

LEAGUE MAY DELAY AMENDMENTS ISSUE

Committee of General Organization Makes Report.

STEP UP TO ASSEMBLY

Scandinavians Are Outvoted in Opposition to Suggestion; U. S. Proposals Awaited.

GENEVA, Nov. 23.—(By the Associated Press.)—There will be no amendments to the covenant of the league of nations at this session of the assembly if the decision of committee No. 1—that general organization—which has been considering amendments, is approved in full session.

Arthur J. Balfour, chairman of the committee, suggested to the committee that it was too early to draw conclusions as to the working of the league or to form an idea as to how the covenant may be improved. He proposed that the committee recommend the appointment of a special committee to consider amendments and report to the next assembly meeting.

The Scandinavian delegates on the committee insisted upon the consideration immediately of amendments they proposed, but they were outvoted.

Suggestion Is Accepted. The South American delegates accepted Mr. Balfour's suggestion all the more readily, because they are of the opinion that any amendment of the covenant should await proposals that are expected from the United States after President-elect Harding's consultation on the subject. They declared it would be entirely out of order to review the covenant in the absence of one of the most important nations of the world.

The committee on the international court decided to send letters of thanks and congratulations to Ellihu Root and other delegates to The Hague conference. This is as far as they have had to do in their work.

Antonio Huneus, head of the Chilean delegation and chairman of the committee on admission of new members, told the Associated Press today that his committee already was hard at work and hoped to make an early report.

Montenegro Asks Entrance. News of the application of Montenegro for membership in the league of nations leaked out today. No information whatever was given on the subject by the secretary of the league. The other members of the assembly necessarily will come up on the floor of the assembly before being referred to committee.

The subject of Armenia was early to the fore, the chairman announcing the make-up of the committee to examine into the details of the eventual intervention. The committee was headed by Lord Robert Cecil of the Union of South Africa delegation, who is a strong proponent of help for Armenia and had on its membership list likewise Rene Viviani of France, whose party is against the assembly into unanimous approval of the resolutions for action on the subject. The other members announced were Senator Henri La Fontaine of Belgium; Dr. Fridtjof Nansen of Norway; Honoro Puryeydon of Argentina and Signor Schanz of Italy.

The order of the day contained several resolutions of an apparently innocuous character promising no such sensational interest as yesterday's session developed. The possibility was seen, however, that the failure of the council of the league to act last night on the Viviani resolution might provoke another debate on Armenia and raise the entire question of the relations of the council and the assembly.

The respective powers of these bodies is looming up as one of the biggest questions before the assembly. The clash on this subject would naturally come in discussion of the report of the organization commission in regular course, but it could easily be precipitated by refusal of the council to carry out any resolution of the assembly.

More Publicity Is Asked. Delegate Milten of Australia, asked that Germany's protest against the league's method of apportioning mandates for former German colonies submitted recently, be laid before the assembly before being referred to a committee. The question went over until tomorrow.

Lord Robert Cecil demanded greater publicity for the proceedings of the council and a promise was made to comply. A resolution introduced by George Nicol Barnard, a British member of the council to explain why it failed to intervene and prevent hostilities between Poland and Soviet Russia last summer went over to the next session.

AMERICANS PROTEST PLAN Negotiations Over Armenia With Kemal Are Not Wanted.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—A protest against the proposal of Rene Viviani, France's spokesman at the league of nations assembly meeting, that negotiations concerning Armenian affairs be started with Mustapha Kemal, was sent today to Paul Hymans, president of the league, by the American committee for Armenian independence. The message declared that such negotiations would be tantamount to a recognition by the league of the Turkish national leader's government.

Constable Awaits Call. Constable Fortune is now awaiting word from the Canadian authorities in regard to his going to Canada for the trial.

Austin R. Mitchell, chief of the Toronto detective bureau, is a tall, thin, determined-looking man, yet has a smile of kindness in his eyes that persists in making itself evident when he is in his most severe moods. He does not resemble the ordinary police detective at all, but suggests the ideal type man in fiction. As he accompanied Doughty to the union station he plainly showed the strain under which he had been on this last dash across the country for his quarry. "I'm going to get right home," he said. "I don't want to talk. Do you know, I've received so many reports of the capture of Doughty that when I got a telegram from Constable Fortune of Oregon City, Or., I threw it in the waste basket. There's another one," I said to myself.

Detective Takes Chance. "Then I determined to take the chance—and got my man." Asked if he would lodge his prisoner anywhere temporarily, Mitchell shook his head. "No; we're going home. All I want to know is the points of the compass. I'm going north and then east." He paused on the street corner and looked at the sun. "That's north," he said. "Come on, Jack; let's go." Doughty willingly discussed his past life while being escorted from Oregon City to Portland. He maintained silence, however, on the alleged kidnaping of Small, and his Colonel Thomas W. Symons, noted U. S. engineer, who died in Washington.

