COUNTY AWARDS MADE. SALEM, Or., Oct. 1.—(Special.)—Awards in the county agricultural exhibits were announced tonight at the state fair. District 1 (coast counties)—Tillamook first; Coos, second; Lincoln, third. District 2 (Willamette valley counties)—Benton, first; Lane, second; Jackson, third. District 3 (Columbia river basin counties)—Wasco, first; Morrow, second. District 4 (Central Oregon)—Malheur, first. District 5 (Blue mountain counties)—Union, first. The judges were Ivan G. Lantz, Tillamook; C. R. Lewis of the Oregon Agricultural college and Senator Hawley of Yamhill county.

SALEM, Or., Oct. 1.—(Special.)—Oregon is proud of its foreign-born citizens. This was demonstrated here today when several thousand persons trudged through puddles of mud and water in a downpour of rain to view the splendid exhibits artistically arranged by ex-residents and descendants of more than half a dozen distant countries, in connection with all-American day of the state fair.

Probably the most unique of the booths was labeled the "Mayflower" and was in charge of Mrs. Henry Chase of Salem. Mrs. Chase is proud of her ancestry and declares she is a descendant of John Holland, who came to this country aboard the Mayflower. Included in this exhibit was a Bible which was said to be more than 340 years old, the property of Mrs. Ellen Kneeland of Portland. A candlestick owned by Mrs. Sara Finson of Salem, which was brought over on the Mayflower, also was on display and attracted wide attention. Other articles closely identified with the early history of this country helped to make this booth one of the most beautiful offerings in connection with the patriotic occasion.

Indian Booth Arranged. The Indian booth was in charge of Mrs. Frederick Stewart of Salem and Mrs. Josephine Corbett, the great-granddaughter of Chief Joseph, one of the most celebrated tribal chiefs of his day. In this booth was exhibited a rare old basket which was given to Mrs. Stewart's father by Rev. Josiah L. Parrish in the early 1800s. The basket was made by the Clatsop Indians. There also was on display in this booth an array of Indian baskets and other articles of fine handiwork. Mr. and Mrs. J. Sloan Brennan of Portland were in charge of the Irish booth. Feasting this exhibit was a bridal gown which won the shield, the highest trophy available, at the annual Dublin exhibition. The gown also won high honors at the San Francisco exposition and other events of world-wide note.

One Booth Is Japanese. The Japanese booth was presided over by R. Kohara, S. Ban and H. Naito of Portland. In this booth were hundreds of embroidered articles, work, trinkets made by the nimble fingers of the orientals and other articles which won admiration from the visitors. The booth arranged by The Daughters of the American Revolution was in charge of Mrs. John Keating of Portland. This display featured articles of an historical and educational character and was one of the most attractive exhibits on the grounds.

The Finnish exhibit, under the direction of the Finnish Society of Portland, was in charge of Mrs. S. Litow and Mrs. Wasko. Hand embroidery and other fancy work typical of the efforts of descendants of Finland featured this exhibit. Beautiful hand-woven linens, attesting the handiwork of the Russians, were exhibited under the direction of Mrs. Pauline Koetovitch of Portland.

Biblical Drinking Cup Shown. An original drinking cup of biblical times was featured in the exhibits entered by Syrians under direction of Mrs. N. C. Kaffoury, Mrs. John Casleria and Mrs. Helele Bitar. There also was needcraft offerings and a number of other rare articles of historical value.

The Armenian booth was arranged by Cartozian brothers of Portland and featured valuable and beautiful imported rugs.

The Greeks also had a beautiful exhibit featuring embroidery work, under the direction of Mrs. C. Czone, Mrs. G. Matanelis, Mrs. J. G. Thodas and Mrs. M. Chaidovias. As a result of the elaborate booths which far surpassed expectations of the fair management and visitors, Mrs. Isaac V. Patterson, Salem, who more than any other person was responsible for the success of the patriotic occasion, was the recipient of liberal commendation.

