Another interscholastic football season has passed into history. Jefferson high and Hill Military academy clashed yesterday in the final game of the season on Multnomah field, with the Cadets coming out on top by a score of 12 to 0.

Both teams were late in getting started this season, but yesterday's game found them at their best. It was the Hill team's strong and sturdy line, backed by a good secondary defense, that spelled defeat for Jefferson. Twice the blue and gold aggregation worked the ball to within five yards of Hill's goal, but the Hill forwards came through in fine shape and kept their goal line from being dented.

Forward Passes Used.

Several times the Cadets connected forward passes that caught their opponents napping.

Hill got off to a poor start by fumbling the opening kickoff and allowing Jefferson to recover on the five-yard line. The five-yard line was as far as the blue and gold backs could get. After Multnomah had punted out for Hill, Jefferson brought the ball back to the 20-yard line, from where Anderson attempted a drop-kick. The ball hit one of the uprights and failed to go over.

Touchdown Made in Second.

A pass, Goodrich to Robinson for 20 yards, started the cadets on their way to a touchdown in the second period. The pass placed the ball on Jefferson's 22-yard line. Line plunges gained yardage for Hill twice and placed the ball on the two-yard line, where Goodrich after two attempts plowed through for the score. Heyder failed to kick goal.

Hill opened up with a barrage of passes in the third period which finally resulted in another score. Three passes from Goodrich, two received by A. Heyden and one by Dewey, placed the ball on Jefferson's 25-yard line. Another long spiral, this time from the hand of Bobby Robinson, was caught by Dewey, who rushed across the goal line for the final score. Goodrich failed to kick goal.

Jeffs Threaten Goal.

Jefferson threatened several times during the final quarter. One of Jefferson's chances to score came just after the start of the period, when Robinson punted from his own five-yard line. It was the fourth down, and as one of Hill's players touched the ball just as it left Robinson's foot, Referee Francis brought the ball back and gave it to Jefferson where the pigskin was touched by the Hill player. In four attempts Jefferson failed to make yardage and the ball went to Hill. This time Robinson got away a good kick.

Bobby Robinson again proved to be a brilliant star for Hill, and along with Goodrich, the Heyden brothers, Dewey and Personeous, was largely responsible for the cadets' victory.

Anderson and Wilbur in the Jefferson backfield and Jones, Higgins, Bullen and McAndle on the line showed to the best advantage for the losers.

ABERDEEN PRIMED FOR GAME

Large Crowd Expected at Turkey Day Football Contest.

ABERDEEN, Wash., Nov. 23.—(Special.)—Unbounded support of the Montesano high school football team which will play Aberdeen here Thanksgiving afternoon is indicated from the fact that 2000 up-county rooters are expected to see the game. Two thousand tickets for the game have been placed on sale at Montesano, and word is that there will be very few unsold.

Coach Craig, of the Aberdeen team, has been working steadily during the past week's practice to instill the fighting spirit into the locals, as it is recognized that the Montesano team is not to be flouted. Schneider, Aberdeen tackle, will be out of the game with a broken shoulder. Dole also will be unable to play.

Local high school students are planning a monster rally tomorrow evening on downtown streets.

THE DALLES PLANS GUN CLUB

New Organization to Be Built With Remnants of Old.

THE DALLES, Or., Nov. 23.—(Special.)—Trapshooting, a sport which has been dormant in The Dalles since the demise of the once-popular gun club of this city, will soon be given a new lease on life if present plans sponsored by J. W. Waterhouse and Earnest Thompson are carried out.

A new organization, based upon the remains of the old one, and known as The Dalles Gun club, will be formed in the near future for the purpose of trapshooting, according to the present plan. A traphouse and also a complete outfit of traps are being installed upon the sandy beach west of the city, and plans for a big "shoot" upon their completion are being formulated.

U. S. Women Hockeyists Lose.

LONDON, Nov. 23.—The American women's hockey team from Philadelphia played the final game of its tour at Richmond today, losing to the all-England eleven. The English team won by 16 goals to 0.

RETURN PUNT, ONE OF GAME'S BIG THRILLS, SEEMS LOST ART

Not Since Early in 1900, Days of Chester G. Murphy, Apostle of the Unexpected, Have Coast Kickers Used Trick Effectively.

BY L. H. GREGORY.

