

LEAGUE TO STIR UP ACTION AMONG DRYS

Strict Enforcement of Law Declared Object.

OFFICIALS TO GET HELP

Prohibitionists Say Vigilance Is Necessary to Keep Liquor From Invading State.

In the belief that the enforcement of law may best be brought about by those who have been duly constituted as public authorities, the Anti-Saloon league of Oregon will send its efforts during the coming year to cooperating with throughout the state and arousing sentiment among the people calculated to strengthen the demand for strict compliance with the prohibition statutes, as well as others.

Such was the decision of the directing heads of the Anti-Saloon league of Oregon, which recently conducted in Portland and Salem law enforcement conferences for the purpose of building up public sentiment to back officers in enforcing the statutes. In addition to its co-operation with the authorities, the organization will carry on a determined effort to make it more popular to enforce than not to, according to W. J. Herwig, its superintendent.

Prohibition Benefits Studied.

"The league will have a complete survey of the benefits of prohibition in Oregon," said Superintendent Herwig, "compiling the information from every possible source, and will publish it for general distribution and as a basis for assisting other countries in their fight for dry laws. The league will also undertake to educate foreign-born people living in Oregon to the fairness of prohibition. Many of them, having been born and reared in other countries, cannot see the reason for this law, but if properly instructed they will come to understand and respect it, we believe."

Literature printed in the language of the foreign elements sought to be reached will be one means of reaching these people, said Mr. Herwig. Missionaries and social reform workers will also be enlisted in the work, he said.

Fight Not Finished.

"The greatest thing today threatens the prohibition movement in America," declares Mr. Herwig, "is that, in this hour of history, its official friends may conclude that the fight is at an end in this country. It is well for us to remember that in a free government, even a provision of the constitution cannot of itself solve the liquor problem or any other great moral or social issue."

"It will be necessary that each state maintain a solid front, and continue the agitation for its own laws and its enforcement. To that end, we are organizing immediately a campaign of education for prohibition in order to create a more wholesome respect for all our anti-liquor legislation, not only among the foreign-born population, but also in the lumber and mining camps of the state."

Resolutions Are Adopted.

At a meeting of the board of directors of the anti-saloon league, resolutions expressing confidence in the officers throughout the state and pledging them every assistance possible, were adopted.

Officers of the anti-saloon league for the ensuing year have been chosen as follows: E. A. Baker, president; J. J. Knox, vice-president; Rev. Ralph C. McAfee, secretary; E. Quackenbush, treasurer; E. A. Baker, chairman; Rev. Mr. W. De Bussk, secretary; J. T. Wilson, A. L. Veazie, J. J. Ross, E. Quackenbush, Rev. Walter H. Nugent, Rev. E. J. Clark, W. De Bussk, the quarters committee, and E. A. Baker, Bishop W. H. Washington and Mr. Herwig, national board of trustees.

4 ACCIDENTS ARE FATAL

Report Prepared by State Commission Shows 542 Hurt in Week.

SALEM, Or., Nov. 19.—(Special.)—Four men were killed in industrial accidents in Oregon during the week ending November 18, according to a report prepared by the state industrial accident commission today. The victims were: Gordon McDougald, laborer, Oregon City; Gill S. Tompkins, tractor driver, Bonanza; Ben H. Davis, pondman, Banks, and Clyde Schnell, logger, McMinnville.

Of the total number of 542 accidents reported, 502 were subject to the benefits of the workmen's compensation act. 15 were from firms and corporations that had rejected the law and 25 were from public utility corporations not subject to provisions of the act.

Psychology Tests Arranged.

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene, Nov. 19.—(Special.)—Twenty-five school children of Bend, Or., and Redmond, Or., who are not doing well in their school work, will be given physical and psychological tests by Miss Ruth Montgomery, assistant in the department of educational psychology. Miss Montgomery, who is an assistant of Dr. E. W. De Bussk, professor of educational psychology, will spend Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday in Bend and Redmond conducting the psychological clinic.

MOVING PICTURE NEWS

Charles Ray and Ethel Shannon, in a scene from "An Old-Fashioned Boy," which starts at the Peoples theater today.

TODAY'S FILM FEATURES.
 Liberty—Norma Talmadge, "The Branded Woman."
 Rivoli—Anna Sette Kellerman, "What a Wonderful Life."
 Majestic—Hobart Bosworth, "His Own Law."
 Peoples—Charles Ray, "An Old-Fashioned Boy."
 Columbia—George Melford, "Behold My Wife."
 Star—Mitchell Lewis, "King Spruce."
 Circle—Frank Mayo, "Hitching Post."
 Globe—J. E. Williamson's "The Girl of the Sea."

CHARLES RAY will be seen the coming week at the Peoples theater in his latest production, "An Old-Fashioned Boy," which starts its run today. The picture is a typical Ray offering, filled with clean comedy and just a little pathos. Mr. Ray is seen as a bashful young man who proposes to a somewhat snobbish girl when she accepts him, takes her to see a bungalow which he has purchased for their home. The girl rather resents her sweetheart's precipitancy in the matter and an estrangement ensues. But the old-fashioned boy, after a series of comical mishaps, finally adjusts matters and he and his fiancée as well as all concerned find happiness.

Playing opposite the star is Ethel Shannon, a film debutante. The support generally is of the best, the work of Alfred Allen, Wade Boteler, Grace Morse, Gloria Joy and the juveniles, Frankie Lee, Virginia Brown and Hal Cooley being clever. The picture was directed by Jerome Storm, while the story was written by Agnes Christine Johnston. Chester Lyon was responsible for the beautiful photography that distinguishes the production.

The picture is said to be the first one in which the "iris" is not used. The iris is the technical name for a "fade-out" which generally is seen at the conclusion of each episode, and which, in the screen, is the same as the lowering of the curtain on the stage.

