Captain Beck Injured in Football Game.

ACADEMY IS IMPROVED

Hurt Suffered by Squad Leader Seems Break in Contest for Hill Eleven.

Interscholastic League Standings. Table with columns for school, wins, losses, and points.

In one of the fastest and cleanest games of the year, Hill Military academy whitewashed the Lincoln high eleven, 7 to 0, yesterday afternoon on Multnomah field.

Lincoln not only suffered a defeat, but also lost the services of Bill Beck, captain, for the rest of the season.

A great improvement was noticeable in the Hill team yesterday which is apparently making a late start.

At the start of the second quarter, when Lincoln recovered a fumble in the center of the field, the Cardinals attempted to kick from the line.

At the start of the second half, Doherty Robinson replaced Huntley at quarter.

Shortly after Hill kicked off Beck got away for 35 yards and left end.

Another drive by Hill carried the ball to within three yards of another score, but Lincoln braced and held for downs.

Captain Beck played his usual brilliant game as right half for Lincoln.

On the Hill team, Goodrich and Ball were the chief ground gainers during the first half, while Robinson made some splendid runs in the second half.

DAVIS CUP TEAM TO BE TOMORROW

Tilden and Johnston May Be Seen in Singles.

DEMAND FOR SEATS BIG

Henry Neer, Pacific Northwest Champion, and Ed Murphy to Have Coveted Places.

BY WALTER A. GOSS. After a successful two-day stop in San Francisco the famous Davis cup team left there last night for Portland and will arrive here tomorrow.

The demand for box seats for the big match has been such that the committee has arranged to make use of 12 boxes which it was not expected to use.

There is a strong probability of seeing a match of singles between Tilden and Johnston at Spalding's store, Broadway and Alder street.

Coveted Places Assigned. The ball boys have been drilled and fully instructed as to their duties.

How much a good punter means to a football team. The need perhaps never has been brought so emphatically in the Northwest as this season.

Local supporters hope for a dry field because of the lack of beet in the Washington backyard.

Washington State's Coach and Director Good Losers. Bitterness of 49-0-0 Drubbing by California Accepted With Smile and Praise for Fighting Qualities of Own Team.

BY L. H. GREGORY. OR genuine sportsmanship, Coach Welch of Washington State college and to Dr. J. Fred Bohler, athletic director thereof.

How many football coaches or athletic directors in the northwest, or anywhere else, do you suppose, could accept with a smile the bitterness of a 49-0-0 beating when their team had been considered an even bet to win, and assure you they had no regrets about the other eleven played better football? And, moreover, praise the efforts of their own men and cheerfully accept the fighting spirit they displayed?

Coach Welch and Dr. Bohler were in Portland several hours yesterday from Berkeley with the Washington State college team on route home to Pullman from their 49-0-0 defeat by the University of California last Saturday. Did they pull the sulky trick of trying to dodge newspaper men and get away unnoticed? No, they were in the city for the purpose of the sporting editor's desk of their own accord.

It certainly was a lesson on the evils of fumbling, which every coach tries so hard to drill his men from doing. In this case, I think it came from over-eagerness. But anyway, fumbling certainly should be abolished. Look at the games on the coast that have been lost from it this year. Hardly a big contest in Oregon, or California, that has not been deplorably present, and our game was no exception.

"If anything in the world takes the heart out of a football eleven, it's making presents of touchdowns to the other side by such breaks as that. Yet our boys never lost heart, never stopped fighting. It was wonderful to see the spirit of them. Even with four touchdowns against them they still thought they could tie it up, and to the very last minute of the game they never gave up. There are wars in football when losing a game when your fellows can take almost any defeat.

"California has a wonderful eleven. It's line is heavy, with the weight it has speed. The whole team is fast, very fast, and they play to gether every minute. They give a good account of themselves against any team anywhere.

"The matter of injuries is only comparative after all. The business man who has his nose through the window is likely to remain at home for a week or more. The man who has his nose through the window of his wife, while business associates phone him, and he is in a recent time, is likely to be a football man who crumbles his proboscis with the game as though nothing had happened. We know of one former football player who was never hurt without a broken nose during the football season. He was getting so used to being hit, and in practically every big game he was hit, that he never minded it. It didn't affect his play in the slightest.

One sports writer asks what's behind the remark of Jack Willard and Jack Dempsey? We venture the guess that it may have something to do with receipts. Certainly Jack isn't doing it for the fun he figures to get out of the contest.

Turns Cobb, premier American professional baseball player, has made the announcement that he will keep playing the rest of the season. He says that he comes when most men think that they are on the decline. He has met thousands of persons since his visit to Portland, and he will follow him next year with multiplied interest.

Correct appearance is more than outward attire

Richmond Union Suits give the wearer the feeling of being well dressed that means so much to efficiency and peace of mind.

This feeling is the result of skillful designing; of comforting fabrics; of skilled workmanship and of that indefinable something called character which has a place in merchandise as well as in people.

In this case it is the fruit of 20 years unceasing effort to produce the best union suit that can be made.

The cuffs and ankles of Richmond Union Suits are knit on spring-needle machines and attached with a flat elastic seam that means a permanently snug fit. They are absolutely non-crawling.

This is only ONE of EIGHT exclusive Richmond features. Ask the salesman to show you the other seven.