MUCH has been said this year about great punters—the 60 and 70-yard kicks of "Dink" Templeton of Stanford, the long boots of Eldon Jenne of Washington State college, the high spirals of Morrison and Nisbet of California, the star kicking of Bill Steers of Oregon. They all deserve their laurels. But how often have you seen of late years, or even read of a man great not only as a punter, but as a return punter?

The return punt, well done, is one of the most spectacular plays in football. Its great effectiveness lies in its unexpectedness. We have seen games in which a return punt at a critical moment disorganized the other team and turned the whole tide of battle. But the return punt seems to have become a lost art. We know of no football player of the present who practices it.

One of the greatest quarterbacks of all time in Pacific coast football was Chester G. Murphy, now a Portland lawyer, but in his varsity days, early in the 1900s, quarterback and captain at Stanford university. Murphy was great at running through a broken field, great as a field general, great as a punter. Despite the fact that he was light in those days for a football player, he could boot them 50, 60 and even 70 yards down the field. And he also was a great return punter.

* * *

After his graduation from Stanford Murphy turned out for several seasons with the Multnomah Amateur Athletic club football team. Football then was largely a matter of mass plays, of terrific line battering. The first step toward the more open modern play, the quarterback run, had just been added to the game.

In those days the Multnomah club, always with a heavy team composed mainly of ex-varsity stars, held the Indian sign on both the University of Oregon and the Oregon Agricultural college. The big game of the season then was the annual Oregon-Multnomah club clash on Multnomah field. The university teams usually were faster and better trained, but by the end of the game the superior weight of Multnomah and the foxiness of the old stars generally would win.

We recall one of those Thanksgiving-day battles—the year escapes us—in which Oregon unexpectedly began rushing its clumsen off their feet. Recollection is that they even scored a touchdown. Anyway, things looked black for the club.

Then came a moment when Murphy, playing safety far back in his own territory, caught a long Oregon punt. He dodged one Oregon end, shook off another and began running the ball up the field. He ran it back a good many yards. By then the Oregon players were avalanching at him thick and fast. He was plainly going to be tackled. The obvious thing for him to do, as the safety invariably does nowadays, was to keep on until downed. But Murphy was an apostle of the unexpected. While on the dead run he suddenly kicked the ball 40 or 50 yards down the field toward the Oregon goal.

Naturally enough nobody was down there. The players of both elevens joined in a mad scramble to reach the ball. When an Oregan man recovered he was flopped in his tracks. The university lost close to half the length of the field through the unexpected return kick.

That one play changed the aspect of the game. It seemed to uncouple something in the Oregon attack. Multnomah eventually won in its accustomed manner.

This man Ervin Daily, who plays left end on defense and halfback on offensive for the University of Washington, is really a great football player. He was the life of the Washington team in the game against Oregon, won 17 to 0 by the latter at Eugene, and was the only Washington backfield man who could make consistent gains. His fierce line bucks were reminiscent of the good old days at Washington of Muckleston, Lee Coyle, Hap Miller, Cy Noble and other celebrated backs of the Dobie era. Moreover, Oregon couldn't gain around his end of the line. In the third quarter Daily took a rap on the head and had to be led out of the game, though he fought to stay in. And he returned to the lineup in the fourth quarter.

One remarkable thing about Daily's playing is that he is able to play at all. He is a married man and has two children. Besides that, he works every night of the week from 2 A. M. to 9 A. M., Sundays included, as night janitor for the Seattle police department. On top of all that he finds time somehow to study and attend his classes at the university and to play football besides. A fellow with that much determination is bound to be a fighter.

Washington has a real battle ahead of it against Dartmouth in the new university stadium at Seattle next Saturday. Dartmouth has one of the classiest football elevens in the east. After getting away to a poor start against Bezdek's Pennsylvania State eleven, which won 14 to 7, and losing to Syracuse, 10 to 0, Dartmouth has swept through the remainder of its schedule without a defeat. Among other teams it beat Cornell, coached by Gil Dobie, formerly at Washington.

Too bad for the sake of the west that Washington hasn't done better this season. Of course Washington hadn't a thought when it signed Dartmouth for the dedicatory battle in its new stadium that this game would come at the windup of the most disastrous season in many years. However, it should be a good game at that. Washington has a good defense, but is lacking sadly in offense. About all the Northwest can hope for is that Dartmouth is held to a low score.

