State to Reap Fat Fee in Taxe and Licenses Under New Fistic Regulations.

The first official statement issued by the New York boxing commission on the financial workings of the body indicated that not only is boxing in a most flourishing condition in the metropolis, but that the state will reap a nice sum each year from il-cense fees and taxes.

The commission has now been in operation six months and in that time has collected $48.217.52 from fees and taxes. Originally the state appropriated $50.000 to set the machinery of the commission in working order. Six months workings of the commission will show considerably larger receipts than the opening period. This is natural as a result of two facts; first, the commission has not had time to reach every club operating, nor to check up on various bouts held by individual promoters in the small towns, and second, there will be more boxing in the next four months than in any other period of the year.

Basing judgment on these facts, the commission estimated that for the 12 months from November, 1920, to November, 1921, revenue from fees alone would total more than $100,000, and that the tax of 6 per cent on every show would bring in another $117,000, or a total of $217,000. Expenses of the commission for the full year have been estimated at $80,767.84, which will leave for the state an estimated net balance of $136,832.16.

New Capital Necessary

Expansion and improvement require a telephone company to borrow money constantly. Current earnings, of course, take care of current expenses, and they should be sufficient to pay a fair return on the investment.

Money can only be obtained from one source; from the investing public; those who have surplus money to invest. The investor demands security, convertibilitythe ability to change his investment at will without loss —and an assurance of a reasonable and continued rate of return.

Will he, will you, will a bank, trust or insurance company invest money in an enterprise which is unable to meet these requirements?

Today in Oregon we are operating at a deficit. Our property in this state is yielding no return to its owners. Without a return on present capital how can we expect to attract new capital?

Our ability to borrow depends upon our revenues and ' our revenues depend upon our rates.

We are asking the Public Service Commission of Oregon to consider the inadequacy of our present revenues and to approve schedules of rates which will guarantee permanency, extension and improvement of the service.
