CROWDS THRONG EXHIBITS

Questions of Child Feeding Are Answered for Women by Expert From State College.

A bewildering array of everything good to eat and the latest appliances for an up-to-date home are displayed at the 1920 food show, which opened yesterday afternoon in the

Aside from the variety of the food shown, the thing of particular interest to visitors yesterday was the large number of products made in Of these Oregon products, many are made in Portland and a few in other parts of the state. Placards posted in the booths call attention to the Oregon manufactured goods. National firms are represented as well.

The display room is filled with white latticed booths, each decorat-ed with an individual color scheme, carried out in festoons of crepe pa-per, streamers and foliage and huge packages of the products being ex-
