

SOLDIER'S PAL TELLS OF DUEL WITH POLICE

Private Tillman Mumbles Story of Holdups, Also.

H. A. WALTERS IS ACCUSED

Companion Forced Him Into Robberies and Did Fatal Shooting Alone, Jury Is Informed.

From the mumbly lips of Private John A. Tillman, 17-year-old soldier, there was detailed to a jury in Circuit Judge Tucker's court yesterday a story of reckless and daring street banditry on the part of himself and Private Husted A. Walters, which culminated in the killing of Jerome Palmer, Portland police patrolman, on the night of November 17.

Private Walters, on trial for the murder of the policeman, sat through his youthful companion's recital with a flushed face and a nervousness which was apparent to all in the courtroom. At frequent intervals Walters would shift himself about in his chair in an effort to catch the eye of the young witness who was giving the most damaging testimony against him, but Tillman kept his gaze upon the jurors throughout his recital, except on one occasion when he nodded toward Walters as the man who had fired the shot which terminated the life of Patrolman Palmer.

Aid Declared Forced.

"We left Camp Lewis together three days before we came to Portland," Tillman testified. "We got to Portland at 2:10 on the afternoon of the killing and went to a north end pawnshop and sold Walters' gun for $3. He then took mine and kept it. The rest of the evening he was in the room. After dark we started out to see the town. It was about an hour before the first robbery that Walters told me he was going to hold up people and get some money. I told him I didn't want to go, but he made me. Then, with a voice which could scarcely be heard by the jurors sitting but a few feet away, Tillman told of the three street hold-ups in which he participated with Walters. He recounted how he had been commanded by Walters to search one of the victims, and that after finding the man's wallet in a vest pocket he put it back in the fellow's overcoat pocket when Walters wasn't looking.

Money Declared Not Wanted.

"Why did you do that?" inquired Deputy District Attorney Bernard, who conducted the direct examination. "I didn't want to take his money," replied the witness.

After the third hold-up Tillman said he told Walters that they would have to stop.

"I told him the police would sure get us," related the youth. "He said he didn't care. He told the police would never get him."

After the third hold-up Tillman said they started back toward the business district with the intention of going to the union station and getting a train.

"When we got down by Sixth and Gisan I saw two policemen and told Walters that they were coming toward us," the youth said.

Police Headed Their Way.

"The police were coming up Sixth street and headed for the corner where we were. When they got pretty close to us Palmer called out for us to stop and take our hands out of our pockets. I stopped and did as he said, but Walters walked off the side-walk and got about six feet from the curb. When the police called once again for him to stop, Walters turned and shot Palmer. The other officer with Palmer fired at Walters, who then began to run east. They paid no attention to me after the police man had been shot. I stood there for a minute and then walked down to the station, where I was arrested a short time later."

From the moment Walters turned in the street and sent a bullet from an army revolver into the heart of Patrolman Palmer the narrative of succeeding incidents was taken up by other police who were at or near the scene of the fatal shooting at the time.

Patrolman Thorpe Testifies.

Patrolman Thorpe gave testimony in all essential details similar to that given by young Tillman relative to the actual shooting of Patrolman Palmer. He said that with other police he immediately gave chase to the fleeing soldier.

Patrolmen Reek and Barber and Desk Sergeant Reno testified concerning the running duel with Walters from Sixth and Gisan streets to the terminal freight yards, where Walters was found with a bullet wound in his shoulder, reclining against a cement pier of the steel bridge.

Patrolman Reek said he crept up on Patrolman Palmer's slayer and a strong-armed him. Walters was cocked at the time and ready for use, he said. Patrolman Barber said he held his gun at Walters' side while Reek took the soldier's weapon away from him.

John A. Goltz, lieutenant of inspectors, told of the admissions made by Walters at the emergency hospital the night of his arrest. Walters admitted shooting Palmer, he said, and admitted the street robberies preceding the fatal shooting. Walters told him that he shot in an effort to get away, he testified.