NOTED U. S. ENGINEER PASSES AT CAPITAL

Colonel Thomas W. Symons' Career Is Closed.

LIFE WORK WELL KNOWN

Army Officer Once in Charge of River and Harbor Improvements in Pacific Northwest.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—Colonel Thomas W. Symons, United States engineer corps, retired, a pioneer of the Pacific Northwest, died at his home here today of Bright's disease. His illness had extended over a period of five years.

Colonel Symons was regarded at the time of his retirement as one of the leading engineers of the army, first attracting attention to himself while stationed at Portland, Or., in charge of all river and harbor improvements in Oregon and Washington, which was almost 40 years ago. He was recognized as one of the greatest authorities on barge canal engineering and inland waterways.

His face lighted with pleasure when he was told that the men in his gang at the paper mill in Oregon City had expressed surprise over his arrest and that they spoke highly of him. "I was unused to manual labor," he said. "I did not like to get along with the boys. They were fine fellows."

Boundary Survey Made. In the early '80s he was delegated to the task of making a new survey of the boundary between the United States and Mexico, after which he was ordered to Buffalo, N. Y., where he planned and supervised the construction of the world's largest breakwater in the harbor of that lake port.

On finishing this commission Colonel Symons was summoned to Washington by President Roosevelt to become his military aide and to serve in the important capacity of superintendent of public buildings and grounds. Two years later President Roosevelt, by means of a special act of congress, obtained for him special leave of absence to serve as a member of the New York state barge canal advisory board and consulting engineer on canals for that commonwealth.

His last engineering task before retiring to private life was while on the board to report upon the advisability of a canal between Pittsburg and the Great Lakes.

Burial Saturday Announced. Besides his widow, who before her marriage was Miss Letitia Robinson of Elizabeth, Pa., and his son, Noel, Colonel Symons is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Courtland van Winkle of New York, Conn., and Thomas W. Symons of Spokane, Wash., a son. Four grandchildren also survive.

The family decided to hold the funeral Saturday in order that the son living in Spokane could reach Washington in time. Burial will take place at Arlington national cemetery.

Military Forces Gradually Working Toward Center of City in Search for Leaders.

DUBLIN, Nov. 23.—The vigorous activities of the authorities leave little doubt that determined and concerted efforts are being made to round up every republican suspected of being engaged in the province, finding the pursuit too hot, had taken refuge in Dublin.

The total arrests to date were understood to be huge, but the government refused to divulge the figures. All Persons Are Full. Dublin castle authorities, however, admit the prisons are so full that it had become necessary to utilize the castle itself and that it was in a room in the castle that Peter Clancy and two others were shot yesterday.

In general life in Dublin is apparently unaffected. Street cars were running today, nearly all shops were open and theaters and amusement houses were doing business. Business searching residences and homes were accompanied by armored cars, which carried machine guns. Men charged with attacking a military patrol were court-martialed at Marlborough barracks today, and warm tributes were paid by attorneys on each side to the integrity and fair play displayed by Captain Bagally, one of the officers slain Sunday.

Thirteenth Victim Is Dead. The 13th death as a result of the Croke Park shooting occurred today, when an 11-year-old boy died of his wounds. Only seven of the Croke Park victims have as yet been identified.

The death roll in Dublin yesterday totaled five persons. During the morning one of the sentries at the castle was attacked by armed men. The sentry fired, killing three of the attacking party. Two other deaths occurred during the raids which were carried out in the city throughout the day.

EXPLOSION CAUSES PANIC Six Persons in Cork Injured Apparently by Bomb.

CORK, Nov. 23.—An explosion occurred in Patrick street this morning. It apparently was a bomb, but it was not known from where it came. Many persons were in the street and six of them were injured. The people scattered in panic. There were neither soldiers nor police in the street.

WHEELING, W. Va., Nov. 23.—(Special.)—Wheeling society girls are setting a mark for Dame Fashion. Bare legs, painted legs, gauzy stockings and other freak "legwear," imported from Paris, Deauville and other French centers of fashion, have been taken up by American society women in days gone by, but it remained for the ultra-exclusive Wheeling buds to institute a new "leg gear," a patriotic fad.

The first two young damsels who appeared on one of the principal streets during the rush noon hour, "garbed in spirals," blocked the sidewalk for a distance with "insistent" onlookers. The girls "wore them high and tight."

BIG LAND CLAIMS ARGUED

Coast Interests Submit Data Concerning Large Holdings.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—Representatives of Pacific coast lumber companies and cattle grazers appeared before Secretary Payne of the Interior department today in an effort to substantiate by oral argument their claims to nearly 5000 acres of land in the states of Oregon, Idaho and California, obtained from F. A. Hyde, formerly of San Francisco, under the forest land selection legislation of 1897.

Hyde's title to the land was afterward questioned by the government and prosecution followed as a result of which Hyde was set to prison. Secretary Payne is expected to announce his decision within a few days.
