

EX-MARINE DENIES WHOLESALE KILLING

Only One Haitian Slain, Says
Freeman Lang.

NINE MURDERS CHARGED

Accused, Described by Courier as
"Very Beautiful," Suffers Nervous Attack in Court.

PORT AU PRINCE, Nov. 19.—(Freeman Lang, former American marine charged with the murder of nine Haitian prisoners, again took the stand today in his own behalf. He denied specifically every accusation against him. He frankly admitted, however, killing one bandit chief with a machine gun at Blinche while attempting to escape. He fired at the bandit from his own front porch, he said.

Lang testified after four native gendarmes had testified that they saw him murder several prisoners, bringing the number of victims up to nine.

Each witness went into details and described how the natives were shot.
One witness was confused on the point as to whether the prisoners were shot while attempting to escape.
Just after beginning his testimony Lang suffered a nervous weeping attack.

Lang "Very Beautiful."
A Haitian courier who was called to the stand described Lang as "very young, of blonde hair and very beautiful."

"The beauty of Lang," the witness added, "makes a strange contrast with the acts for which he has been reproached."

Taking the stand after Captain Pat Kelly of the local gendarmerie and the jail sergeant had denied every native charge regarding wholesale murders, Lang declared that he had shot only one prisoner.

"This was a division bandit chief," he said, "who was brought from the jail by a gendarme to my residence for questioning. The bandit chief refused to talk and was very obstinate.
I tried to escape from the gendarme, who fired twice, missing him. I quickly got a machine gun, firing a burst of bullets and killing him instantly. The reported occurrence was told all right."

Exaggeration Is Charged.
Answering an inquiry by Major Jesse F. Dyer, judge advocate, as to whether he applied electric treatment to prisoners, Lang said he used coins in a water bucket and offering to give them to natives if they removed them, which they attempted to do, while he, said, other natives turned on a generator, shocking the prisoners.

When asked to explain the volume of testimony charging him with monstrous crimes, Lang declared the natives were prone to exaggeration.

SEX EQUALITY PROPOSED

Dr. Owens-Adair Would Further Amend Marriage Laws.

ASTORIA, Or., Nov. 19.—(Special.) —Dr. Owens-Adair of Clatsop county, author of Oregon's sterilization law relating to defectives, enacted in 1917 after having once been vetoed and referred to the people, said today that at the forthcoming session of the legislature he would introduce a bill to amend the marriage laws in Oregon so as to make it obligatory on women as well as men to pass satisfactory medical examinations before obtaining licenses to marry. The existing law applies to men only.

Dr. Owens-Adair also said he expected to have a measure introduced requiring all applicants for marriage licenses to pass a mental test in addition to the physical test.

He declared that the existing law wrong in the intermarriage of feeble-minded persons, provided they are rendered sterile first. "The feeble-minded are human beings," he said, "and have a right to a home and love."

PAY IN LIQUOR ADMITTED

point Marshall is said to have made away with 12 quarts.

Opportunity Given Informer.
"Why did you not inform on the highway?" queried Mayor Baker.
"Well, for one thing, I put it there preparatory to taking it to the liquor room, but I also put it there for a Marshall a chance to get a bottle or two."

"Did you see him take the liquor?" asked Stanley Myers, deputy city attorney, who represented the city in the hearing.

"Of course not," quickly returned the officer. "I turned my eyes to give Marshall a chance. He expected to get a few bottles of liquor as his share in the deal and I expected him to get it if he was quick enough."

Any Means Held Proper.
"Do you think that is a good practice to permit a bootlegger to receive a portion of the liquor confiscated by officers and then sell it under the protection of the police department?" sought Mayor Baker.

"No, I don't. But we promised him no protection. At the time I felt that any means to 'hook' bootleggers was justified."

Huntington's testimony was practically the same as that of his fellow officer, except that he was unable to detail any of the incidents relating to the actual arrest. At the preliminary hearing before the police efficiency board, Attorney Myers contended that Huntington disclaimed all knowledge of any deal or dealings with Marshall, although Huntington said he did not believe that he made such a deal and that if he had, his testimony had been misunderstood.

Informers Set Price.
Both officers explained they first met Marshall, following the arrest of his brother-in-law for selling liquor.
Following this, the officers testified that Marshall came to them and offered to turn up a shipment of liquor which was to have been brought to Portland from Canada and he could be assured that he could have one-third of the cargo, supposed to be valued at approximately $10,000.

The police officers testified that they had agreed tentatively to this plan, providing that the scheme was approved by the federal officers. But such officials, however, according to the officers, refused to approve the plan, and according to Russell, said that the job was too big, and that any such agreement could only be carried out in the event that it concerned a few bottles of liquor.

The shipment of whisky, according to testimony, was captured by federal officials off the Washington coast and never reached Portland, its original destination.

Marshall again figured in dealing with Russell and Huntington, when a negro bootlegger was arrested. On this occasion Sergeant Ellis accompanied the two officers. According to Russell, Marshall secured eight quarts of liquor on this deal, although this was not learned until later. Russell stated that a careful search was made of the house and the officers left feeling that they had taken all the liquor within the house.

On the night which took place on October 19, plans had been laid to capture eight cases of liquor at Terminal No. 1, upon information given by Marshall. This raid failed, so far as Russell and Huntington were concerned, because one member of the bootlegging ring recognized Huntington as an officer, being a fellow lodge member.

Deputy's Badge Worn.
Marshall's connection with the two officers was developed before Sergeant Ellis the following day, when he was taken into custody for impersonating a federal officer. At the time of his arrest he was wearing a special deputy sheriff's badge, lent him by Russell, which Marshall testified that he had forgotten to take from the stool pigeon.

However, the fact that Marshall was able to pass away liquor as a reward for his information did not become generally known until three weeks later, when Russell, Huntington and Russell were cited before the efficiency board.

Informers Called Snake.
Piegel characterized Marshall as a "snake," too loathsome to have dealings of any kind with respectable individuals. His reputation was that of a bootlegger. Piegel stated that he had admitted sales of liquor to F. T.
Griffith, president of the Portland Railway, Light & Power company and to Arthur F. Nicolai, a local manufacturer.

Police Sergeant Epps, Lieutenant Thatcher and William Bryson and Joseph Beaman, federal officers, all testified, and spoke highly of the good character of the two officers under fire, although each condemned the payment of stool pigeon in liquor.

Thomas Ryan, appearing for the defense, said that he had been in the department attained through hard work, admitted lack of judgment in the single instance but urged a suspension until such time as he had punishment ample in view of the circumstances.
