MOTHER SEES MISSING SON.—Parents of Merrill Lamson, aged 14, have written The Oregonian for aid in locating their boy, who left his home at Seattle last Thursday and who is believed to be in Portland. The youth is described as 2 feet 7 inches tall, weighing 140 pounds, with dark hair, blue eyes and a square, ruddy face. He wore a dark green cap, an army shirt and would pass for 15 years old. The mother is Mrs. J. W. Lamson of Portland. Any person knowing of young Lamson's whereabouts is requested to communicate with her at 235 Williams avenue, telephone Woodlawn 1184.

A committee will be appointed later to make arrangements for a community dance.

PHOTOGRAPHER'S HEARING DELAYED.—Charges of disorderly conduct on the part of Harold Jones, commercial photographer, were postponed yesterday by Municipal Judge Hosman until disposition is made of injunction proceedings in the circuit court of the Jensen and Von Herberg motion picture interests. The charges against the photographer grew out of trouble he had with C. S. Jensen in connection with the strike now in progress.

Williams. Accumulated oil and grease had caught fire from a lighted torch.

STRENUOUS protest against issuance of a permit to rebuild the Portland Sanitarium East 60th and Belmont streets, was filed with the city council yesterday by C. C. Hindman, attorney for property owners in the neighborhood. In addition to Mr. Hindman's petition other property owners filed letters of protest, contending that the district is a high class residential area and should not be made a hospital district. H. A. Whitney of Sutton & Whitney, architects, and W. H. Cottrill, president of the association operating the sanitarium, appeared, arguing the issuance of the permit for the erection of a new building, estimated to cost $225,000. Mr. Cottrill contended that the property owners protesting had settled in the district following the erection of the present building and that the hospital was not operated for profit but for the uplifting of humanity. Mr. Whitney told the council that his petition waiving objections to the hospital carried names which also appeared on the petitions of protest. The Portland Sanitarium was closed on September 1, according to Mr. Cottrill, to carry out the wishes of the city council and for the reason that the management of the hospital did not care to hazard chances of continuing operating a building which might be disastrous to the inmates in the event of a fire. "The building was not condemned, however, and was closed upon voluntary action," said Mr. Cottrill. Commissioner Barbur volunteered to assign a man for the purpose to make a check of the district to learn the sentiment existing among the property owners. As a result Mayor Baker referred the question to Mr. Barbur and a report will probably be filed within the next two weeks.

UNION LOSES FIRST POINT IN HEARING

Jensen & Von Herberg's Cashier Testifies Women Screamed When Flashlight Blazed.

A hearing was begun before Circuit Judge Tucker yesterday afternoon on the petition of the Jensen & Von Herberg theaters for an order restraining the motion picture operators' union and affiliated organizations from entering in any manner with crowds assembling in front of the theaters, or from taking or pretending to take flashlight pictures of such crowds, from scattering handbills or other printed matter declaring that these theaters are "unfair," or from in any manner interfering with the business of the plaintiffs.

The petitioners, represented by John P. Loran and Dan J. Malarkey, were on hand with various witnesses, and a long argument ensued for the defense, represented by W. S. Cron, objecting to the production of any oral testimony, and arguing that both sides should simply submit affidavits.

House Manager Testifies. "Both sides should have opportunity of presenting oral evidence," declared Judge Tucker. "It works no hardship on either side, and I want to get at the truth in this matter, if it is possible. I don't want to tie up the court's time with it unnecessarily, but I do want to hear the evidence and get through with it."

The testimony of witnesses for the petitioners was then begun and will be continued at 9:30 o'clock this morning. E. A. Lacy, house manager of the Majestic theater, told of noticing an airplane over the city, September 18 distributing handbills, aimed to discredit the moving picture theater managers. The taking of photographs began Sunday evening, September 13, he asserted, when he saw four "suspicious looking gentlemen" standing at the edge of the sidewalk near the Majestic theater where they said they would like to take some pictures.

Woodruff then hit Jensen in the back with his camera before combatants were separated, he declared. Feldman said that Jensen's face was cut and powder-marked.

Photographers Arrested. Lacy said that he called a patrolman and told him to arrest the pair, but that he had returned to the station without complaint being made against them. He said that he returned to work Monday afternoon, and on Monday evening took a flash at the side entrance of the theater, testified Lacy. They took another flashlight Tuesday evening. "I saw the flash and heard the convulsions," he asserted.

Who had the convulsions? demanded Attorney Malarkey. "Well, I guess he did, I think he had it in his hand," explained Lacy. It developed that he meant he had heard the convulsion, and that the flash holder was carried by Jones. Herber Forest, cashier at the Majestic theater, told of the taking of the first photograph in the lobby of the theater. In a picture of the theater published later in a labor paper, who recognized herself in the box of face, she said. She declared that she heard women in the lobby of the theater shriek when the flashlight powder exploded.

Charles H. Feldman, a Seattle film salesman, told of the fistie encounter between C. V. Jensen and Woodruff and Jones in front of the Liberty theater. Jones set off the flash directly in Jensen's face, testified Feldman, and when Jensen made for him, struck the theater man with the flash pan. Woodruff then hit Jensen in the back with his camera before combatants were separated, he declared. Feldman said that Jensen's face was cut and powder-marked.
