

FATHER DROWNED, CHILD, 7, IS SAVED

Daughter Taken From Boat in Willamette.

WIDOW, FIVE BABES SURVIVE

"Daddy Fell in Water," Girl Sobs to Rescuers.

OUTING ENDS IN TRAGEDY

Parent Last Seen as He Started Up Willamette River at Salem on Fishing Trip.

SALEM, Or., Sept. 19.—(Special.)—Glen Sawyer, 28 years old, a mechanic employed by the Oregon Pulp & Paper company, was drowned in the Willamette river here late today. His daughter, Mary, 7 years old, was rescued while floating down the stream in a rowboat.

A widow and five small children survive. Two men, who were walking along the river bank at 8 o'clock tonight, heard the cries of a child and after investigating discovered they came from a boat in mid-stream. One of the men swam to the craft and pushed it to shore.

Last Seen Starting on Outing.

The child said that her father fell overboard.

Mr. Sawyer was last seen at 5 o'clock this afternoon when he and the child started up the river on a fishing trip.

All that Mary could tell her rescuers was that "daddy fell in the water." She was hysterical with grief. Police accompanied her to the family home, where Mrs. Sawyer corroborated the report that the child and father had gone fishing at 5 o'clock.

Efforts to locate the body of Sawyer were made by residents, but up until a late hour tonight were unfruitful. In the boat were found fisherman's paraphernalia, hooks, line and bait. The oars were in the locks when the rescuers pulled the boat on the bank.

Water 12 Feet Deep.

According to little Mary, her father was about 30 yards from the bank when he fell overboard. The water is very still near where the tragedy occurred, and is about 12 feet deep.

The child was rescued at 8 o'clock, which leads the party dragging for the body to believe that Mr. Sawyer was drowned between 7:30 and 8 o'clock. The boat could not have floated very far down stream, owing to the hour at which Mr. Sawyer started up.

Mrs. Sawyer said her husband was not subject to heart disease, when asked if it were possible that he could have been stricken while standing in the boat or leaning over the side.

Suicide Report Denied.

A report that death was due to suicide was denied by neighbors and hundreds of persons who have known the family for many years.

Some of the men who worked with the drowned man in the mill, and who knew him intimately, told of a swimming party last summer on the Willamette. Mr. Sawyer was a member of the party, and was described as a "good" swimmer. That was the last time he is known to have been in swimming.

Former High Sheriff of City Pleads for Men's Release Because of Forty Days' Fast.

CORK, Sept. 19.—The hunger strikers in Cork jail were reported today to be in an exceptionally weakened condition, due to a bad night experienced by all, especially Burke and Power, who have been suffering from insomnia. A Cork hospital nurse said that Hennessy was unconscious and scarcely more than living. The condition of Kennedy and Donovan was grave.

The Rev. T. Carroll of Greenagh called at the Cork jail and notified the governor of the jail that Joseph Kenny was an American citizen.

He said that Kenny, arrested on suspicion of being an Irish republican soldier and now one of the hunger strikers, had lived for many years in Montana, and that he was the father of seven children.

Father Carroll, a fellow townsman of Kenny, said he had communicated with the American authorities and had received documents establishing Kenny's American citizenship. Kenny was married in Montana and returned to Ireland to improve his health, according to the minister.

Harold Barry, former high sheriff of Cork, telegraphed the archbishop of Canterbury, asking him to intervene with the premier on behalf of the hunger strikers on the ground that they now had fasted "the 40 days and 40 nights."

ARAB REVOLT STOPS U. S. RELIEF CAMPAIGN

AMERICAN WORKERS FLEE FROM BUKUBA CAMP.

Uprising Against British Occupation in Mesopotamia Grows; Armenians, Syrians Forced Out.

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—The Arab insurrection in Mesopotamia has imperiled the work of the Baghdad branch of the American commission for relief in the near east, according to a cable message to headquarters from Dr. Phillip McDowell, in charge of the American relief activities in northern Mesopotamia.

