LA CROSSE, Wis., Nov. 2.—Deputy Fire Marshal Shearer today announced that Mrs. Helen Biesen of Brinckman Ridge had told him she had kept John C. Biesen, a farmhand, concealed for four months in a closet at her home. His presence was discovered by her husband, Nicholas Biesen, who was found dead, the top of his head blown off by a shotgun, August 26. She said Biesen had told her he killed her husband, according to Shearer.

Biesen was arrested last night and today Deputy Marshal Shearer told of his interrogation of Mrs. Biesen. Shearer had been investigating a fire which destroyed the Biesen farm home the night after Biesen was found dead. He said Mrs. Biesen admitted to him that her husband was carrying a shotgun when he found Biesen in the closet and that Biesen had told him that he had hidden with a revolver and then used the shotgun to confuse the authorities. That night the house to which he had an excuse to leave the neighborhood, Shearer said she told him.

"I did have private conversation with Mr. Vanderlip in Moscow, but I will neither deny nor affirm my reported statement, as given out by Secretary Colby, to the effect that I had the consul at Riga of the oil-concessions project. All I will say is that I have never been in Riga and I do not know Consul Young."

"Mind you, I do not deny what Vanderlip is reported to have said to me. I had private conversations with both."

PEASANTS FLEE FAMINE

Impending Catastrophe Reported in Central Russia.

LONDON, Nov. 2.—(Special Cable.)—Peasants in great numbers are moving southward to escape an impending famine in central Russia, according to the Daily Telegraph's correspondent with General Wrangle's troops. This is the first testimony that has reached here of the terrible catastrophe which has been predicted for that region and which, as experts have agreed, must inevitably tend to overwhelm soviet Russia in the coming winter.

"We have evidence," the correspondent writes, "from an intelligent and trustworthy observer who, under an assumed name, has had exceptional facilities for travel all over soviet Russia. He says definitely that the peasants of several provinces on the right bank of the Volga are leaving their homes by thousands."

BUDGET DRAFT TO START

ESTIMATE OF CITY EXPENSES FOR 1921 PUT AT $4,037,735.

Members of Council Will Pare Total of $100,000, Report; Fire Bureau Needs Money.

Work of compiling the 1921 budget of expenditures for the city of Portland will begin Friday, according to announcement by Mayor Baker.

Estimates of expenditures for the various municipal departments amounting to $4,037,735 have been filed with City Commissioner Pier, in charge of the department of finance. These estimates will be cut by members of the council, it is said, as at least $100,000 included in the estimates must be eliminated.

In addition to this, the council is determined to add necessary equipment to the fire bureau, and to do this it will be necessary to lop off from every department's estimate to provide sufficient funds with which to purchase the fire equipment.

The three-mill tax which the voters passed upon yesterday does not give the city any additional funds, but simply enables the council to levy the same amount of taxes that were raised for 1920. As a result, passage of this measure will not enable the council to increase any salaries or to increase the service of the city materially.

The budget must be filed with City Auditor Funk by November 15, and to do this the members of the council will be forced to have day and night sessions for the next eight days. Usually the council has at least three weeks to prepare the budget, but because the third Monday in November this year happens to be November 15, the time given the commissioners to complete the budget has been shortened considerably.

However, inability to increase salaries of city employees relieves the city council of one perplexing problem in connection with the preparation of the budget.

A year ago, it required days of time to study the needs of the employees and prepare an equitable scale of salary increases. Although the three-mill tax was supported by virtually all city employees, many were disappointed that even its passage holds forth no hope for increased salaries.

But even though the council is relieved of the salary increase worry, it is confronted with the problem of setting aside money for an increased fire bureau, maintenance of parks and playgrounds purchased during the past year as well as other services installed at the request of the voters and having no more money to appropriate than was available one year ago.

Members of the council hope to be able to set aside not less than $200,000 to be used as an emergency fund, with which to pay for the solving of such problems as a snow blockade, epidemics and other emergencies.

Miss Pankhurst since has been sentenced to six months' imprisonment on charges of having published seditious literature designed to affect the navy, one of the articles being entitled "Discontent on the Lower Deck."