The prosecution got well under way yesterday and is expected to conclude with its case in chief late this afternoon or early tomorrow. The case is not expected to reach the jury until late Thursday or possibly Friday.

SOCIETY NEWS

A novelty party for the employees of Marshall-Wells company was given Saturday evening at the company's offices, Fifteenth and Lovejoy streets. The evening was spent in dancing and cards. A musical programme was furnished by Miss Helen Matthews and the Zenith quartet, with the assistance of the greenward orchestra, after which an elaborate luncheon was served. The offices were prettily decorated with various colored effects, festooned with Christmas greens.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Well, who have been residing in Hillsboro, have taken apartments at the Carmelita for the winter. They will leave shortly for a short trip to New York.

Earl C. Ward, Jr., who is a student at Stanford university, expected tomorrow to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Ward, at the Bretton apartments.

Miss Elizabeth Huber entertained with a small dancing party last night, honoring her fiancé, Cliff Cornwall, who is visiting here for the holidays. Many are the affairs planned for Miss Huber and Mr. Cornwall. Monday night Mrs. E. L. Thompson gave a dinner, honoring the young people, and Miss Nadine Caswell then entertained the party at the theater.

Mr. and Mrs. John E. Kollock will be hosts for a dinner tonight, complimenting Miss Huber and her fiancé. A similar affair will be given tomorrow night by Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Thompson.

One of the interesting family parties of the week will be that for which Mr. and Mrs. Eliot Corbett will be hosts Christmas eve. Friday afternoon the children of the Corbett family will be entertained with a party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ladd Corbett. A Christmas tree and a Yuletide play by the Corbett children will be features.

The wedding of Miss Edna Holcomb and Waldo Hirschberger will be solemnized Christmas day at the home of the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Holcomb, on Hawthorne avenue. The ceremony will be read at 8 o'clock by Rev. Levi Johnson before a small group of relatives and friends. Miss Vera Kelly will be maid of honor and Ernest Holcomb, brother of the bride, to be best man.

Following the ceremony a supper will be served. Mrs. Moore Jones will cut the cake and Mrs. Thomas Van Orsdel will preside at the coffee urn. The wedding trip of the young couple will include several weeks in California, after which they will return to Portland to reside.

Christmas kindness took possession of the women who reside in the Francis apartments yesterday when they spent the day preparing presents for the old people of the Pines home. Matrons and maids of the building gathered in the apartment of Mrs. W. L. Prentiss and sewed and prepared gifts for the old people. At the same time they were arranged for each inmate and candy, cigars and other luxuries were added to the basket.

The gifts will be delivered Christmas day. Mrs. Kundred assisted Mrs. Prentiss in arranging the gathering.

Henry F. Wentz, prominent Portland artist, will leave shortly for New York, where he will spend the month of January. He will attend a number of exhibitions and visit artist friends in the eastern city.

Several Portlanders shared in the festivities at Del Monte recently, at which E. L. Garretson of Tacoma, imperial potentate of the Mystic Shrine, and Mrs. Garretson were honored guests. Mayor and Mrs. George L. Baker and Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Tomasi of Portland were included in the series of dinners, golf matches and bridge parties.

Carol Barker, a student of the University of California, came from Berkeley this week to spend the Christmas holidays with relatives.

Miss Mary Hall of Oids, Alberta, is the house guest of Miss Marion Ide for the Christmas holidays. Miss Hall is a student at Oregon Agricultural college.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Seamen are in Portland for the holidays from Long Beach, Wash.

Miss Margaret Sheridan, student of the University of Oregon, is spending the holidays with her mother.

A holiday visitor is Miss Blanche Nyswonger of Denver, Colo., a student at the University of California. Miss Nyswonger was a nurse in the same unit in which Miss Doyle served overseas. She is studying landscape architecture under the direction of the federal board for vocational training.

