The father had started to buy a JAMAICA GINGER BANNED arm on gredit, but everything had farm on credit, but everything had to go to pay the creditors when he died suddenly. A small neighborhood church cared for the family for a time, but was unable to continue to bear the burden. bear the burden.

The mother is not strong and will need an operation soon. For a time she tried to care for her household duties and her children and do outside work at the same time, but soon found that she could not stand the Children Need Food.

The family is supplied at present with the necessary bedding, but the children need nourishing food and clothing for the winter months. In this, as in all families with children shoes is a particularly pressing item. The mother, who is a foreigner, is bringing up her children to be good Americans. She wants them to have the best possible education. All her and ambitions are centered against the sale of these articles, for merly destined for other purposes.

International Committee of Y. M. C. A. Sends Out Stirring Appeal.

Communications urging co - operation in the relief work for the starying children of Europe, which has been inaugurated by the European Reilef council, have been received by former war workers of the Young Men's Christian Association from A. E. Marling and John R. Mott, chairman and secretary respectively of the international committee of the Y. M. AUTOS COLLIDE; 1 HURT winter stockings of Portland families.

In addition to the actual money received, many calls are made each day to the bureau by those who wish to help. Two letters came to The Oregonian last night from women who offered to care personally for some of the children mentioned as especially in need of care.

Bureau is Aiding 360.

The bureau is caring at the present time for 300 Portland families. It is expected that 500 will be in need of help by Christmas. To give help which is needed so urgently, the bureau requires $15,000 to use in winter relief work.

All families are visited personally by a representative of the bureau. A typical family is:
