

BATTILING LEVINSKY TRAINS FOR BATTLE

Local Fans See Light-Heavy Go Through Workout.

STEVE DALTON MISSING

Frank Kendall Busy With Crop of Battles Seeking Bout With Husky Jess Taylor.

BY DICK SHARP.

Battling Levinsky, who registers at the pollman Barney Williams, did not come to Portland holding Boy McCormick cheap. The Battler worked out at the Olympic gymnasium yesterday before several hundred boxing fans and showed more boxing ability than any other light-heavy or heavy-weight that ever stepped around here. This might be a broad statement, but it is a truth.

Levinsky didn't even lose a day's training while traveling. He stopped off in Chicago one day and worked out at the Arcade gymnasium. The next morning he had reached Omaha and there made arrangements for the use of one end of a baggage car to work out in the morning and the days of shadow boxing and rope skipping in the baggage car.

Every time his train stopped for more than five minutes, Levinsky was out on the depot walk pacing up and down a Harvard football team. He worked with a pair of colored light-heavyweights, and Frankie Murphy yesterday at the Olympic gymnasium, going for a round with each of the boxers. He darted in and out like a light-weight and displayed a snappy well-timed punch with some stuf behind it.

Levinsky to weigh 178.

Jack Rogers, who is here with Levinsky, says that the Philadelphia carry-over, 200 lb. men have been weight, which he will have off by Wednesday. He expects Levinsky to scale about 175 lbs. by the time Boy McCormick will hardly tip more than 161 tomorrow night, so it can be seen that he is giving quite a chunk of beef away to one of the best fighters in the world.

Levinsky will be 30 years old his next birthday. He was born in Philadelphia June 10, 1890. The figures available disclose that he has engaged in over 100 fights in his career, taking part in 62 scraps in one year, more than one bout a week. His ring career has extended over a period of ten years.

The Battler began his career with something of a punch, for his first year's work in the squared circle resulted in eight straight knockouts. As he progressed, however, Levinsky gradually discarded his hitting propensities for the more clever and scientific style. Out of 42 victories that he has scored over the country's leading boxers, 20 of them have been knockouts. He also has a record of 139 no-decision scraps, which is unequalled by any other fighter in the world.

Steve Dalton Missing.

A change has been necessitated in tomorrow night's card. Evidently Steve Dalton's showing against Battling Levinsky in the squared circle would put him up in the air, as he did not put in his appearance from San Francisco in the scheduled fight. Boy McCormick decided not to wait any longer and signed another man for Murphy rather than wait until the last day.

Telegram after telegram failed to get a rise out of Dalton after he had agreed to fight in the main event of the Terry Kendall gave up all hopes and, via the long-distance telephone, secured a Lloyd Madden, the tough Seattle welter-weight, to box Murphy. Because of the short notice given Madden it was agreed to shorten the match to ten rounds. The result of the extra match and two extra rounds.

Matchmaker Kendall is dicker with several boys who have been in constant training here for the added six-round go. The match that he would like to see is between Roy Sutherland and George Egeles, who fought a slam-bang draw at the Milwaukee arena several days ago.

Harlan Bunker has been creating quite an impetus in the boxing world and is a favorite over the veteran Joe Bonds. Joe will arrive from Tacoma today, where he has been conditioning himself for the month. Bonds set the boys a-talking a few weeks back when he knocked out Wild Bill Reed in three rounds, and is determined to subvert Bunker.

Joe Egan, Boston middleweight, who meets Johnny Celmers of Fort Worth, Texas, in the main event of Thursday night's card in Tacoma, is training here for the match. Egan is one of the best-known boxers in the country and was several years ago in acquaintance with Battling Levinsky yesterday.

Frank Kendall has been conducting an elimination contest all his own last few days. He has had several boxers weighing between 168 and 178 pounds who have been working out all week under his eye. The object is to select one of them to box Jess Taylor in the four-round certain rouser tomorrow night. Kendall will pick the luckiest one this afternoon after giving the three the once-over once more.

Weldon Wine lost a six-round decision to Bert Forbes of Seattle in Vancouver, B. C. the other night. Wing outboxed Forbes the first four rounds, but the Seattle boy rallied strong in the fifth and sixth and was awarded the decision.

Stanley Willis, who is well known in local circles, is boxing back in Pennsylvania, his home territory. It is Stanley's first trip home since coming out to the coast several years ago. He is meeting with great success. The other night Stanley beat K. O. Billy Angelo of New York in ten rounds at Reading, Pa.

MAJOR LEAGUES WIN APPEAL

District Court of Appeals Reverses Federal League Case.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—(Special.)—The district court of appeals today reversed the recent judgment for $244,000 granted by the district supreme court against the major league players in favor of the Baltimore Federal league club, which claimed a violation of the anti-trust laws by the use of the "reserve clause" in the players' contract.

The appellate court held that playing baseball did not constitute interstate commerce and that the anti-trust law did not apply. The "reserve clause" imposed restrictions, the court held, which related directly to the conservation of the personnel of the clubs and did not affect the move-

ANOTHER COACH WANTED

AGITATION FOR CHANGE GAINS STRENGTH AT WASHINGTON.

Three Are Mentioned for Allison's Place but Bagshaw Seems to Be Favorite Now.

UNIVERSITY OF WASHINGTON, Seattle, Dec. 6.—(Special.)—Agitation among the alumni of University of Washington for a new football coach has been particularly pronounced during the last two weeks. Although Graduate Manager Keirstead has announced that no immediate decision regarding a change will be made, it is generally believed that a choice will be made by the first of next month.

Keirstead's record this season is the main grounds of complaint on the part of the alumni and Seattle sport writers. The university has not had such a series of defeats since 1912, when the record was duplicated.

As a successor to Allison in case of his removal, Henderson of southern California, Borleske of Whitman and Enoch Bagshaw, high school coach at Everett, have been suggested.

The Bagshaw boom has assumed the largest proportions of any of the three. Bagshaw is an ex-Washington star and has a wonderful record as a coach at Everett, where his prep school eleven have been defeated only once in nine years.

Borleske has denied any communication with the university on the question of accepting. Henderson has been mentioned for his promise to work for the University of Southern California this year.

BASKETBALL TEAMS ORGANIZE

Prosper Students, Business Men and Legionnaires Take Up Game.

PROSSER, Wash., Dec. 6.—(Special.)—All attention has been turned to basketball with the end of the football season. Not only are the high school boys turning out for places on the school team, but business men, faculty members and American Legionnaires are working out frequently and playing practice games with the high school team.

Keen competition is shown and never before was such interest taken in basketball.

The high school has games scheduled with other teams of the valley and it is expected that a town team will be formed which will also schedule outside games. In fact, the Prosper town team will welcome correspondence with any team in the state for the purpose of scheduling games for the coming month.

STUDENTS TAKE WRESTLING

University of Washington Grapplers Have Begun to Train.

UNIVERSITY OF WASHINGTON, Seattle, Dec. 6.—(Special.)—A call for varsity wrestlers has been made by Coach Jimmie Arbutnot and approximately 100 men are turning out in the University of Washington gymnasium.

Arbutnot returned to the University of Washington this fall. He was wrestling coach in 1918 and has been at Oregon Agricultural college for the last two years. Coach Arbutnot is assisted by Blaine Gibson and Otto Henderson, varsity wrestlers.

With a large number of men of practically all weights, and a number of former men back, the Washington grapplers will have a strong squad this year.

Captain Bollinger, Bardeeson, Gibson, Sartoris and M. Bolger are all in school from last year's varsity.

Lewis County Wants Golf Club.

CEBHALIS, Wash., Dec. 6.—(Special.)—Discussion of the plans for formation of the Lewis County Golf club were considered at a meeting held attended by a number of enthusiasts from Cebhalis and Centralia. No definite action was taken.

JUMBO STIEHM IS SOUGHT AS WASHINGTON GRID COACH

Bill Klepper and Bill Kenworthy, Seattle Baseball Pilots, Visit Here and Tell of Plans for 1921 Playing Season.

BY L. H. GREGORY.

IN THE effort to get a coach who will put her back on the football map in the good old Doble way, the University of Washington is angling for none other than the celebrated E. G. (Jumbo) Stiehm, now head coach at the University of Indiana.

This became known yesterday from indisputable sources. Washington may not get Stiehm. The chances are she will not, for it would take a whole lot of money to lure him from Indiana. But she is negotiating with him to take the coaching job just vacated by Sid Allison, who resigned the other day after tutoring the Washington varsity through the most disastrous season it ever had.

Jumbo Stiehm is known all over America as one of the best coaches in football. He is a University of Wisconsin graduate, and a three-letter man at that university. While in college he made his letter in football, basketball and baseball. He was a star in all three sports.

He made his coaching reputation at the University of Nebraska, which he coached five years. Each of those five years Nebraska won the Missouri valley championship. In that period Stiehm also twice defeated the great Notre Dame and, besides, defeated Minnesota, Michigan and the Michigan Aggies.

For the past three years Stiehm has been head coach at the University of Indiana. His eleven finished third in the "Big Ten" this season, its only conference defeat being a 7 to 14 game loss to Iowa early in the season. Indiana didn't win the championship Ohio state eleven, but cleaned up on all other conference opponents.

Stiehm also coached Notre Dame. Though Notre Dame won 13 to 10, the score was the lowest the great Catholic eleven has been held to in the past couple of years.

It would be a ten-strike for Washington to get a man of Stiehm's caliber. But to get him doubtless would require every cent of that $10,000 a year Seattle dispatches have said are waiting in the Washington coffers for a coach who can fill the well-known gap. Washington wants not only a football coach, but a man who can direct basketball and baseball—in short, an all-the-year-around athletic director. Stiehm would be at home in that job.

If Stiehm doesn't come it still looks like Enoch Bagshaw, out of the coaching job. But the fact that Washington is out trying to get Stiehm shows that there is considerable opposition to Bagshaw in university circles, despite his continued football success with Everett high school.

"I have promised George Maisei, Beaver outfielder, that if he can arrange a satisfactory dicker with a big league club for his services, I will put it through for him," said Kenworthy yesterday.

"Maisei has given us his best in the past couple of years and is entitled to another chance up above. I appreciate a ballplayer's good efforts and will never stand in the way of his advancement. All I want is a satisfactory arrangement whereby we can get good players in exchange. Maisei ought to bring us at least two high-class ballplayers.

"And don't think that Fritz won't make good up above. He will. Maisei is a much better ballplayer than he has had credit for being in Portland. All his hard luck in hitting has happened here. On the road he is one corking good pinch hitter and has driven in many a run for the Portland club. But every player slumps in his hitting at times, and it just has happened that Maisei's slumps always have been in Portland."

McCrede expects to get a couple of players from Boston, a player or so from Seattle and a player or two from Detroit in exchange for Law Blue, perhaps a player or two from Chicago and maybe a couple of players in the Major League. He figures this with what he has should give him a pretty good layout when the season opens. He is dicker-ing for a first baseman, a shortstop, a good outfielder or two and a couple of experienced pitchers who can win ball games.

Oakland Quintet to Tour.

OAKLAND, Cal., Dec. 6.—Plans are being made for a tour of the middle west late this month of the Junior Golds, a 130-pound Young Men's Christian association basketball team of Oakland.

"You're dead right in figuring you'll find it easier to manage the team when you're playing yourself than from the bench," interposed Walter McCredie, who had come to congratulate Kenworthy and gossiped about the coming season. "I was a playing manager for a good many seasons in Portland before I took to the bench, and tell you it's a duck soup managing and playing compared to managing from the bench.

"When you're in the game every day, your mind is on your playing and you escape a million worries that bother the bench manager half the time. My advice to the ballplayer who becomes a manager is to stay in the game himself just as long as he can hobble and tell you it's a duck soup as long and cheat the good club out of a good many years' dues."

The proposed Notre Dame-Oregon Agricultural college football game here New Year's day is off, in its place Notre Dame has definitely closed for a Christmas day football game in San Francisco against the Pacific coast team that defeated Multnomah here Saturday, 41 to 0.

This news came yesterday to James J. Richardson, general manager of student activities at Oregon Agricultural college, in a telegram saying that Notre Dame had accepted the challenge and would play the game on the coast. This probably is just as well, for it was becoming increasingly doubtful if arrangements could be completed at the O. A. C. end for the New Year's game.