The American relief workers have had to abandon the refugee camp at Bakuba, 25 miles northeast of Baghdad and 70 miles from the Persian frontier, the message says.

The uprising against the British occupation is reported general north of Baghdad.

Dr. McDowell states that 7000 Syrians and many Armenians in camp at Mardin were forced to move south by the bolshevist advance from Persia.

With Mr. Greene, the senator discussed pending legislation that would require the branding of shoddy shoes so the buyer would know their real character. "We merely want," Mr. Greene said, "legislation that will insure that the buyer of fabrics will know exactly what he is getting and not pay for something better than is really being furnished."

Major Hooker, who was a former member of a law firm with Franklin D. Roosevelt, brought cheering news of the campaign.

Governor Beckman, accompanied by Mr. Beckman, was a guest at the Harding home last night, departing for the east today. He issued a statement in which he asserted Senator Harding's speeches have made a great impression on the public, "while one finds universal disapproval of the campaign of vilification and false statements that the democratic nominee has been making."

Harding headquarters made public a statement issued by Congressman John L. Nolan of San Francisco; P. H. McCarthy, president of the California Building Trades council, and Daniel D. Sullivan, former president of the California Federation of Labor, following their conference with Senator Harding a few days ago when the California delegation was here. The statement said: "We have found after a most satisfactory conference that Warren G. Harding is sympathetic with organized labor in its desire for legislation to care for the wants of men, women and children of America."

It also expressed approval of his attitude as an employer toward organized labor.

The speaker is counted upon to admonish the socialists to conduct themselves in the future so that no aspersion of disloyalty shall attach to them. The lecture might take the form of a warning that if the socialists forget themselves at any time expulsion will be the punishment.

5 SOCIALISTS MAY BE SEATED TODAY

Republicans Ready to Admit Ousted Members.

CANDIDATE'S WISHES HEEDED

New York Incident to Be Kept Out of Gubernatorial Issue.

OUSTING HELD JUSTIFIED

Ejected Men Will Be Required to Acknowledge Errors and Pledge Allegiance to U. S.

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 19.—(Special.)—Barring an insurgent uprising by bitterly anti-socialist members from up the state, the republican majority in the assembly will admit the five expelled socialists to the legislature tomorrow night when it reconvenes in extra session to consider the housing problem.

The republican legislative bosses are ready to reseat the socialists on "probation," as one of them expressed it tonight, in order to respond to the desire of ex-Judge Nathan L. Miller, republican candidate for governor.

Speaker Sweet, who initiated the proceedings that resulted in expulsion of the five socialists at the regular session, is represented to have surrendered to the desire of Judge Miller and promised to raise no barriers against the socialists. So far as can be learned, however, the speaker is not actively discouraging members who threaten to disregard party policy.

Ousting Held Justified.

Sweet, who is to return to private life on January 1, has made no attempt to influence members against the socialists, even though it is known that if he consulted his own inclinations he would turn them out a second time. Heretofore uncompromising in his antagonism toward the socialists, Sweet seems willing to adopt a policy calculated to prevent the socialist expulsion from becoming a live issue in the gubernatorial campaign.

The plan of the republican leaders adopted tonight and subject to alteration between now and the time the legislature convenes tomorrow night is:

1. Declare that the ouster proceedings of last winter were fully justified and, in fact, approved by the voters in the recent primaries, when virtually all members who supported the expulsion resolution were re-nominated by increased majorities.

2. Emphasize that the socialists themselves have recognized the error of their ways by changing their party constitution and by-laws so that members elected to office may vote for war appropriations, serve without giving blank resignations to their party managers, and not be obliged to take orders from dues-paying members of the party.

3. Demand of the socialists that they forswear allegiance to the international before permitting them to take their seats in the assembly. Devotion to America and its institutions.

4. Let it be understood that the socialists are to be admitted to the assembly by changing their party constitution and by-laws so that members elected to office may vote for war appropriations, serve without giving blank resignations to their party managers, and not be obliged to take orders from dues-paying members of the party.