Miss Nyswonger will be entertained by a number of Miss Doyle's friends during the Christmas season.

HALSEY, Or., Dec. 21.—(Special.)—William N. Walton and wife celebrated their 25th (silver) wedding anniversary Saturday. Twenty-five relatives and neighbors sat down to a bountiful repast. Some nice silver pieces were given them.

Irvington club members are anticipating with pleasure the next social event of the organization, which will be a formal dance. The party will be an event of Monday night at the clubhouse.

The annual luncheon of Alpha Chi Omega alumnae and active members will be held Tuesday at 12 o'clock at the Hotel Portland. Covers will be laid for 35. Following the luncheon a theater party at the Orpheum will be enjoyed. The affair is open to all alumnae and active members and reservations may be made with Mrs. J. P. Breckel, Tabor 5545.

Of interest to society will be the play to be given this evening at the Heilig theater, by the Y. W. C. A. and the Portland Drama League. Many box and line parties will be given. The principal characters of the play will be Dame and Father Worden, played by Mrs. Norman Christie and Walter Jenkins. Other important parts will be taken by Mrs. William Bailey, William Sites and H. Hanson.

Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Endicott have just returned from an extended stay in California.

Miss Julie Murphy will arrive today to be the guest of her sister, Mrs. William Shinnott, for the Christmas season. She is a student at the University of Washington.

Miss Judith Joy, who is attending school in Bellingham, Wash., will spend the holidays with her grandmother, Mrs. Julia La Barre. Allen Joy is also home from eastern Oregon for the Christmas vacation.

Junior members of the Multnomah club are anticipating the Christmas entertainment which is scheduled for Monday night. Parents and friends have been invited to attend.

Women's Activities

TOMORROW women members of the Harding and Coolidge club will sell Christmas seals for the Oregon State Anti-Tubercular association, and it is expected that the 25,000 members of the club will respond financially to the urgent call.

Thursday is the last day of the campaign for Christmas seals and every effort will be made to make it a success.

Miss Leona Powers, leading lady of the Baker stock company, has volunteered her services and will be at Mrs. William C. Baker's booth at the Imperial hotel. The Harding and Coolidge club workers are in charge of booths as follows:

—“And It's Just What We Needed!”

More and more, at Christmas time, real friends are giving useful gifts.

Warmth. For chilly evenings in the living room. After a long, cold drive. Bathing the youngsters.

Just a few of the many times that a Lawson Odorless Room Heater is a real necessity.

Odorless—absolutely. It gives off a radiant heat like the sun. No open flame to devitalize the atmosphere. Its strong rays penetrate without overheating.

The Lawson is compact. Of pleasing appearance. An economical size for every room in the house. Costs little to operate.

Review your Christmas list. You're sure to read at least one name on it to whom the Lawson Odorless Room Heater will be “just what we needed.”

Step in and let any of the following dealers demonstrate this hundred per cent quality heater.

HONOLULU, T. H., Dec. 21.—(Special.)—A house-to-house canvass of all Japanese women of Honolulu for the purpose of interesting them in dress reform will be made by the committee representing the local Japanese women's societies. The idea back of the movement is to do away with the picturesque Japanese dress worn by Japanese women in favor of modern American clothes.

ARE CURED BY CORRECTING THE SPINAL LESIONS.

WHY?

Study the photographs taken of normal and abnormal spine. Note in the abnormal spine the contraction or settling of series of vertebrae, due to the thinning or shrinking of the cartilages between.

LOOK AT THE RESULT The nerves which conduct vital energy to all organs of the body are impinged or pinched between the vertebrae, at the place where they leave the spinal canal and cord. The organs supplied by the affected nerves can no longer functionate correctly, their supply of vital nerve energy is obstructed, they become inactive, PARALYZED, DISEASED.

DON'T SAY YOUR CASE IS HOPELESS AND INCURABLE
Correction of spinal lesions has resulted in curing diseases of men and women that were at one time thought incurable.
