

SEND REPUBLICANS TO CONGRESS, PLEA

Message Is Sent to Oregon by Jonathan Bourne Jr.

SENATE MARGIN SMALL

Control of Law-Making Bodies Declared More Important Than Winning Presidency.

Jonathan Bourne, Jr., who served as United States senator for Oregon, has telegraphed to J. L. Day, republican county chairman that a republican congress is even more necessary than a republican president.

"For more than 30 years Oregon, more than any other state, has led in the increase and perpetuation of the power of the people. For eight years the democratic administration has substituted autocratic and bureaucratic government for popular and truly representative government.

Democratic extravagance has heaped needless debts upon the nation. Waste of public funds has depreciated the value of liberty bonds sold to the people upon the assurance that they were the best investment on earth.

Enemies Held Cared To. The democratic administration has repeatedly catered to the enemies of orderly government at home and has repeatedly surrendered to our national rivals abroad.

Republicans now control the senate by a margin of two votes, and the contest is so close that the outcome of the senatorial election in Oregon may determine whether republicans or democrats shall organize the next senate, appoint its committees and guide its policies.

Republican Majority Urged. In such a crisis, personal friendships ought not induce republicans to disavow their political principles by voting for a candidate who declares himself to be a partisan democrat and thereby becomes indorse of the mistakes, extravagances, class and destructive legislation of an administration in whose caucus, he participated.

A large working republican majority in both houses of congress is even more necessary than a republican congress is even more necessary than a republican president.

When the democratic promise to support the republican party and republican principles on the same basis. JONATHAN BOURNE, JR.

Work in Congress of Representative Praised by Mrs. Steepy.

Special attention to the candidacy of Representative McArthur and R. N. Stanfield, candidate for senator, was given by the Harding and Coolidge Campaign clubs at its noon luncheon yesterday. The speakers were Mrs. Mary E. Steepy of the Neighbors of Woodcraft; Julien A. Hurley, state senator; W. W. Caviness of Yale and Hamilton Johnstone.

Mrs. Steepy paid a high tribute to Mr. McArthur, whose work in congress in the last six years, she declared, has been of great benefit to Oregon. Mrs. Steepy also declared that Mr. McArthur is the friend of the Spanish-American war veterans and that he must be kept in congress so that the new soldiers will have a friend at Washington.

Although a personal friend of Dr. Esther Lovejoy, Mr. McArthur's opponent, Mrs. Steepy said she would not support Dr. Lovejoy because the latter upholds the democratic administration.

Senator Hurley spoke of Mr. Stanfield's work for the development of the sheep and cattle industry, saying that Mr. Stanfield's experience fits him to stand with Harding for a pro-lodge ticket. Mr. Stanfield gave the assurance that in the senate Mr. Stanfield will serve the state. Mr. Johnstone said that Henry Cabot Lodge asked him to do everything possible to see that Harding has a solid republican delegation in congress to assist in arranging a republican program.

Forty republican women who are conducting the "picture" campaign in Portland under the direction of Mrs. A. E. Richards of the campaign committee of the republican state central committee met at luncheon yesterday.

On Saturday afternoon another mass meeting on the league of nations issue, Walter L. Touze Sr. urged the necessity of electing a republican senator to uphold the administration of Harding when elected president. C. N. McArthur spoke of the republican record of congress, and Mrs. F. O. Northrup emphasized the importance of returning a republican congress.

After the meeting five automobiles took the women workers to the southern and northern districts of the west side where Harding and Coolidge lithographs and campaign buttons were distributed.

SHIMMIE IN SCANT DRESS AT 2 A. M. CAUSES ARREST

Eileen Faye Willing to Demonstrate in Court but Judge Rossman Holds Prisoner for Sanity Investigation.

A GOOD "shimmie" dancer can command intense interest and win unlimited approval if she performs well, but good judgment is just as much of a necessity as the ability to "shake."

And because Eileen Faye was not discreet in the choosing of her stage setting for a "shimmie" dance which dazzled the eyes of a burly "copper," she found herself yesterday back-stage in the city jail.

It was nearly 2 o'clock in the morning and at the corner of Third and Alder streets. The streets were most deserted. From a nearby doorway appeared Eileen clad in scanty raiment. Humming her own accompaniment, she whirled about the freshly sprinkled pavement in the maze of an intricate "shimmie."

There was none to applaud approvingly until a bluecoat hove into view. It was an interesting dance, he declared, but not strictly in accord with the moral ethics and standards of the city.

