

FIGHT ON McARTHUR CALLED DISTORTED

District's Vote on Prohibition Upheld, Is Reply.

ISSUES ARE BEFOGGED

Argument for Election of Democratic Rival Is Branded as Funny Inconsistency.

The inconsistencies of the present campaign strike me as positively funny," said John L. Day, chairman of the Multnomah county republican central committee, yesterday.

"We have the democratic candidate for president running about over the country upholding the league of nations which guarantees the territorial integrity of all the signers there-to, and at the same time promising the Irish home rule advocates to take their troubles before the league. He is lauding Hiram Johnson in Northern California and Herbert Hoover in Southern California, who were both nominated by Murphy, Brennan, Nugent and Taggart, he is nevertheless posing as a dry candidate after being elected governor of Ohio by the wet vote, of Hamilton county, too.

Local Contest Held Similar. "Cox is telling the people of the country that the prohibition is a dead issue, but he is not telling them what he will do if the question comes up to him should he by any chance be elected president.

"Locally, we have a similar contest. Representative McArthur, believing in representative government, told the people of this district he was for majority rule and that he would vote in congress as his district voted on the prohibition question.

"A majority of 8763 was cast against prohibition in his district. Mr. McArthur voted as he was instructed to vote by that majority. A number of people and the so-called 'non-partisan' press who are always advocating the 'rights of the dear people' most vociferously are now using every effort to defeat him for voting as directed by the majority, indicating that they are for the majority rule only when they happen to be on the majority side.

Other Issues Held Bigger. "Their prattling of loyalty to a representative government, when they stoop to fool the people into supporting a democratic nominee for congress under the guise of prohibition, should disgust every thinking person.

"There are much bigger issues before the people this coming election than prohibition, which is now an established fact, and which is as sure to remain a permanent law as that which abolished slavery. Mr. McArthur has already voted that the Volstead act should remain and he says that he will continue to do so.

"His opponent, as a democrat, is for the league of nations. She is opposed to having the Americanizing interpretation of article 10 included in the league. Her reservation of article 10 is to the effect that the United States assumes no obligation to preserve the territorial integrity or political independence of any other country by the employment of its military or naval forces, its resources or any form of economic discrimination, or to interfere in any way in controversies between nations, including all controversies relating to territorial integrity or political independence, whether members of the league or not, under the provision of article 10, or to employ the military or naval forces of the United States under any article of the treaty for any purpose, unless in any particular case the congress, which, under the constitution, had the sole power to declare war or authorize the employment of the military or naval forces, in the exercise of full liberty and action by act or joint resolution so provide.

Tariff Also Is Opposed. "McArthur's opponent is opposed to a republican protective tariff and is for a tariff for revenue only, which permitted the shipping in of Canadian lumber and other foreign products, causing our mills to shut down and causing the necessity of establishing euphones to feed the unemployed of 1913 and 1914.

"As an indorser of President Wilson's administration, she must be in favor of his Panama canal policy, which compelled American ship owners to pay tolls on vessels used for coastwise shipping, giving the Columbia sawmill and shingle mill owners, who employ cheap coolie labor, another advantage over the lumbermen of Washington and Oregon.

"Still the opposing forces try to cover all the main issues and befog the people's minds with the cry of 'prohibition.'

"Sam Gompers, the democratic union labor leader, has sent out word that all congressmen who voted against class legislation should be defeated, and as a result, every red, every W. W., and every socialist voter who is against our country and its flag and against the republican nominee, are voting with that misguided part of the ministerial association which is trying to defeat Representative McArthur—the man from this district who made a promise and kept it and the man who now promises that he will vote to keep the existing prohibition laws on the statutes of the United States and who promises to support the republican policies as stood for by Mr. Harding.

WASHINGTON IS REPUBLICAN

Former Secretary of Interior Ballinger Predicts Certain Victory.

WALLA WALLA, Wash., Oct. 21.—(Special.)—(Special.)—It will be shown here nationally and in the state, in the opinion of Richard A. Ballinger of Seattle, who is here today in the county campaign. Mr. Ballinger was secretary of the interior under Theodore Roosevelt.

Success of the farmer-labor party would set the state back 25 years in progress, he stated.

The exposure of Robert Bridges' affiliations with the Japanese is materially weakening his candidacy, said Mr. Ballinger.

His statements regarding the introduction of orientals strike a discordant note with union labor," said Mr. Ballinger.

CAMPUS POLITICS SEETHING

All-University Straw Vote Will Be Taken at Eugene.

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene, Oct. 21.—(Special.)—It will be known soon how the University of Oregon students and faculty stand in regard to national political issues and candidates, for the Daily Emerald, the student publication, will put on an all-university straw ballot next Wednesday.

formed on the campus and are making a strong effort, not only to get speakers but to get individuals interested in personal argument. The Harding club, which has been organized, will conduct a publicity campaign before the general election, and its members will be urged to pull for Harding in the straw vote. The Harding club has been the first to organize, but the Cox supporters meet tonight.

DEMOCRAT IS CONVERTED

E. Versteeg Declares He Will Vote for Harding, Stanfield.

"I have carefully studied the issues of the present campaign," said E. Versteeg, a prominent democrat in an interview yesterday.