Gene Doyle has finally shoved off from San Francisco for the Orient with the two teams of baseball all-stars with whom he plans to regale Honolulu and the Orient. Twenty-one players form his club, Sam Ross, left-handed pitcher, being the only one from Portland. All expenses have been guaranteed and the players are to share 20 per cent in the gross receipts. This is the third organized invasion of the Orient by professional baseball players. The first was made many years ago by Mike Fisher, then manager of the famous old Tacoma Tigers. Later McGraw and Comiskey took the Giants and White Sox on a tour around the world. The following players sailed with Doyle on the Korea:

Ainsmith (Detroit) and Gaines (Chicago Cubs), catchers; Robertson (Minneapolis), Pertica (Los Angeles), Schorr (Seattle), Ellison (Cleveland), Ross, (Portland) and Klilillay, pitchers; Sheehan (Sacramento) and Zamlock (Seattle), first base; French (New York), R. Doyle (Fordham college), Rader (New Orleans), Butler (Wichita), Huber (Detroit), Gay formerly of Portland) and Bohne (Seattle), infielders; Hood (Salt Lake), Cunningham (Seattle), Hunter (Little Rock), and Connolly (San Francisco), outfielders. Ross and Schorr will be used in the outfield when not pitching.

The great major league "war" is over. That is to say, it never got started. What is more, it never would have gotten started. If the rival factions in the major leagues hadn't compromised on Judge Landis, they would have found some other means of saving their faces.

From start to finish this so-called "war" with its absurd plan for a 12-club league was a game of bluff. It never was more than a joke, and a poor joke, at that. There was no chance for a 12-club league to succeed, and no one knew it better than the men who threatened to form a 12-club league. Once upon a time a good many years ago the National league was a 12-club affair. It broke up for the very good reason that it contained too many tail-end clubs. There have to be four tail-enders even in an 8-club organization, but when two more are deliberately added to the list, making 11 clubs that can't win the pennant, you have a layout that will not keep up the interest of Mr. Fan, who provides that necessary factor, the coin.

What made this 12-club league project even more laughable was the fact that it called for two clubs of the same league in New York, and two in Boston. We get away with two clubs in one Coast league town, Los Angeles, camouflaging one of them under the name of Vernon, because we have to. It's a bush proposition, at best, and it would not have been at best, but at worst, in New York and Boston, where they have been raised on two leagues.

As was predicted in this column, the big bust-up ended in a compromise, which was the only way it could have ended short of disaster for all hands. And it will be noted that Uncle Ban Johnson keeps his seat as president of the American league. The whole purpose of the "war" was to side-step Ban, but it takes a smarter lot than most major league magnates are to do that little trick.

The net result is the appointment of Judge Landis as the final word in baseball, which probably will be a good thing for the game; and considerable benefit to the minor leagues, who from now on will have a one-third voice in baseball government, where before they had none.

COUGARS CLAIMING TITLE

VICTORY OVER AGGIES CITED AS DECIDING GAME.

Stanford Expected to Be Played at Pullman During 1921 Season.

WASHINGTON STATE COLLEGE, Nov. 23.—(Special.)—As a result of the tie battle waged between the Oregon Aggies and the University of Oregon Saturday at Corvallis, the Cougars are today claiming the title of champions of the northwest. The honor is claimed as a result of the decisive drubbing administered the Aggies two weeks ago when they were defeated by the Cougars, 28 to 0.

Athletic Director Bohler telegraphed the students yesterday from Denver stating that the team worked out in the mile-high city in preparation for the turkey day struggle with the Nebraska Cornhuskers at Lincoln. The northwest conference champs arrived in Lincoln Tuesday noon and were to engage in two rehearsals on the Nebraska gridiron prior to the contest Thursday. The eleven will return to Pullman December 4.

Athletic Director Bohler will depart immediately after the game at Lincoln for San Francisco to attend the annual session of the Pacific Coast conference. It is expected on the local campus that Stanford will be secured as the home-coming day attraction for 1921. Coach Wich will leave for a short business visit to Oklahoma, where he owns a 1200-acre ranch, but will return to the college prior to the Christmas holidays.

Pitsburg Team Is Drilled.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 23.—Final drills in a new set of signals are being given to the University of Pittsburg football team for the game against Pennsylvania State Thanksgiving day.

