Did you ever wonder what becomes of all the letters written to Santa Claus and mailed in Portland? They are all sent directly to the public welfare bureau, where each one receives the careful attention of the relief committee, which is planning to care for 500 Portland families this winter.

Many of the letters have no postage, but are dropped trustfully in mail boxes by little hands. Some of these children have never seen a postage stamp but they know there is a Santa Claus, a Santa who loves them and will not forget.

Letters Mailed by Child. One public welfare worker found a little girl of 4, who wondered if Santa could find the way "clear out to this house." The family of six children had been taken by their invalid mother to a tiny bit of a house on the outskirts of town. The mother had tried to explain to the little girl that perhaps Santa might not find the way this year.

Nothing daunted, the child mailed her letter to Santa and it found its way to the relief committee, which in this way has discovered the needs of this family. If any indication of distress is noticed in any child's letter, the family is visited at once by the relief committee. The children thus unknowingly aid their older brothers and sisters by their letters brought to the family for the winter months and not just for Christmas time alone.

Seven Children, Wife Deserted. One family brought to the attention of the bureau that of a deserted wife who has seven children, the youngest about a year old. The mother and children worked during the summer picking berries near Portland, but when fall came and school opened, she returned with her family so that the children could go to school.

The children need all sorts of clothing, particularly underwear, shoes and some suitable school clothes. The mother also needs bedding. The mother is beginning to break down under the strain of her worries, and is in need of medical attention.

The house in which they are living is sadly in need of repair, especially in regard to the plumbing. The mother has been trying to pay for the house, but the payments are six months delinquent, because she has been unable to contribute practically nothing since she was left alone. Fifty dollars would pay the plumbing in a sanitary condition.

CHILD WELFARE SUBJECT League of Women Voters to Hear Programme at Y. M. C. A. Child welfare will be the subject for discussion at a public meeting of the Oregon branch of the League of Women Voters tomorrow night at 8 o'clock at the Y. M. C. A. auditorium.

POULTRY SHOW IS TODAY

Public is to be admitted during whole week. Egg Exhibit Will Be Special Feature; Lectures to Be Given by Agricultural College Man.

Producers of a dollar-a-dozen eggs and delicious spring fry will expose their hand to the uninitiated this week at the municipal auditorium, the occasion being the 11th annual poultry show under the auspices of the Oregon Poultry and Poultry Stock association. The show will open this morning and, for the first time in its history, the public will be admitted free.

Experts from the agricultural college will be on hand to explain why Oregon-bred hens have established world marks and any person interested in the industry, whether from a backyard or larger standpoint, can attend and, doubtless, gain some valuable pointers about the business.

The largest entry list in the history of the show has been received. The egg show will be a special feature. The rabbit section of the show also will be larger than ever.

The lecture programme, under the auspices of the Oregon Agricultural college, will be the chief educational feature of the show. The lecture programme follows:

Tuesday, 2 P. M., "Insulation and Brooding," H. E. Cosby, poultry expert, evening, 8:30, exhibition judging demonstration, William Coates, 8:30, "Poultry Keeping as a Business," Professor A. G. Lunn, 9 P. M., "The Poultry Show," H. E. Cosby, 9:30, "Commercial Poultry," Professor A. G. Lunn.

Thursday, 2 P. M., "Laying and Breeding Hens," Professor A. G. Lunn, 4:30, exhibition judging demonstration, Judge Russell, 8:30, "Poultry Show," H. E. Cosby, 9:30, "Commercial Poultry," Professor A. G. Lunn.

Friday, 3 P. M., "Breeding to Increase Production," Professor James Dryden; evening, "Some Poultry Farms I Have Visited," Professor James Dryden.

Saturday, 2 P. M., "Possibilities of the Backyard Flock," H. E. Cosby.

PROGRAMME IS ARRANGED

Tercenary of Pilgrim Landing to Be Honored in Portland. A tentative programme for the tercentenary celebration of the landing of the Pilgrims, which will be held at the auditorium Tuesday night, Dec. 21, has just been arranged by William D. Wheelwright and E. L. Devereaux. They were appointed by Mayor Baker to arrange a suitable celebration for this city. Winthrop Hammond is chairman of the general committee.

Rev. W. H. Boddy will speak on "Our Pilgrim Inheritance" and the rest of the programme will be largely devoted to music. Frederick W. Goodrich will give some selections on the organ. A chorus of 300 girls and an orchestra of about 100 pieces, selected from the pupils of the public schools, will furnish music. Carl Benton will lead the orchestra.

Three in Race for Salem Attorney. SALEM, Or., Dec. 12.—(Special).—A triangular contest for city attorney of Salem, with E. W. Macey, incumbent, Ray Smith and Allan Bynon as candidates, was announced here today. Both Mr. Macey and Mr. Smith previously had been mentioned in connection with the office, but Mr. Bynon is a new man in the contest.

Sanitation by Landlords Ordered. SALEM, Or., Dec. 12.—(Special).—Persons having houses for rent in Salem must take adequate sanitary measures to protect the health of their tenants or the dwellings will remain vacant, according to an order issued here today by J. N. Staife, city sanitary officer.

SOCIETY

An attractive bride-elect who is being extensively feted in Miss Frances Soden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. T. Soden. Recently Miss Soden was honored at a luncheon given by her sister, Mrs. Foster M. Murphy, who formally announced Miss Soden's betrothal to Merton Addison Dobbin. The marriage will be an event of January. Miss Soden attended Oregon Agricultural college and is a member of Pi Beta Phi sorority. Mr. Dobbin served overseas with the Canadian Expeditionary Force and recently came from Minnesota to make his home here.

Richard T. Nunn plans to return to England in January to re-enter a school in Hampshire where he was a student for three years. Mrs. Nunn, his mother, will go abroad later in 1921.

Dr. and Mrs. J. A. White have taken apartments at the Hotel Ramapo.

The Assembly, a dancing club that meets each month in Laurelhurst clubhouse, held an attractive party Friday night. Excellent music was a feature. A supper was served late in the evening. The membership includes a coterie of prominent couples of the city. The next assembly party will be January 14.

Arthur M. Tanker of Portland and Miss Lilla M. Pachenham of Los Angeles, Cal., were united in marriage at the bridegroom's new home at 1830 Thirtieth street southeast on December 10 at 10:30 P. M. The bride was met at the train and taken immediately to her future home, where the ceremony was read by Rev. D. Lester Fields of the Mt. Taber Methodist church.

The occasion was entirely informal. The company was made up of a few relatives and friends of the couple. After the ceremony a dainty luncheon was served.
