Oregon Escort Headed by Olcott to Be Met at 5 o'clock.

2 DAYS TO BE SPENT HERE

Chamber of Commerce Is Host at Dinner Tonight; Hood River Entertains Tomorrow.

For the wider public enjoyment of our national parks and serving as heralds and bathfinders, members of the automobile caravan of the national park-to-park association are swinging around the circle of natural playgrounds and are scheduled to arrive at the Interstate bridge at 5 o'clock this afternoon for the entrance into Portland.

Nine automobiles, with a party of 25 prominent national park enthusiasts and good roads advocates, form the caravan, which will be met at the Oregon boundary by a reception committee headed by Governor Olcott. Arrangements for the entertainment of the visitors are under the direction of W. J. Hoffmann, president of the Pacific Northwest Tourists' association. The park-to-park party will remain in Portland and vicinity two days, continuing the tour on Thursday morning, when they will leave for Crater Lake national park.

In his telegram Mr. Mather said he was making a tour of the national parks and probably would be accompanied here by Mr. McCormick of the Southern Pacific Railroad company. Mr. Dohrman, head of the Yosemite National Park, and Mr. J. H. Whetcom, head of the Rainier concession.

Governor Olcott tonight notified the members of his committee to be here Friday.

IDAHO STATE FAIR OPENS

Livestock Exhibits Are Estimated to Be Worth Million.

BOISE, Idaho, Sept. 27.—(Special.)—The Idaho state fair opened its gates today under the most auspicious circumstances. It is by far the greatest fair ever held in the state. It was advertised as a million-dollar fair. The livestock and agricultural exhibits of horses, cattle, swine and sheep alone are worth a million. The livestock and agricultural exhibits are far in excess of the expectations of the state fair officials. Some of the nation's most famous livestock breeders and judges will be here this week.

JOB OF PAINTING NORTH END RED IS HALTED BY POLICE

Persistent but Indiscreet Harry Boone, in Quest of "Nose Paint," Gets Into Wrong Shop and Now He'll Paint Cell With Mop Instead.

HARRY BOONE was looking for more "nose paint." But the "mellow grape" which he had been freely quaffing was far too mellow, and the moonshine "chasers" had put him in a stubborn mood.

Harry stroled out of one of the so-called soft-drink establishments with which the north end is honey-combed, and announced between frequent "bicks" that he was going to get a little more nose paint.

His uncertain feet took him to a nearby paint shop. He saw the painter's sign in the window and the buckets of multi-colored paint on a shelf, and entered.

"Gimme three fingers o' good red paint," he commanded as he slipped a damp coin down on the counter.

Instead, the painter gave him a shove toward the door. But Harry was persistent, even though he did show bad judgment. The result was a hurry-up call for the police to oust the turbulent wayfarer.

In police court yesterday Harry admitted he had started out to paint the north end a few vivid hues, but couldn't finish the job.

"We'll give you a chance to paint the cell floors with a good strong mop and hot water," Judge Rossmann announced. Harry was led to a cell above for a three-day jail.

George Hoffmiller is the possessor of a motorcycle which is the envy of many of his motorcycle-riding friends. As a speedster George is in a class by himself, and as a law violator, so far as traffic regulations are concerned, he also has a "rep" which very few Portlanders can equal. A motorcycle cop grabbed the speeding George traveling up Union avenue at between 60 and 65 miles an hour. He passed 15 automobiles like they were standing still and made the "cop" extend his own machine to the full limit to keep pace with him. Judge Rossmann fined him $26 and sentenced him to 10 days in jail. This is his seventh appearance in court for speeding within the past few months.

Very much the worse for wear and with a vengeful gleam in her tear-stained eyes, Mrs. Frances Fitzpatrick appeared in police court yesterday as a complaining witness against her husband, Joseph Fitzpatrick. She told the court that her husband had given her a severe beating and had threatened to kill her.

