

I. W. W. INFLUX REPORTED

ATTEMPT MADE TO TERRIFY CREW ON TRAIN.

Thirty Radicals Declared to Have Started From Pasco to Portland; Some Taken Off.

An influx of I. W. W. into Portland started Monday, according to a report made yesterday by Chief of Police Jenkins by J. A. Dundon, chief special agent of the Spokane, Portland & Seattle railroad. William Bryon of the department of justice and Sheriff Hurlburt also have been notified of the coming of the "wobblies."

Mr. Dundon reported that 30 I. W. W. boarded a train at Pasco, bound for Portland. They attempted to terrify the train crew and defied the railroad men to attempt to put them off the train. They flaunted their I. W. W. membership cards in the faces of the trainmen.

Nine of the "wobs" were taken off the train at Vancouver when peace officers went to the aid of the trainmen. The others rode on into Portland.

The coming of the I. W. W. to Portland coincides with information in the hands of the police to the effect that disgruntled laboring men who were members of the "Central Labor Council and the American Federation of Labor have been secretly reorganizing the "O. B. U." for several weeks.

The "One Big Union" and the I. W. W. are considered practically the same by federal officials and the police.