The Pacific fleet eleven is as well qualified to give Notre Dame a real argument as any conference college football team on the Pacific coast. Most persons who saw the fleet team in action on Multnomah field Saturday are of the opinion that only two conference college elevens this season would have stood much show against it. Those two are Washington State and California.

After seeing Ingram and Fielding in action on those cracker buckets at Pacific field, the least surprise at the action of Coach Elmer Henderson of University of Southern California in hastily cancelling a practice game he had scheduled with the navy lads.

"I have promised George Maisei, Beaver outfielder, that if he can arrange a satisfactory dicker with a big league club for his services, I will put it through for him," said Kenworthy yesterday.

"Maisei has given us his best in the past couple of years and is entitled to another chance up above. I appreciate a ballplayer's good efforts and will never stand in the way of his advancement. All I want is a satisfactory arrangement whereby we can get good players in exchange. Maisei ought to bring us at least two high-class ballplayers.

OREGON GETS FIRST MEET

CONFERENCE MAKES SIX-YEAR TRACK AGREEMENT.

Pullman, Berkeley, Corvallis, Seattle, Then Palo Alto Scene of Events After 1921.

One of the most important matters accomplished at the recent coast conference meeting at Berkeley, Cal., was the decision for a six-year agreement for the conference track and field championships. Starting with the 1921 season and ending in 1926 the meets have been apportioned as follows: 1921 to University of Oregon at Eugene, 1922 to Washington State college at Pullman, 1923 to University of California at Berkeley, 1924 to Oregon Aggies at Corvallis, 1925 to University of Washington at Seattle, 1926 to Stanford university at Palo Alto.

It is unfortunate that the University of Southern California could not be admitted to the conference. The past season has shown U. S. C. with a worthy football team and for years the "southern" have always had track teams comparing with college teams in any part of the country.

Southern California gave this country Fred Kelly and Charlie Faddock. It had Howard Drew and many more of a standard measuring up with the best. It is possible that the U. S. C. track men will be seen in competition against the conference college teams next season in dual meets. Arrangements to this effect have been referred to as the southern management.

It is not generally known that both French and English boxers are now touring Germany and milling in the squared circle with the "Huns." Purchasers of a standard measuring up with a hearty and flattering reception from the "fans" who but a few months ago were referred to as "Huns." George Groves an English middleweight, and Dumas a French middleweight, have opened the way for further boxing invasions of Germany and it now looks as though there will be a general flocking of the padded mitt men into Germany. Groves has had ten fights and won them all, so on that showing he says there is nothing to complain of and that the German audiences treat him properly.

PASADENA PREPARES FOR GRIDIRON GAME

Elaborate Plans Made for Reception of Teams.

SEATING CAPACITY SOLD

Hope Held That President-elect Harding Will Attend Big East-West Contest.

BY HARRY M. GRAYSON.

PASADENA, Cal., Dec. 6.—(Special.)—Elaborate plans are being made for the reception and entertainment of the University of California and Ohio State football teams upon their arrival in Pasadena on or about December 22. When the teams take the field for their inter-sectional championship match, New Year's day, regularly organized rooting sections will cheer their favorites and the contest will have all the "color" of a big campus game.

The Federation of Ohio State societies of Southern California, representing 50,000 Ohioans, will lavishly entertain the visiting Buckeyes. Officials of the society, headed by President Blatt of Long Beach and Secretary Berling of Los Angeles, will head a big band, hand out hundreds of supporters of Dr. John Wilce's charges that will meet the team upon its arrival in Los Angeles. Automobiles will whisk the Ohio footballers to the Hotel Huntington, and will be at the disposal of the visitors during their stay.

A banquet will be tendered the Ohio State party by the Federation of Ohio State societies at a downtown banquet room; the tentative date set is December 23.

1200 Buckeye Seats Arranged.

Twelve hundred seats at Tournament park have been set aside for the Ohio rooting section. Alumni from all of the Big Ten conference colleges will form the Ohio rooting section, with the result that hundreds of spirit should be shown in that quarter.

In the hope that President-elect and Mrs. Warren G. Harding will be able to attend the classic, the Tournament of Roses association has reserved a special box, hand out hundreds of spirit should be shown in that quarter.