STEERS' LOSS HELD INCENTIVE TO FIGHT

"Shy" Huntington Prepares Team at Pasadena.

TROJANS ALSO READY

Oregon Coach Declares Absence of Star Will Only Cause Team to Play Harder.

BY HARRY M. GRAYSON.

PASADENA, Cal., Nov. 23.—(Special.)—"Bill Steers' absence will only cause Oregon to fight harder," said Coach "Shy" Huntington tonight. The youthful Oregon mentor was speaking of his team's chances in Thursday's game at Tournament park with the University of Southern California.

Young Bill Rinehart, who will take Steers' place, weighs 160 pounds and besides being one of the fastest lemon-yellow backs, is considered the equal of Steers in directing the attack.

Southern California fans are expecting a great battle. It will be interesting to watch center "Brick" Leslie in action against Leo Calland, the young center, who takes care of the pivot position for the cardinal and gold.

Several critics have nominated Calland for a place on the all-Coast team. He hails from Seattle, where he was tutored by the same Elmer C. Henderson who guides the pigskin destinies of the Trojans.

Trojan Defense Is Strong.

University of Southern California's record shows that the Eugene kids will have no cinch. Here it is: University of Southern California 47, California Tech 7; University of Southern California 10, Stanford, 0; University of Southern California 7, Pomona 0; University of Southern California 48, Occidental college 7; University of Southern California 38, Nevada 7. Henderson's hustlers have compiled 150 points against 21 for their opponents.

The Trojans showed a strong defense against their two most formidable enemies, Pomona and Stanford, while the weaker outfits, such as California Tech and Oxy, crossed Henderson's goal line.

Besides Steers' Francis Jacobberger, Jimmy Hill, McKinney, Holmes and Starr were missing from the Oregon lineup when the squad arrived here. Jacobberger missed the train and Hill was called home on business.

Both Teams Hold Workout.

Both teams worked out this afternoon.

Referee Sam Dolan, Oregon Aggies, accompanied the lemon-yellow.

FAMOUS RACERS TO START

"Speed Kings" Contest for Title at Los Angeles Speedway.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 23.—Some of the best known automobile racers in the world will start in the 250-mile Thanksgiving day event on the Los Angeles speedway at Beverly hills. The race will close the 1920 racing season and probably decide this year's "speed king." A win for Gaston Chevrolet, Tommy Milton, Jimmy Murphy or Ralph de Palma, who lead the other drivers in the number of championship points made in this season's races, will make him the champion, according to the authorities.

From speeds reached in practice on the Beverly basin in the last two weeks, officials of the speedway association announced their conclusions that about three hours would elapse from the start to the finish of the race.

Prophecies as to the expected speed were based on records made in single practice dashes around the mile and a quarter oval, that have produced speed well above the 100-miles-an-hour mark.

Prizes amounting to $35,000 are offered. Of this, $10,000 is from the Citizens' lap fund, and goes at the rate of $50 to the driver leading at the end of each of the 200 laps.

In preparation for the contest, the four drivers trying for the championship title and Joe Thomas, Roscoe Sarles, Eddie Miller, Fred Deusenberg, Eddie O'Donnell, Eddie Hearne and Art Klein, who have made the spin around the basin, pronounced it one of the speediest tracks upon which they have ever raced.

Toledo Assured Bowling Meet.

TOLEDO, O., Nov. 23.—Toledo today was assured the 1922 national tournament of the American bowling congress. Al Langtry, secretary of the American bowling congress, stopped off here on his way from Buffalo, and after a conference with local officials, announced that the 1922 meet would be held here if Toledo wants it.

COUGARS REACH LINCOLN

WESTERN ELEVEN BEGINS TO PRACTICE AT ONCE.

Trick Plays Are Practiced to Give Visitors Advantage Over Husky Cornhuskers.

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 23.—(Special.)—Gus Welch and his 18 husky Cougars arrived in Lincoln today, prepared to prove to middle western football fans that the Pacific coast turns out as good gridiron teams as do the cornfed colleges. The westerners came in at 1 P. M. from Denver via the Rock Island road, springing an unintentional surprise on the Nebraskans, as local papers had announced that they would arrive on the Burlington. Consequently, it was an hour before Hack Applequist, assistant coach and advance guard for the Cougars, could locate his party and get them installed at a hotel.

