

MEMORIAL SERVICE FOR THE END OF THE WAR

Session Is Thirty-Seventh for Puget Sound.

7 MINISTERS ELEVATED

Next Conference to Be Held at Bremerton If Church Can Entertain Visitors.

OLYMPIA, Wash., Sept. 12.—(Special.)—The Puget sound conference of the Methodist Episcopal church closed its 37th annual session here tonight.

The session tonight was largely devoted to the announcement of ministerial appointments for the ensuing year. The appointments are made by the bishop with the advice of his cabinet, which comprises the superintendents of districts. The list of assignments was read to the conference by William O. Shepard, bishop.

The conference was held at the First Methodist Episcopal church here tonight. The conference opened Wednesday morning and it had been planned to continue until tomorrow but by holding an extra session last evening the programme was completed in time for an earlier adjournment.

The session tonight was largely devoted to the announcement of ministerial appointments for the ensuing year. The appointments are made by the bishop with the advice of his cabinet, which comprises the superintendents of districts. The list of assignments was read to the conference by William O. Shepard, bishop.

The following new ministers were taken into conference for the required two years' trial period:

Seven Taken In. Rev. Arch Trompauer, University church, Seattle; Rev. Earl W. McAbee, Crown Hill church, Seattle; Rev. Joseph E. Norton, First church, Seattle; Frank L. Lowther, Clark county; Rev. Arthur C. Baer, Pennsylvania.

Selection of a place for holding next year's conference is to be made later by the board of superintendents, with the understanding that it will go to Bremerton if the church in that city is by that time prepared to entertain the ministers and their wives.

The appointments as announced for the ensuing year follow:

MAJESTIC PICTURE NEWS

THE MARY PICKFORD OF "SUDS," THIS WEEK'S STELLAR ATTRACTION AT THE MAJESTIC THEATER.

Today's Film Features. Peoples—May Allison, "The Cheater." Liberty—Norma Talmadge, "Yes or No." Columbia—Fannie Hurst's "Humoresque." Rivoli—Eric Von Stroheim's "The Devil's Passkey." Majestic—Mary Pickford, "Suds." Star—Harry Carey, "Blue Streak McCoy." Circle—William Farnum, "The Spellers." Globe—Constance Talmadge, "A Lady's Name."

LOST are the golden curls, gone is the Mary Pickford background of luxurious wealth or old-fashioned comfort and entirely lacking in the smirking, over-waxed hair of the first time in Portland at the Majestic this week.

The heroine of "Suds" is not a beauty. She does not even acquire beauty, or a handsome lover, or wealthy parents. She is a poor little slave in a French laundry conducted in the London slums. Her work is washing the stone floor, dirty linen or anything but her sharp, homely little face.

Only an artist could maintain the difficult role of Sudsy, and perhaps those who have regretfully missed the party, fancy, baby-doll Mary Pickford in the London slums. Her work is washing the stone floor, dirty linen or anything but her sharp, homely little face.

Two thousand extras were used in the production of "Roman Candles" and the production of "Suds" is no exception. The production of "Suds" is no exception. The production of "Suds" is no exception.

Frank Campeau is playing the role of the villain in "The Killer." His role is to play the villain in "The Killer." His role is to play the villain in "The Killer."

Erlich von Stroheim, director of "The Devil's Passkey," now at the Rivoli, has a double. Stroheim now only directs "Foolish Wives," but also plays the leading heavy role, his double assuming the part while he is rehearsing the scene.

Albert Gillette and Ida Lidyard are the singers of the musical and song act being put on this week in connection with Norma Talmadge's "Yes or No" at the Liberty theater.

Allen Hubbar will soon deliver his super-feature, "Man, Woman and Marriage," to First National for release. More than $25,000 and five months' work have gone into the production.

The artistry of Dorothy Phillips, the direction of Holman, a supporting cast of exceptional ability and a story that is of universal appeal, have made one of the most successful pictures of the current season.

James Kirkwood is in support of the star, Miss Phillips. Among other well-known names in the cast are those of Robert Cain, Margaret Mann, Barney Sherry and Mlle. Valerie de Chevalier.

Roy Stewart, known everywhere for his virile portrayals of western screen characters, is negotiating to return to southern California with the record-breaking sea-sprinter, Vogler Roy III, owned by F. W. Vogler, Portland (Or.) yachtman.

FIGHT FOR GOVERNOR HOT

Judd Seems to Be Favorite of Democrats; Hartley and Hart Lead Among Republicans.

(Continued From First Page.) The state. Judd also is handicapped by the fact that he did not enter the race until late while Black started his campaign early.

Other democrats who have filed for places on the ticket and who will be nominated without opposition are George F. Cotterill, former mayor of Seattle, for United States senator; H. C. Bohike of Grandview, former member of the legislature, for lieutenant-governor; George H. H. Tacoma, for secretary of state; C. C. Gibson, Davenport, for state treasurer; John W. Hanna, Wenatchee, for attorney-general; Albert Schooley, Chelan, for state land commissioner; Jesse F. Murphy, Seattle, for insurance commissioner, and Catherine Montgomery, Bellingham, for superintendent of public instruction.