The Federation of Ohio State societies includes all Ohio organizations representing California, besides the Ohio State University Alumni association of Los Angeles. This splendid organization is setting itself to make the visit of its home state football team the most memorable of all time.

6158 California Seats Arranged.

California governor, state senators and upward of 20,000 alumni of necessity will make a great demand on seating capacity.

When it is understood that more than 2000 men students are expected from the campus alone, while there are 6158 seats reserved for the southern branch of the university in Los Angeles, to make no mention whatever of the alumni gathered around Los Angeles, San Francisco and throughout the state, California's allotment of 6158 seats seems small.

The University of California—both student body and alumni—has been allotted 6158 seats, which will not in any way fill the requirements. However, with due consideration for what the Tournament of Roses association feels it owes the general public, Graduate Manager Nicholas and Leslie B. Henry, representing the alumni, regard the association's treatment of California generous.

A full squad of 30 men with coaches and trainers will make the trip south and will be located at the Hotel Maryland.

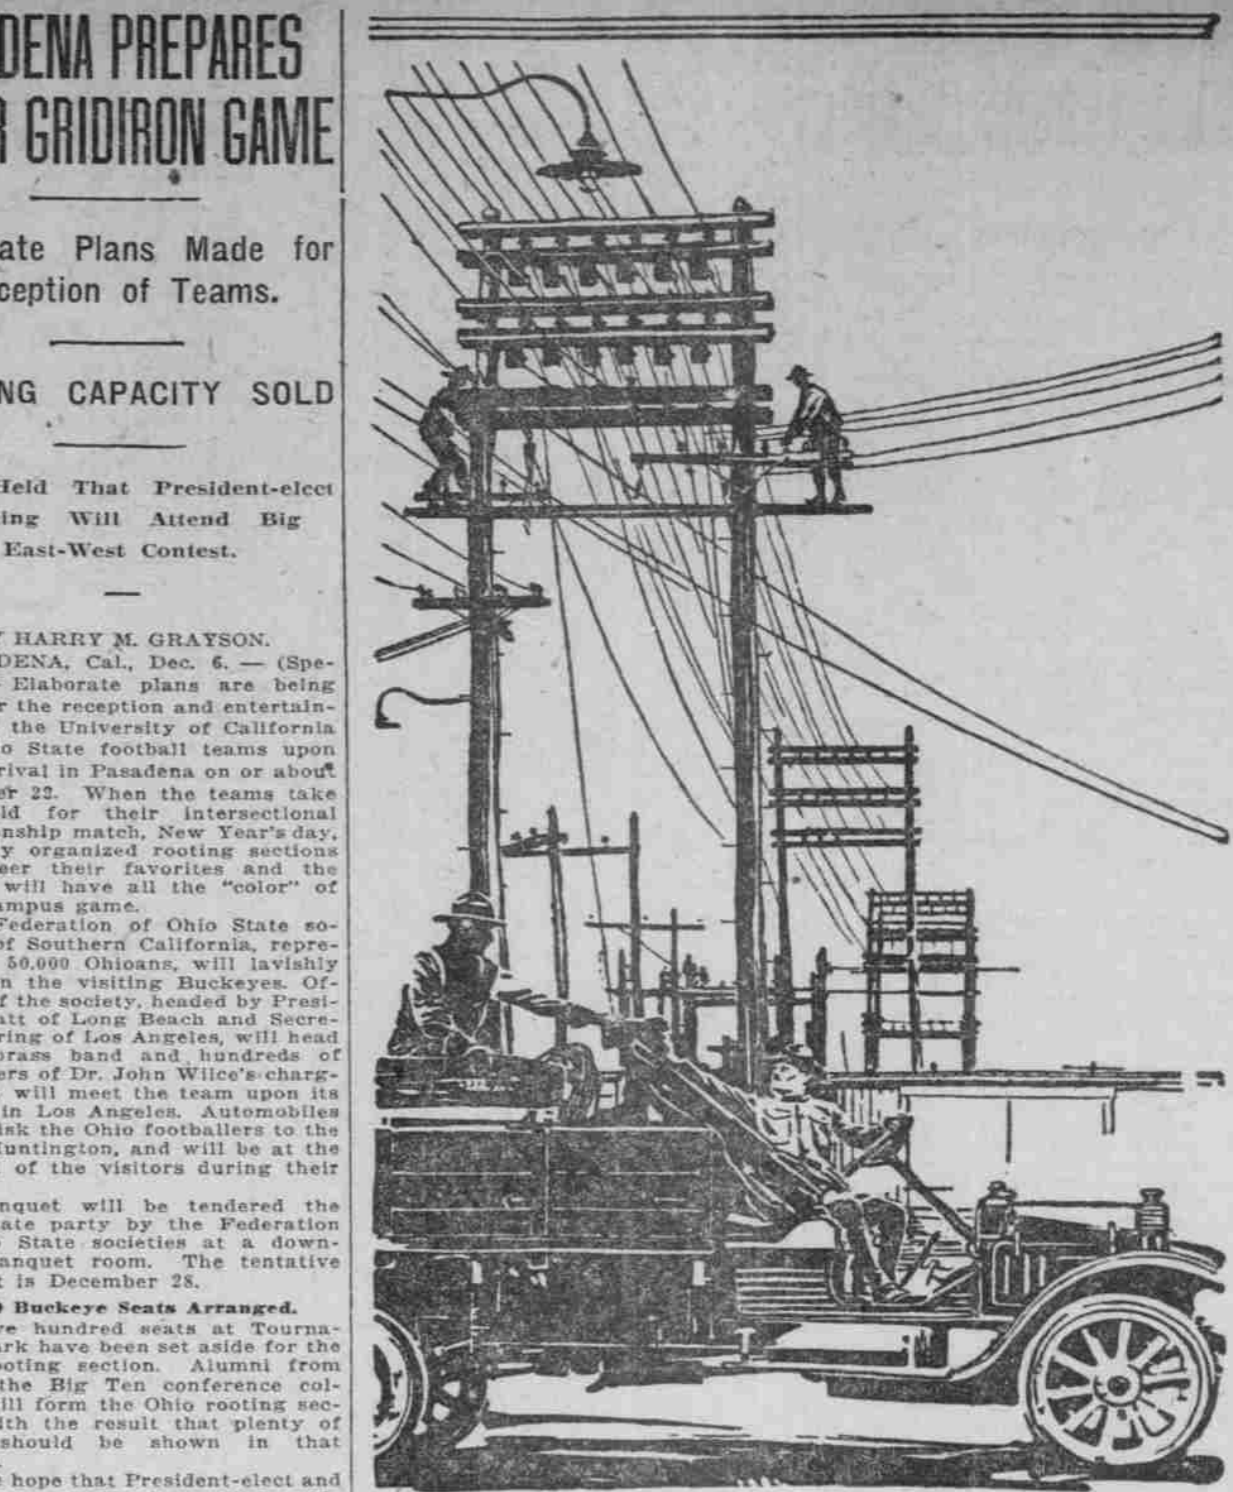

There are no more Tournament of Roses association memberships for sale in Pasadena. The list has closed with 2900 sold. Officials decided to end the sale when they realized that no longer could they guarantee purchasers the very best seats in the park. Three thousand memberships represent the very best 12,000 seats reserved for the tournament association last year it disposed of 2553, which was the largest number up until now.

McCrede expects to get a couple of players from Boston, a player or so from Seattle and a player or two from Detroit in exchange for Law Blue, perhaps a player or two from Chicago and maybe a couple of players in the Major League. He figures this with what he has should give him a pretty good layout when the season opens. He is dicker-ing for a first baseman, a shortstop, a good outfielder or two and a couple of experienced pitchers who can win ball games.

Klepper thinks he made a mighty good move in signing up the veteran, Bill Kenworthy, to manage the Seattle team this year at a salary probably larger than that paid any other minor league chief in the country. Kenworthy seems to think it was a good move, too. He was enthusiastic yesterday about the coming season, and not in the least apprehensive as to his own ability to deliver the managerial goods.

"Some of these players when they become managers expect to sit on the bench and run the team," said Kenworthy. "I figure just the opposite. Just as long as I can deliver you'll find me in the lineup. I don't believe managing the club will slow me up playing in the least. In fact, I ex-