"I am a democrat and have always been a democrat since I have been a legal voter. I am still loyal to the historic principles of the democratic party as expounded by Thomas Jefferson, Andrew Jackson and Grover Cleveland. I stood by William Jennings Bryan. But I am unable to follow Wilson and Cox in their present departure from the sturdy nationalism of our forefathers to the party internationalism that they are fostering in the present campaign. I have determined, therefore, feeling that it is my duty to do so, to vote for Harding and Coolidge, and in so doing, to be consistent, I will also vote for Robert N. Stanfield, as I do not believe it wise to have a republican president and a democratic senate.

"I do not join the republican party. I am still a democrat, but when democratic leaders abandon democratic principles, I feel that under our system of party government, it is my duty in the present election to vote for the republican candidates. I shall also, in this present election, vote for McArthur, as this will insure a harmonious administration."

McARTHUR REPLIES TONIGHT

Charges by Political Enemies to Be Answered.

Representative McArthur will answer the charges of his political enemies who aver that he is a "do nothing member of a do nothing congress," at the public rally of the McArthur-for-congress club, to be held tonight in Liberty hall. He will cite the Congressional Record as proof of his activity in Washington and declared that he will also have something to say about the radical elements which are opposing him.

The McArthur-for-congress clubs, 15 in all, were organized two weeks ago by republican women of Multnomah county. The clubs have a membership of more than 1500, and are actively campaigning in behalf of Mr. McArthur.

Mrs. Vincent Cook will be chairman of tonight's rally. A quartet under the direction of Mrs. Ella Hoberg Tripp, will sing.

COTTAGE GROVE FOR STANFIELD.

COTTAGE GROVE, Or., Oct. 21.—(Special.)—The meeting of Robert Stanfield with the voters of Cottage Grove developed almost into a raucous party, and the speaker was obliged to state that from the energetically expressed opinions of those who met Mr. Stanfield he will carry the city better than two to one. Many said they heretofore had voted for a democratic senator, but were going to vote this time to uphold the hands of the man they propose to put at the head of the nation.

Bodine of this city, chairman of the Lincoln county republican central committee, arranged with the state committee to send Judge McCannott to speak to this club and other citizens of Lebanon and vicinity in behalf of the republican ticket.

Mr. Toose Speaks at Condon.

CONDON, Or., Oct. 21.—(Special.)—Walter L. Toose Sr., addressed a republican meeting at the courthouse here last night. There was a good crowd with only standing room. The talk was full of information and was especially strong for Stanfield. It is believed the speaker convinced the voters of the need of Stanfield to insure a republican majority in the senate to pass a tariff law protecting products of Oregon.

Miss Monroe to Speak.

Anne Shannon Monroe will speak under the auspices of the Cox-Roosevelt club at Rainier the night of October 29 in the interest of the league of nations and the democratic presidential ticket. Dr. W. THREAT ALARMS BRITAIN

Lloyd George and Andrew Bonar Law from the commons debate tonight on the question of unemployment was much remarked, but the inference was that it was connected with the industrial crisis. The premier appeared in the house late at night and replying to Arthur Henderson's question, made a statement to the effect that he had been engaged for two days in discussions with the parties concerned in the coal strike, with favorable progress; but he continued:

"I cannot withhold from the house the fact that the very precipitate action of the railway executive has embarrassed negotiations. It is a great misfortune and has added seriously to the differences.

"It was interference, exceedingly rash, exceedingly indiscreet and apparently not desired, by anybody. Action of that kind encourages irresponsible sections, who are behind the responsible leaders. I hope the discussions will be resumed later, but it would be very much easier if they were left to the miners themselves."

Mr. Lloyd George expressed regret that he was unable to give a more satisfactory account. During the afternoon he was engaged in a full discussion with spokesmen of the miners, who had represented them in the house Tuesday, with a view to discussing possible alternative ways of reaching a settlement.

The premier said the discussions had not been actually broken off and so far as the government was concerned every endeavor would be made to reach a peaceable solution.

J. H. Thomas followed in a brief speech, in which he paid tribute to the premier's conciliatory tone, despite the aggravated situation, and expressed the hope that the premier would not allow new developments to prevent a continuance of the negotiations.

The effect of the coal strike is appreciably felt by the various unions affiliated with the national transport workers' federation, the members of which are being thrown out of employment in increasing numbers by the coal stoppage.

The reports of the stoppage of work from various branches which were laid before the executive committee today were serious. From 50,000 to 100,000 transport workers are idle, and hundreds of thousands of other workers in other callings have been obliged to remain idle, according to Secretary Robert Williams.

At midday thousands connected with the shipping industry were idle. The Clyde area was especially affected. At Newcastle, Hull, Cardiff and other coal ports the work of loading vessels ceased, and it is expected unemployment will be intensified as the supplies of fuel diminish. Many steamers are lying idle for lack of cargo.

The feeling has become acute in various places and some branches of the transport federation have adopted resolutions urging the federation to take sympathetic action. The executive committee of the transport and the North Wales council of the national union of railway men have adopted a resolution recommending that immediate instructions be given to members to refuse to handle coal and in the event of the failure to reach a settlement before October 24, that a national strike shall be called.

Reductions in the number of trains have already been made on all the principal lines, and a further curtailment was made today on the Irish railways and Dublin train service to conserve the coal supply.

Two Bodies Not Found.

Although divers dragged the Sandy river all day yesterday near the scene of Sunday night's fatal automobile accident, no trace of the two missing bodies was found. The search will be continued today under the direction of deputy sheriffs. The bodies of Alex McDonald and Richard McIntosh still remain unrecovered. Five men met death when the automobile, containing seven persons, plunged from the highway into the Sandy river Sunday night.
