CANDIDATES DEVOTE DAY TO PREDICTIONS

Washington on Eve of Primary Election.

King County Is Battle Ground Be cause of 45 Per Cent of State's Voting Strength.

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 12 .- (Special.)—Campaign managers and candidates for governor devoted most of Sunday to summing up the situation and election forecasts were issued from several headquarters.

King county is the prize for which the aspirants have been contending the closing days of the campaign. Geographically speaking, nearly all of the candidates have certain positive strength, but it is to King county that they all must look for the vote that is to assure them victory.

Governor Hart depends largely on southwest Washington as the founds.

southwest Washington as the founda tion of his campaign; Colonel Hart ley's claim to the popular vote in the northwest is not seriously disputed John A. Gellatly must carry the north central portion of the state to make a proper showing in the primaries; Sen ator Coman relies on eastern Washington to give him a big enough lead to win, and Senator Lamping expects to carry King county.

King County Battleground.

With more than 45 per cent of the total registered vote of the entire state in King county, this becomes the natural battleground on Tuesday. Even money has been offered that Hartley will carry Seattle and King county. The same prevails for Mr. Coman has a club of 100 workers in the city; Lamping's friends have not spent much time and only "little money here, figuring that it was unnecessary." Gellatly and Hart-ley have matched their wits against Coman and Hart in an endeavor to line up the Scattle vote, and indica-tions are that it will be cut five ways. Stringer has been a negative factor in the campaign. The other candidates have made their estimates without regard to his candidacy.

The candidates are perplexed in their efforts to analyze the attitude of the women voters. There has been or attempt to win the women on a strict party issue. The appeal to women has been on platform pledges. with particular reference to welfare legislation and those things in which women are vitally interested. The organizations of women throughout the state—social, political and indus-trial—have studied candidates and issues. They have invited candidates to meet with them, have asked many questions and then made up their The women represent the real silent vote in the primary campaign, but when they go to the pells they will know exactly what they intend to do.

All Profess Confidence.

All of the candidates profess confidence in the outcome of the primary election. Governor Hart was in Sefor a short time Sunday and over the King county situation with his campaign managers. He left for Snohomish county in the afternoon, but before going the following statement was issued by Lee Johnson, in charge of his local headquarters, after consultation with Ed Conference With Railroad Heads during the six days of travel.

Clifford, state manager:
"There are 127,000 registered voters in King county. There will be 90,0 votes cast for the republican and democratic gubernatorial candidates, and out of this number the republican nominees will divide 75,000 votes between them. Governor Hart will remy own organization to follow closely the fortunes of any of the county candidates and could not make a guess as to the several interesting races that would have any founda-tion in fact. As to Governor Hart, however, I am more confident of my figures being conservative and nearer correct than ever I have been when picking a winner in any campaign with which I have been connected.

Gellatly Forces Enumerated. The King county organization for Governor Hart has been as active as and the situation will be brought be-limited finances would allow, and we have had most loyal support from in-week in Seattle. dividual, club and organization workers. A candidate with such willing and enthusiastic workers backing up his efforts cannot help but win."

ORGANIZING COUNSEL HERE D. D. Olds, campaign manager for John A. Geliatly, said: "Mr. Geliatly, starting his campaign four months ago politically unknown, will enter the primaries tomorrow with practi-cally the entire strength of the pro-hibition and moral forces of the state solidly behind him, with a large labor vote, as evidenced by the indorsement of different locals over the state, and of Senator Coman's campaign, said: "Coman will carry the counties of Adams. Asotin, Benton, Columbia, Adams, Asotin, Benion, Columbia, Douglass, Ferry, Franklin, Garfield, Grant, Lincoln, Kittitas, Okanogan, Pend Oreille, Spokane, Stevens, Walla Walla and Whitman. This is every county in eastern Washington with the exception of Chelan, which is conceded to Gellatly, and Yakima, which is in doubt because of the activities. is in doubt because of the activities of the Non-partisan league." Results Not Feared.

We will come to the Cascades with 26,000 or 27,000 votes, and I think we are very conservative when we say that Coman will receive at least 15,000 on this side of the mountains. In other words, we feel sure of 40,000 votes for Coman, whereas we think 33,000 will be enough to nominate. We do not think there will be more than 146,000 republican votes cast." "We have no fears as to the result of the primary election and no doubt except as to the amount of Colonel Hartley's plurality," said R. R. Senator Judd of Chehalis, seeking the democratic nomination for governor, predicts his nomination over Judge Black. Judd has made the fight for the Lister faction in the party. Practically the entire Lister organization has been back of him. The managers of Judge Black's campaign, on the other hand, have issued a statement predicting his nomination by an overwhelming vote.