W. H. Galvani Is Speaker. Tonight in the arena of the stadium W. H. Galvani of Portland delivered a stirring address, in which he lauded the foreign-born citizens for their loyalty to the United States during the war and their achievements in private and public enterprises. He also emphasized the advantages to be obtained through naturalization and allegiance to their adopted land. The Yamhill band furnished music during the evening.

An added attraction was an address by President O'Shea of the National Grange before a crowd of grangers, representing almost every part of the state. Mr. O'Shea paid tribute to the grange and said the day had arrived when the members of that organization had to be taken into account in shaping the destinies of the nation. In eloquent terms he alluded to the achievements of the grangers, who, he said, provided the backbone of a stable government and progress. Because of the rain only two races were held today.

Shriners' Day Is Next. Tomorrow is Shriners' and Multnomah guard day and plans have been made to entertain several thousand of these visitors. The Shriners' special train will arrive at 1:29 P. M. from Portland, followed by a welcome to the guests by the Salem patrol and their wives. At 4 o'clock the Shriners will adjourn to the dancing pavilion, while an hour later fair visitors will be treated to a round of stunts by members of Al Skader temple of Portland. In the evening the Salem and Portland patrols will participate in drills in front of the grand stand, later attending the horse show in the stadium.

Mayor Baker of Portland, will be master of ceremonies at the horse show and will ride the beautiful animal owned by A. H. Lea, secretary of the State Fair Board. Horse Show Wins Praise. Special tribute also was paid today to J. D. Farrell, vice-president of the Union Pacific railroad and L. Elliott, district passenger and freight agent of the Union Pacific railroad with headquarters at Seattle for their successful efforts in staging the horse show. Mr. Elliott has acted as judge, while Mr. Farrell has been in complete charge of the event.

Tomorrow's race card will be the best of the week including handicap trotter, pace, purse $250; 2:20 trot purse, $1000; free-for-all trot, purse $500; free-for-all pace, purse $500 and greater Oregon derby, one and one eighth miles, $1000, and three automobile events. Judging of the livestock and agricultural exhibits had not been completed late today, and all awards will not be known before tomorrow night. All foreign-born citizens, naturalized during the last year, were admitted to the grounds free today.

ORCHESTRA NEED TOLD

FUNDS EASILY OBTAINABLE IN MINNEAPOLIS.

Symphony to Dispense Music at Portland Auditorium Tomorrow Night.

In British Columbia and Washington cities the concerts of the Minneapolis symphony orchestra have attracted large audiences and much enthusiasm is shown. Last Thursday night the orchestra played in concert in Seattle before 5000 people; last night in Tacoma, and tonight a concert is scheduled in Everett.

In Seattle Emil Oberhoffer, conductor of the orchestra, in an interview said in part: "An actually self-supporting symphony orchestra is out of the question. Even in Berlin, Germany, where there are nightly concerts, it was found impossible. A city should view its orchestra as it does its schools and churches—and who ever heard of a school supported entirely by tuition fees? When I organized the Minneapolis symphony orchestra 18 years ago I had a $10,000 guarantee. Today it is $125,000 per year. The backers don't tell me to save—they demand the best obtainable, and get it. I no longer have difficulty in getting $100 per week to pay a player; the trouble lies in getting the player who is worth the $100. These three elements constitute everything cultured that a city requires—education, religion, music."

This orchestra appears in concert in the public auditorium, this city, tomorrow night. G. A. GORE MADE CAPTAIN Army Commission Accepted by Columbia County Attorney.

TRAVEL WILL BE HEAVY

Canadians to Visit Portland en Route to South, Says Rail Agent.

The travel to California this winter will be limited only by the ability of the hotels in the southern state to provide accommodations, in the opinion of William McMurray, general passenger agent of the Oregon-Washington Railroad & Navigation company, who has just returned from a trip to Vancouver and Victoria. With exchange rates being recovered to a considerable degree, the prospect is that a large Canadian tourist business will turn southward. Reports from the east denote the heaviest winter travel in history. Canadian tourists will, many of them, make stops at Portland and other cities en route to and from California, as they Woodford, Vt.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills before my child was born and it did wonderful work for me. My baby weighed 8 1/2 pounds when born and I did not suffer many pains.