The understanding is that Speaker Sweet shall call the five re-elected men before the bar of the house, either of his own accord or after a resolution has been adopted instructing him to do so, and put to each man a series of questions designed to test his loyalty to country and ascertain if his party has "Americanized" itself.

If the answers of the socialists are satisfactory, Speaker Sweet is likely to address the house at some length, declaring that in view of the answers given by socialists it is then evident the verdict of last winter's "trial" was justified and the socialists have gone as far as possible to make amends for their disloyalty.

The speaker is counted upon to admonish the socialists to conduct themselves in the future so that no aspersion of disloyalty shall attach to them. The lecture might take the form of a warning that if the socialists forget themselves at any time expulsion will be the punishment.

Miller has given the leaders a forecast of the brand of political porridge he may be expected to feed them in case he is elected chief executive of the state. He has put down his foot firmly and will brook no interference when dictating the policy to be pursued.

SOLDIER FINDS WIFE WEDDED TO ANOTHER

HUSBAND THOUGHT KILLED, IS REPLY TO BIGAMY CHARGE.

"Dead" War Veteran, After Long Search, Discovers Mate With 3-Months-Old Daughter.

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—(Special.)—An Enoch Arden story was told in the Gates-avenue police court in Brooklyn yesterday, when Mrs. Frederick Mark, 23, of Brooklyn, was arraigned before Magistrate Gelsman on a charge of bigamy. She pleaded not guilty and was held in $1000 bail for examination tomorrow.

Mrs. Mark, between sobs, told the magistrate that her second marriage was contracted when she firmly believed that her husband was killed in the second battle of the Marne. Later she said she met friends of her husband who gave her similar information.

Shortly afterward Mrs. Lloyd met Frederick W. Mark, and in September last year, more than a year after she had been informed of the death of the first husband, she became Mrs. Mark. It now develops that her first husband returned from France in February of last year as a casual. He began searching for his wife, and was unsuccessful until last Thursday night, when he found her at the Hart's address, where the Marks have a five-month-old daughter.

Lloyd caused her arrest.

DEATH CELL GATE CLANGS ON HART

Slayer of Til Taylor Will Hang November 5.

INDIAN BREAKS DOWN, WEEPS

Prisoner Says He Killed Because He Was Frightened.

HOME DENIED IN YOUTH

Stepmother Forced Him Out Into World and He Fell in With Bad Company, Says Murderer.

SALEM, Or., Sept. 19.—(Special.)—Emmett Bancroft, alias Neil Hart, confessed slayer of Til Taylor, sheriff of Umatilla county, entered a death cell in the Oregon state penitentiary here at 3 o'clock this afternoon, where he will remain until November 5, when he will be hanged for the part he played in the brutal slaying of the eastern Oregon officer a few weeks ago.

Although Hart will be under close guard at all times, the formal death watch will not be placed over his cell until 30 days before the date set for the execution, according to Louis Compton, warden of the prison.

Immediately following his arrival at the penitentiary in company with Victor Arago and Henry Lamm, who are under sentence of three years for larceny in Umatilla county, Hart, in the presence of Warden Compton and other prison officials, was "dressed in."

Unaffected by Ordeal.

The prisoner appeared wholly unaffected during this ordeal, but later showed considerable concern as he was taken by a row of cells in the main part of the prison and up a long flight of iron stairs to the Bertillon chamber.

There he was photographed by the prison photographer and his Bertillon measurements taken. Hart then was locked in a cell some distance from the other prisoners, given clean clothing and informed of his rights by Warden Compton.

"We want you to do right during your brief stay with us," said Warden Compton, "and in return we expect to provide you with anything you may request as long as it is in reason."

Hart Breaks Down.

Apparently the words of the official had an unexpected effect on the prisoner, and his eyes filled with tears. "I will do right," he responded between sobs, "and will cause neither you nor the other officials any trouble."