The team went right out to Nebraska field, where Doc Boehler repeated the stiff calisthenics of yesterday. Coach Welch then gave them some dummy scrimmage, laying particular stress on the execution of the forward pass. New plays have been devised to give the lightweight Cougars the edge over the beef of the Cornhuskers.

Moe Sax, phenomenal open-field runner and quarterback, has nursed his sprained foot and ankle back into shape again, and the Cougars will enter the fray Thursday without a single disabled player. Jenne, right half and best punter on the Cougar squad, who was kept out of the California and Oregon Agricultural college contests with a bruised leg, also will be in shape to start, although it is probable that Ping McIvor will play at least the first half in that position.

Following their defeat of the Michigan Aggies last week, 35 to 7, an air of over confidence seems to be the rule in the Huskers' camp.

JEWISH BOYS' TEAM VICTOR

B'nai B'rith Basketball Quintet Is Defeated, 19 to 2.

The Jewish Boys' Athletic club team defeated the B'nai B'rith quintet last night, 19 to 2, on the latter's own floor. The losing five scored the first basket but were unable to connect during the rest of the game, due to the fine defense work of Captain Sax and Jacobsen of the winners.

Spwak, Unkeles and Rosen also played a great game for the winning aggregation. The Jewish Boys' Athletic association team last year played under the Duniway park colors and won the 110-pound state championship. The team is now ready to arrange a schedule for the coming season. Phil Unkeles may be reached at Main 3798 or 223 Meade street.

Basketball Series Announced.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—The schedule of the intercollegiate basketball league was announced here tonight. The competition will be for the Arthur Alexander memorial cup, which succeeds the Heppe trophy, won permanently last season by Pennsylvania. The new trophy was donated by Columbia players in memory of their former intercollegiate center, who died in the military service. The season opens on December 21. The schedule includes games by Princeton, Cornell, Yale, Dartmouth, Columbia and Pennsylvania.

Puryer to Meet Beecher.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—Earl Puryer, bantamweight boxer of Tulsa, Okla., has been matched with Charlie Beecher of New York in a 15-round bout here Thanksgiving day.

THANKSGIVING GAME SEASON'S BEST CARD

Multnomah-Aggie Contest to Give Fans Treat.

HARD BATTLE EXPECTED

Scoreless Tie With Which Squads Began Year Causes Prophecy of Bitter Struggle.

Portland's meager bit of first-class football this season will be dished up on Thanksgiving day along with turkey dinners when the Multnomah Amateur Athletic club eleven meets the Oregon Agricultural college squad on Multnomah field at 2 P. M.

It is the first time this year that one of the big conference elevens has appeared in a game on the local gridiron. It will not be, however, the first time the clubmen and Aggies have clashed this season. The two teams started off the season by tangling on the Corvallis field. The game resulted in a scoreless tie, which adds greater interest to the approaching conflict, as both teams will be out in full strength to grab off the honors in the turkey-day classic.

Aggie Team Stronger.

The Aggies have naturally been strengthened to a great extent since the first game between the two elevens, but at the same time Coach Harry Dorman of the club team has been switching his players until he at last believes he has a winning combination.

It has been two weeks since Multnomah met Gonzaga university on the local field, but Coach Dorman has not allowed his men to grow stale in that time. Practice sessions have been held on Sunday mornings and two nights a week. The Multnomah Guard club squad, one of the strongest independent elevens in the state, has furnished the opposition for the Winged M team in its workouts.

Club Ready for Fray.

With two or three changes in players and positions, the club combination is now running smoothly and will be ready to give the Aggies a tough battle.

Out of four games played this season, Multnomah has won one, tied one and lost two. The Oregon Aggies have won one, tied two and lost two. The clubmen defeated Willamette university, tied with the Oregon Aggies and lost to University of Oregon and Gonzaga university. The Beavers won from the University of Washington, tied with Multnomah and the University of Oregon and lost to California and the Washington State college.

The clubmen will be meeting their real test of the season when they stack up against the Oregon Aggies. After holding the University of Oregon scoreless last Saturday, the Beavers will come here with a great deal more confidence than they have had all season.

Recruits Join Multnomah.

