SOCIETY NEWS

FOR the first time in a period of almost ten years Temple, Beth Israel was the scene of a marriage ceremony. The occasion was the year, solemnized last night at 8:30 o'clock, when Miss Delphine Rosenfeld became the bride of Robert Koshland.

The music for the wedding march was the usual Lohengrin march, but the introduction to the fourth scene from the same opera, which was the march played for the wedding of Mr. Koshland's brother and sister. During the ceremony the "traumerei" of Schumann was played by Mr. Causen. The Mendelssohn wedding march was played as the bride left the edifice.

The maid of honor, Miss Elise Feldman, a friend of the bride, at the time they were tiny children, was lovely in a smart gown of pale green and white, and carried a basket of flowers. The bridesmaid, Miss Dorothy Goldsmith and Miss Frankenauser—the bride's sister—wore a delicate shade of lavender and white, and carried a basket of flowers. The bridesmaid, Miss Dorothy Goldsmith and Miss Frankenauser—the bride's sister—wore a delicate shade of lavender and white, and carried a basket of flowers.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rosenfeld of this city. Her father is an attractive engineer. Her mother was greatly admired in a black robe of jet. The bride is a graduate of the University of California. Mr. Koshland is the son of Marcus Koshland of San Francisco. The couple will reside in Boston.

The families are among the most prominent in business, civic and social life on the Pacific coast. The marriage is of interest not only in Oregon and California, but in the larger eastern cities where the Koshlands have interests. Many guests from town guests came to Portland for the wedding.

On Tuesday Mrs. Isam White, an aunt of the bride, gave a luncheon for members of the Koshland and Rosenfeld families. Many smart affairs were given on the bride during the weeks that intervened between her betrothal announcement and her marriage.

MATE SLACKER, SAYS WIFE

MARRIAGE EXCUSE TO EVADE DRAFT, DIVORCE PLEA.

Suing Husband Charges Spouse Got Drunk and Didn't Come Home Till Morning.

Marrriage as an excuse to evade the draft several years ago is the charge Mrs. E. Sather told presiding Judge Tazewell yesterday that her husband pursued. Four months later, she says, he told her this school was a pretext for the wedding. A default decree was granted.

The troubles of John Hilkey and his wife, L. Sarah Hilkey, were recounted by the husband, another of those receiving a decree. Mrs. Hilkey, according to testimony, was drunk much of the time and came home at 4 A. M. on many occasions, becoming abusive and breaking up furniture. The husband at whose place the couple lived a few weeks was on the witness stand and told of making the Hilkeys move out on account of the wife's disturbances. Mrs. Hilkey, it was said, had been arrested.

Other default decrees granted were as follows: Violet Michael from Clifford Michael, Mary T. Dettmerman from Louis P. Dettmerman, Charles Bahler from Carl T. Case, Louis A. Emeric from Lily H. Emeric, Grace Pleasant from George Pleasant, Freda Schoff from Verle L. Schoff, Silas B. Rhoades from Frances C. Rhoades, Amanda O'Toole from Michael J. O'Toole, Johanna Olsen from Andrew O'Toole.

TAX FOR FESTIVAL THROUGHOUT COUNTRY

County Budget to Be Scanned to See What Can Be Done.

FAIR ALSO WANTS HELP

Estimates Are Pruned Time and Again to Get Within Limit but Still Are Too Large.

Need for completing the budget for Multnomah county by Saturday in order that it may have time for publication, according to law, precipitated a stormy session of the commissioners yesterday when delegations came in to request appropriations.

Although the budget has been repeatedly slashed in an effort to get it down to the approximately $2,500,000 that it will embrace next year it is still more than $1,000,000 out of bounds.

Bridge Estimates Reduced.

Bridge appropriations have been cut and suggested the appropriation on the theory that their cost will go down. The road fund has been pruned from $1,500,000 to $900,000 and the library is apparently going to lose $41,000.

Budget to Be Revised.

Commissioner Muck, however, insisted that the levy be included and that later something could probably be cut out in its favor so that the tax limitation would be met. It was finally suggested that a committee from the auxiliary first go over the budget with the commissioners in an advisory capacity.

Mr. Holman Attacked.

Commissioner Holman again undertook to explain that the Christmas fund after which his statements were attacked by Mr. Muck, who declared the former had misrepresented facts. Mr. Muck called attention to the pavement of city streets by the county, construction of the new bridge, the debts incurred by the fair and to provide for its operation by the county instead of the city.

CURFEW IS 3 O'CLOCK

Law Amended by Council Permitting Hour More on Streets.

Curfew in Portland will sound at 9 o'clock each night hereafter during the winter and at 10 P. M. during the summer, the city council having passed an ordinance amending the curfew law which formerly made 8 o'clock the curfew hour during the winter months, and 9 o'clock in the summer.

The change was recommended by Mayor Baker upon the advice of Judge Kansler, of the domestic relations court, and other persons interested in the work of checking juvenile delinquency, who believe that the later hour, if properly enforced, will result in more effective work than the earlier curfew hour unheeded by both children and police officials.

Acting-Mayor Bigelow, in conformity with the expressed wish of Mayor Baker, yesterday issued an order to Chief of Police Jenkins, instructing all police officers to strictly enforce the new curfew law.
