 282.5 Swedish krona, or 131.58 Dutch florins.

U. S. CRUISER AGROUND

TRANSPORT ORDERED TO ASSISTANCE OF WARSHIP.

Exact Condition of Flagship of Admiral Huse Not Indicated in Department Report.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—The armored cruiser Pittsburgh is aground in the Baltic sea, three miles off Libau, off the coast of Courland, said a report received at the navy department today.

The report was from Vice-Admiral Huse, on board the Pittsburgh, but it did not indicate whether the vessel was in serious danger.

The report said the transport Frederick, now at Antwerp, had been ordered to proceed to the assistance of the Pittsburgh after transferring to another transport her passengers, consisting chiefly of the navy Olympic team.

No details of the cause of the Pittsburgh's grounding were given in the report. The cruiser was proceeding to Revel from Danzig.

Marine charts show a rocky shoal near the entrance to Libau harbor, and it is presumed that the Pittsburgh grounded on this.

The cruiser is the flagship of Vice-Admiral Huse, commander-in-chief of the American naval forces in European waters.

PARTY DRUG ON MARKET

COLORADO JUDGE SPRINGS ONE OF OLD FUSION DAYS.

Perfectly Good Political Deal Lay Open, but Times Were Not Too Prosperous.

"The allegations of Governor Cox that the republican party is trying to buy the presidency reminds me of the story that is related in Colorado of the days when fusion of political parties was the vogue," said George W. Allen, justice of the supreme court of Colorado, who has been a Portland visitor for the past month.

"In 1898 the state conventions of the democrats, silver republicans and populists were called to meet at Colorado Springs at the same time. It was the hope of the leaders of the parties that all could agree upon candidates so that a united front could be presented in the election, and that by consolidation the republican candidates could be defeated. The democrats held the opera house, the silver republicans a hall near by and the populists were holding their convention in a church. The populists were very particular that none except bona fide members of the party gain admission to the building and had stationed a doorkeeper outside the main entrance. After the conventions had been in session two days without finishing their work a republican came along the street and observed that an acquaintance was on guard for the populists. Approaching his friend he said:

"Hello, Bill, how is your convention getting along?"

"We are getting along fine," was the reply, "and I think we will succeed in this amalgamation all right if the democrats don't buy us."

UNDERTAKERS END MEET

Final Demonstration in Embalming Work Is Given.

The joint session of the Oregon and Washington funeral directors' associations ended yesterday afternoon with the final demonstration of embalming work, conducted by Professor A. W. Orsham of Chicago, at the North Pacific Dental college. Today the visiting undertakers and members of their families will be guests of the local entertainment committee for a trip over the Columbia river highway, with a barbecue dinner at Eagle creek.

D. Kenworthy, secretary of the Oregon association, pronounces the session the most successful that has ever been held. The joint session was educational in character, being devoted to lectures and demonstrations of the latest methods employed in the preparation and care of bodies for interment.