After Judge Rossmann had heard the charge, as well as the fervid denial by the head of the house of Fitzpatrick, he decided to let the grand jury settle the matter and held the husband to that body under $1000 bonds. About three hours later the wife again appeared before the judge in tears. This time the weeping was for friend husband instead of herself. She thought it was mighty cruel for him to be locked away in jail, where he wouldn't have a chance to beat her up, and asked the court to release him. This the court consented to do with the understanding that Fitzpatrick would not molest his wife, and also with the understanding that the case will still be presented to the grand jury for final consideration.

If N. S. Sheldon is married he is out of luck. Lieutenant Wade of the police bureau is a married man and knows just what incriminating evidence is. About 5 o'clock yesterday morning Lieutenant Wade found Sheldon wandering about near Third and Oak streets. In Sheldon's pockets was found a "blackjack," but on the shoulders of his coat were found a number of long black hairs, evidently of feminine gender. The combination of a "blackjack" and strange long hairs was too much for the police lieutenant and he ordered the luckless Sheldon held for investigation. Sheldon, the "blackjack" and the long black hairs will be presented to Judge Rossmann in police court this morning.

Bill Simon, Phil Dalton, Ben Dobson and Bob McGregor had been attending a party in the vicinity of East Forty-ninth street and Hawthorne streets. Wine appeared to have figured in the little party, as the quartet were well on the road toward inebriation when the police were called to take them in tow. In police court yesterday morning they admitted drinking a little too much, but they were released after they dug up a total of $10 and deposited it in a small barrel for the Near East relief fund.

Arthur Bronken is one of the old police court habitués who had almost been forgotten during these days of smuggled bonded goods and plentiful moonshine, but Arthur was "in again" yesterday for the same offense and for drinking the same old stuff. He had two bottles of hay rum and a bottle of Jamaica ginger on him when the police carried him to a patrol wagon. This was the first bay rum and Jamaica ginger "casus" the police have gathered in for many weeks.

F. A. Elliott, state forester, returned here last night from Seaside, where he was joined by George H. Cecil, district forester, on a trip over the road from the latter city to Cannon beach. Mr. Elliott said today that the forestry committee would prepare a report within the next few days, which later will be submitted to Governor Olcott, and the chairman of the committee named by the executive to devise means for preserving the scenic beauties of Oregon.

Sponge fishing in the Americas is rather a modern industry, but it produces more than two-thirds of the world's supply in weight, though the fisheries of the Mediterranean produce about one-half of the world's supply in value.

Release for Women who Suffer

The multitude of American women who suffer terribly day after day and year after year from ills peculiar to their sex is almost beyond belief,—yet there is hardly a town or hamlet in the United States wherein some woman, and often many, do not reside who have been restored to health from some of the worst forms of female ills, and often avoided operations by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

These Two Women Tell of Their Experience.

Carrollton, Ky.—"I suffered almost two years with female weakness. I could not walk any distance, ride or take any exercise at all without resting. If I swept the floor or did any kind of work it would bring my sickness on. I was weak and languid, had no energy, and life was a misery to me. I was under the care of a good physician for several months and tried other remedies. I had read of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and decided to try it. After taking twelve bottles I found myself much improved and I took six more. I have never had any more trouble in that respect since. I have done all kinds of work and at present am an attendant at a State Hospital and am feeling fine. I shall always recommend your Vegetable Compound."—LILLIAN THARP, 824 South 6th Street, Carrollton, Ky.

Onalaska, Wis.—"Every month I had such pains in my back and lower part of stomach I could not lie in bed. I suffered so it seemed as though I would die, and I was not regular either. I suffered for a year and was unfit to do my housework, could only wash dishes once in a while. I read an advertisement of what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done for other women and decided to try it. It surely did wonders for me. I have no pains now and can do my own housework without any trouble at all. I will always praise your medicine as I do not believe there is a doctor that can do as much good for female weakness as can Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and you may use these facts as a testimonial."—MRS. LESTER E. WARNER, R. 1, Box 69, Onalaska, Wis.