For congress on the democratic ticket, Hugh C. Todd of Seattle will be opposed for nomination in the first district; George P. Fishburne of Tacoma, in the third district; Fred Miller of Colfax, in the fourth and Charles Fleming of Spokane, in the fifth. In the second district Representative Hader, a republican, will have no opposition in either party.

Farmers to Choose Bridges. The farmer-labor party will name Albert Bridges of Orilla for governor and slighted in Culver City. Some ticket will be nominated without opposition. These are Clark V. Savidge for commissioner of public lands, and J. George Hinkle for secretary of state.

Of the five republican representatives in congress only two are unopposed for nomination, Lindsey H. Hadley in the second, and Albert Johnson in the third. In the first district Representative Miller is fighting for re-nomination against Frank Pierce of Harper and H. Alvin Moore of Seattle. In the second district Walla Walla has formidable opposition in Captain E. K. Brown of Ellensburg. In the republican primary, while Representative Webster of Spokane is opposed by Thomas Corkery also of Spokane.

Senatorial Fight Three-Covered. United States Senator Jones, backed by the party organization; Colonel William M. Inglis, supported by the ex-servicemen; and Lindley H. Ingraham, supported by the Railway Men's Welfare league, are engaged in a three-cornered fight for the nomination for United States senator.

Colonel William M. Inglis, an over-seas man with a splendid military record, is without organization support in his fight against Senator Jones. Captain W. J. Coyle, wounded in action overseas, finds the organization divided between Sharpstein and French for lieutenant-governor and apparently preferring either to Coyle or J. Grant Hinkle is a Spanish-American war veteran, and has no opposition for secretary of state. As he is holding the office now by appointment of Governor Hart, his reelection on the republican ticket is not expected to be accepted by the ex-servicemen of the world war as any recognition of their claims.

Colonel Roland H. Hartley, candidate for governor, is a Spanish-American war veteran and the only gubernatorial candidate with actual military service to his credit, but the "Dolly" club on account of complications which might result, refrained from taking part in the fight for governor. The State Auditor Clausen has the support of the organization, although an ex-serviceman is running against him. The situation in regard to insurance commissioner is somewhat different. H. O. Fishback, incumbent, is opposed by insurance agents because he has insisted that the commissioner have more regulatory power over rates established by the rating bureau.

While Thompson was 16 months in the service and made every effort to get into action, he was unable to get overseas. Colonel William M. Inglis, an over-seas man with a splendid military record, is without organization support in his fight against Senator Jones.

mary by George Bundy of Seattle. Bundy is an ex-serviceman of two wars.

Three candidates are contesting for the nomination for state treasurer, John B. Orion of Aberdeen, Clifford L. Babcock of Port Angeles and John L. Murray of Friday Harbor. Attorney-General Thompson, an ex-serviceman, appears to have a reasonably certain prospect of being nominated to succeed himself, although he has opposition in Thomas Francis Hunt of Seattle. Thompson was appointed to fill the unexpired term of V. Tanner, resigned, and his record has been such as to command general indorsement.

H. O. Fishback, state insurance commissioner, has had eight years in that office and is being opposed for re-nomination by Robert E. Dwyer. Dwyer is an ex-serviceman and was in military service. He has made a vigorous campaign.

Mrs. Josephine Preston, state superintendent of public instruction, is to have Mrs. Elizabeth Jones of Everett for an opponent in the primary. Mrs. Preston was last year elected president of the National Educational association. When the primary Mrs. Preston's legislature was called last March, Mrs. Preston insisted on the passage of measures for the relief of the common school teachers, against the protest of Governor Hart, who in a telegram to Mrs. Preston, declared that nothing was accomplished in measure call as would in any way affect the common school situation. Mrs. Preston, however, insisted on something being done to provide better pay for the teachers and to maintain the rural schools. She called a meeting of school officials of all counties while the special session was convened and succeeded in having the state contribution for school districts increased from $10 to $20 for each school child.

Her insistence on injecting the "book problem" into the special programme incurred the resentment of Governor Hart, as the result was regarded as a somewhat being done to provide better pay for the teachers and to maintain the rural schools. She called a meeting of school officials of all counties while the special session was convened and succeeded in having the state contribution for school districts increased from $10 to $20 for each school child.

For Judge of the supreme court three candidates are to be named, Judges Tolman, J. B. Bridges and Chief Justice Holcomb are candidates to succeed themselves. Walter B. Stone, an ex-serviceman of Seattle, also is a candidate.

One feature of the republican primary which seems to have been lost sight of by the party organization and by this is meant the real factors in formulating and directing party policies and the practical engineering of desired results rather than those who hold only titular place in the organization to carry out the details of agreed plans, is the representation to be given the soldier vote in selecting the state ticket.

Whether this oversight has been intentional or whether leaders have been unable to reach an agreement on the matter in Culver City. Some ticket will be nominated without opposition. These are Clark V. Savidge for commissioner of public lands, and J. George Hinkle for secretary of state.
