

INDICATIONS POINT TO BAKER WINNING

Kellaher Picked to Run Second, Gordon Third.

RICHARDS IS NOT COUNTED

Fourth Aspirant Appears to Be Making No Headway—Landlord Not Very Popular.

Candidates for mayor in the municipal campaign are winding up a three-cornered fight. Straw votes, taken in all sections of the city, point to the re-election of George L. Baker as mayor. There is some difference of opinion as to who will run second, Herbert Gordon or Dan Kellaher, but as a rule Kellaher is picked for second man. Norman Richards is not taken seriously, even by the labor organizations, some of whom endorsed him.

Mayor Baker's record is winning to him support which he did not have in former campaigns, some of his erstwhile bitter political enemies now championing him for re-election. Mayor Baker will receive a great first-choice vote and were it not for the preferential voting this vote alone would win him the election in an open field. It is possible, even as matters stand, that he will win on first choice votes alone.

Kellaher Busy in Outskirts.

Mr. Gordon, judging from street comment, will not run as well as Kellaher for two reasons, the first being that he is not so well known and in the second place he is a landlord and landlords are not overly popular, no matter how necessary they may be. Three out of five men in Portland either know or have known of Kellaher, because he has frequently been a candidate and is always announcing some great panacea for the public ills.

Mr. Kellaher has been campaigning mostly in the outskirts, making bids for the votes in Lewis, Alberta, Albina and the St. Johns district, where the long riders want to see the 5-cent carfare returned. Mr. Kellaher promising a nickel ride, but not explaining how it can be accomplished.

Gordon Arouses Opposition.

Mr. Gordon, who is a candidate for representative in the legislature in the same election in which he is a candidate for mayor, has caused the police and fire departments to oppose him because of his open opposition to the proposed 3-mill levy. In the outskirts where fire and police protection are greatly needed, the citizens object to the stand taken by Gordon on this issue and this is costing him votes. He is a landlord and this arouses resentment against him by nearly every tenant whose own landlord has been raising the rent. On the other hand, Gordon is receiving the support of many real estate dealers, who carry his banners on the windshields of their automobiles, and he is also being assisted by a percentage of the merchants.

Richards Seems Eliminated.

Mr. Richards, the fourth aspirant for mayoralty honors, does not appear to be making headway. He is virtually eliminated from all calculations as a serious contender in the race. He will run fourth. His bid for votes is a promise of a 5-cent carfare. Peculiarly enough, many street-car men are supporting him, although in the event of a nickel fare being restored it would most probably result in a reduction of their present wage scale.

Mayor Baker is receiving the support of the leading labor representatives of the community, although a perfunctory indorsement of Richards has been made by the labor council.

Where second and third choice votes will go is problematical. The bulk of the Baker vote will be first choice and will not give a second choice. This strategy will handicap both Kellaher and Gordon, who hope to inherit the second-choice votes of Mayor Baker.

PREFERENCES WILL RULE

VOTERS MAY INDICATE THREE CHOICES FOR MAYOR.

Ballots for Commissioners, However, Will Be Restricted to but One Expression in Marking.

Under the preferential voting system which governs the election of municipal officers, voters have an opportunity at next Tuesday's election of naming one, two or three choices for mayor, but only one choice for two candidates for city commissioner, according to City Auditor Funk.

Under the city charter a voter may cast but one choice for mayor, or in the event that the voter gives one candidate three choices, only the first choice will be counted. However, the vote will not be invalidated in either a case of a single choice or in the event that the three choices are cast for the same candidate.

Because there are but four candidates seeking two vacancies as city commissioners, only first choice votes will count. The election of the two commissioners will be made upon the first choice votes alone.

In the case of mayor, however, the successful candidate must have a majority of all votes cast on the first choice, and in the event that no candidate has such majority, the second choice votes are added to the first choice votes, and in the event that such additions do not give any one candidate a majority over all votes cast, the third choice votes are added.

Preferential voting does not govern measures submitted on the city ballot, the voting on these being the same as on the state ballot.