Other features of the new Peoples bill are a comedy, "In and Out," a Mutt and Jeff animated cartoon called "Flapjacks," and a Pathe news review.

A worthwhile musical programme will be furnished by the new 12-piece orchestra, directed by John Britz.

NOVELTY NEWS

THIS is the last day of the Pacific International exposition, and therefore this will be the last night this season for the night horse show at the World Hotel. The show has been marked, due to the untiring efforts of those exhibiting, participating and working for it. The show is a "thriller" in so far as the programme is concerned, for all the blue and red ribbon winners will be there and will vie for championships.

Miss Carrie Flanders' "Winkum" has done some good work, only being outpointed by the two notably best harness horses on the Pacific coast, U. S. Sanderson on her "Major Dillon" has made an admirable showing in the ring. Mrs. Wayne Keene and her stable has done wonders. Mrs. Grace Maxwell of Denver has been conspicuous in horsemanship at the show. She is one of the few who ride the side saddle with special grace, but she rides circles and equally well. Dr. and Mrs. J. R. Castlen of Seattle have been constant attendants at the show. On several occasions Mrs. Castlen has appeared in the ring and always has been noticed for the perfect form in which she handles her saddle mounts. She also is an expert reinswoman in the driving classes. An earnest worker for the show has been C. H. Leadbetter. Box parties honoring the riders and the exhibitors have been given throughout the week and large attendance is anticipated for the closing events of the show. Some influential and prominent visitors from out of town have been the inspiration for much attendant entertaining.

For this afternoon the marriage of Miss Eliza Farnes and Van Anderson will be the event at Trinity church, with Dr. A. Morrison officiating. The bride will wear a smart tailleur. There will be no attendants.

Mrs. A. F. Fiegel, a member of the Waverley baby home board, speaking of the plans for the drive and tag day for the home, said that a number of prominent society women are offering their services. Portland Chapter Social club, Order of the Eastern Star, will give a dancing and card party in its hall, 284 Russell street, this evening. All Eastern Star members and guests are cordially welcome.

An anticipated event is the card party and dance to be given by the Canteen club at Thythian temple, West Park and Yamhill streets, Monday night, November 22.

HOOD RIVER, Or., Nov. 19.—(Special.)—A large party of east side and city people were present last night at the national observance of children's week. The evening was spent in a social gathering, and the program was given by the children of the city.

Miss Naomi Beckwith, Miss Marjorie and Miss Ruth Crittendon and Miss Florence Holmes went to Corvallis yesterday to attend homecoming at Oregon Agricultural college.

Women's Activities

The Laurelhurst Study club will hold its regular meeting Monday, November 22, at 2:30 P. M. at the clubhouse. The lesson will be on Thomas Hardy's novel, "Far From the Madding Crowd."

Children's books form the basis for several meetings this week, especially today, which marks the close of the national observance of children's week. The North Portland branch library will hold open house with a special programme tonight and this afternoon. Among other entertainments planned is the puppet show at 2:30 P. M. in the children's room of the J. K. Hill store. This special room on the balcony was opened this week. Here at the little tables children may spend many interesting reading books which appeal to them.

Miss Jessie Hodge Millard, children's librarian of the central library, arranged a programme at the library last night which delighted the parents and children who attended. Boys and girls who received honorable mention in the book review contest last spring read their essays.

ACCIDENTAL DEATHS 126

338 PERSONS INJURED AT RAILROAD CROSSINGS.

State Report Shows 1616 Autos Damaged or Destroyed by Train Collisions.

SALEM, Or., Nov. 19.—(Special.)—Crossing accidents on the lines of the Southern Pacific company during the month of November, from September 1, 1920, resulted in a total of 126 lives, 528 injured and 1616 automobiles damaged or completely destroyed, according to a report filed with the Oregon public service commission today by A. T. Mercier, superintendent of the railway corporation, with headquarters in Portland.

The accidents, as set out in the report, were segregated as follows: Ran on track in front of train 833, killed 115, injured 336; ran into side of train 430, killed 8, injured 143; engine stalled or derailed on track, 15, killed 1, injured 2; skidded into side of train 29, injured 11; ran into crossing gates 24, injured 15; ran into crossing sign 12, killed 1, injured 9; miscellaneous 42, killed 1, injured 9.

The commission today decided that as fast as reports were received from the railway companies regarding crossing accidents there will be sent to the directors of the public utility commission a letter, together with a communication emphasizing the number of accidents that are killed annually as the result of careless driving.

THERE is a big difference between Calumet and all other Baking Powders.

First—you see it in the cost. Calumet is sold at a moderate price.

Then—you observe it in use. Calumet has more than the usual leavening strength, therefore less is required.

Next—you notice it in raising quality—in the evenness—lightness and texture of your bakings. They look better—finer grained.

Legal Action Against Grants Pass Has Held Responsible Considered.

SALEM, Or., Nov. 19.—(Special.)—Whether the directors of school district No. 65 in Coos county have grounds for suit for damages against H. J. Redding of Grants Pass, because he married Miss Mary Rollins and caused her to abandon her school in Grants Pass, is a question that is the subject of a perplexing question today referred to J. A. Churchill, state superintendent of schools, by J. E. Z. Fowle, clerk of the school district in which Mrs. Redding formerly was employed.

According to a letter received by Mr. Churchill from the school clerk, Miss Mary Rollins signed a contract with the directors of the district to teach the primary grades for a period of nine months, starting September 6, 1920. After teaching six weeks she married and left the school, against the wishes of the directors, who declined to accept her resignation on the ground that she had been given the position in preference to several other applicants and should not have accepted them into believing that she was acting in good faith when she accepted the position and signed the contract.