Four new players will don the Winged M moleskins for the game with the Beavers. Blackwell will replace Mike De Cicco at center and the latter will be switched to a guard position. Duffy, who was a member of the club backfield last year, will probably be on one of the ends, while Lou Dressler, also formerly a club player, will get a chance at one of the guard berths. Briggs, a backfield man, is the other new player who will be used Thursday.

George Varnell of Spokane will referee. The other officials have not yet been selected, but Sam Dolan is expected to either umpire or serve as headlinesman.

The game will start promptly at 2 o'clock so as to give the fans a chance to get away early enough for their Thanksgiving dinners. Tickets have been placed on sale at Spalding Bros., Broadway and Alder street.

PORTLAND BANTAM LOSES

Butte Welterweight and Coast Champ Fight to Draw.

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 23.—Joe Simonich, Butte welterweight, fought a four-round draw with Travie Davis of Everett, coast welterweight champion, here tonight.

In the semi-windup Ray Scribner of Anacortes won a decision over Billy Ryan, Portland, bantamweight; Battling Zuzu knocked out Roy McCaslin in the second round of their affair, and Stan Fitzgerald won a decision over Filipino Kid Martin.

North Portland Defeats Montavilla.

The North Portland football team defeated Montavilla, 24-6, on the Hudson school grounds Sunday. The North Portland team worked the on-side kick to a great advantage. White starred for Montavilla, while Saunders, Millan and Cruz starred for North Portland.

LABOR BOARDS SOUGHT

RAILWAY BROTHERHOODS WANT COMMISSION RETURNED.

Re-establishment of Conditions as When Under Government Control Asked by Workmen.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 23.—Heads of the four big railway transportation brotherhoods expect to be in Chicago next Monday to make a final appeal to the railway labor board to re-establish national boards of adjustment. It was stated here tonight by brotherhood officials they will go to Chicago in the event of the failure of representatives of the brotherhoods now in Chicago to get the labor board to re-establish these boards of adjustment, which existed during federal control.

Adjustment boards No. 1, No. 2 and No. 3 were terminated at the end of the federal control and their existence, brotherhood officials state, are necessary for the settlement of grievances that arise all the time to time.

The four brotherhoods, backed by 12 railway labor organizations, are seeking to have national commissions created to adjust difficulties between employers and railway workers of all classes similar to the three boards in effect under federal control.

W. G. Lee, president of the brotherhood of railway trainmen, said tonight that the brotherhoods had made no plans beyond the possible conference in Chicago, but that if the labor board refused to provide for the boards of adjustment the brotherhoods would have to deal with the railroads by the old methods prior to government control.

The request by the brotherhoods, according to Mr. Lee, came from the fact that the award of the labor board handed down last July has been applied very unevenly.

SLADE MAY BE CHOSEN

Federal Reserve Attache Likely to Succeed Will H. Bennett.

SALEM, Or., Nov. 23.—(Special.)—It became known here today that Governor Olcott, chairman of the state banking board, has been angling about for several days in quest of an applicant qualified to succeed Will H. Bennett, who yesterday resigned as state superintendent of banks to become effective December 31.

Rumor at the capitol today indicated that Governor Olcott may recommend to the board the appointment of E. F. Slade, formerly examiner for the state banking department but now connected with the Federal Reserve bank, with headquarters at San Francisco. Mr. Slade became associated with state banking department as assistant examiner on December 18, 1915, and on June 1, 1917, was advanced to the position of examiner of banks. Later he enlisted in the United States army and was absent for several months.

Returning to Salem he resumed his duties in the state banking department, but resigned on September 6, 1919, to accept an offer from the Federal Reserve bank. He has since resided in San Francisco.

Mr. Slade married a Salem young woman and it was said today that he would not be adverse to returning to Oregon if proper inducements were offered him.

PATROLMAN, CHINK HURT

Motorcycle Hits Pedestrian and Throws Policeman Pilot.

Thirty seconds after he left police station last night for his beat, E. L. Stephen, motorcycle patrolman, landed Lowe Loke, 64-year-old Chinese, and himself in the emergency hospital.

Stephen darted out of the station and swung toward the curbing to miss an approaching automobile. The motorcycle rebounded, hit the Chinese and threw the patrolman to the street. Loke received a broken right rib, contusions on his left side and severe bruises about the body. Stephen received a bruised leg and a sprained ankle.