The dancing Eileen was taken first to the police station and then to police court. She was willing to give Judge Rossman an exhibition of her artistic abilities but he decreed the pavement with a shriek of pain. Other lodgers were aroused and sent for the police. Homer Earl had saturated his system with morphine, cocaine and kindred drugs. And at 3 o'clock yesterday morning he was in a pitiful condition. He became violently ill, but tonight, Mr. McArthur will discuss the issues of the day and at the same time call a few of the misrepresentations that have been spread broadcast against him by the opposition.

Mrs. Jesselson, who is a recent acquisition of the republicans as a public speaker, will tell the voters why women should support the republican candidates. A good musical program will be provided.

even $10 in police court yesterday for a copy of the city traffic laws. He was arrested for traveling 30 miles an hour. Questioning by the court revealed that Hoffmeier had never read up on the city ordinances regulating traffic.

It was at this juncture that a motorcycle patrolman reached into his pocket and handed a book on local traffic laws to the offender. "That book will cost you just $10," quoth Judge Rossman, and Hoffmeier willingly paid.

Bob Scott wants to make friends with the world in general every time he quaffs the proper amount of "white mullet" moonshine. And at Sixth and Burnside streets Thursday night Robert was delightfully and happily in his cups. Everybody was his friend and he was the friend of everybody. Also, he became a street-corner pest.

Bob started to tell the court all about it yesterday, but he was cut off short. "We've got quite a bunch upstairs," the judge told him. "You can spend four days with us up there and acquire a considerable number of new acquaintances."

If Frank Briley had applied the bottle of hair tonic to the place where, to all appearances, it rightfully belonged, he would not have been in police court yesterday for drunkenness. But Frank forgot all about his fast-shinning locks and took the hair oil internally. As a "chaser" he selected "applejack." Judge Rossman chased him to a city jail for 15 days because of his total disregard for his shining pate.

OREGON MAN MISSIONARY La Grande Citizen Departs on First Lap of Journey to France.

LA GRANDE, Or., Oct. 8.—(Special.)—Howard Stoddard, son of the late George Stoddard, former president of the Grand Londe Lumber company, left last evening for Salt Lake City, from whence he will continue his journey to New York and, some time after October 20, sail for France.

He will spend three years as a missionary for the Latter-Day saints church in Switzerland. His brother, Lester, has just completed a three years' mission and has been attempting since last December to make his way home, but has been unable to secure passage on boats which traveled for any distance in the orient.

THE VETERAN POLICE OFFICER will tell you that there are city laws to fit any crime or misdemeanor. And here is a case in point: Inspectors Tackaberry and Phillips arrested John Kellerson as a suspect during an investigation of a recent burglary. En route to the police station Kellerson reached into a hip pocket and tossed a bottle into the street. The broken glass scattered about the pavement, while an amber liquid of strong alcoholic odor trickled into the gutter. He struck the pavement with a shriek of pain. Other lodgers were aroused and sent for the police. Homer Earl had saturated his system with morphine, cocaine and kindred drugs. And at 3 o'clock yesterday morning he was in a pitiful condition. He became violently ill, but tonight, Mr. McArthur will discuss the issues of the day and at the same time call a few of the misrepresentations that have been spread broadcast against him by the opposition.

PRINCE MIGHT RULE ERIN

LONDON NATION SUGGESTS HE BE MADE REGENT OF ISLAND.

Government's Policy in Ireland Denounced and Proposal Is Offered as Way to Peace.

LONDON, Oct. 8.—(Special Cable.)—This week's Nation winds up a vigorous denunciation of the government's policy in Ireland with some notable suggestions for a settlement of the Irish question. It proposes, first, that an act of parliament should at once be passed appointing the prince of Wales regent of Ireland. The appointment would be strictly limited in point of time and would be used for the attainment of the following purposes:

That the prince, on taking up his residence in Dublin castle, would be empowered to place it under a commission of English, Scottish and Irish judges, suspending all other supreme jurisdictions and controls.

The prince would also issue a proclamation of peace and amity to the Irish people, declaring amnesty for political prisoners and assuring them of the disarmament of the police and retirement of the army to the ports. He would then summon the heads of the Sinn Fein and leadership of the various political parties to the imperial cabinet and of the dominions.

This body would be charged with the duty of drawing up measures, subject to guarantees for the safety of the empire and the British Isles, and to the assent of the imperial parliament. When its task had been concluded, the prince would be empowered to terminate unless all parties desired him to remain as the virtually independent sovereign, or better still, as the constitutional president of the Irish republic in friendly alliance with Great Britain but not in enforced subjection to her.

The Nation thinks it right to add that the "proposal which we have outlined would be a somewhat similar suggestion made by an Irish vigilance society in the United States, a body of whose existence we were unaware."
