BRITISH LABOR AIDS CAUSE OF IRELAND

Great Campaign Launched to Win Self-Determination.

MAILED FIST OPPOSED

Resolutions Unanimously Adopted Demanding Withdrawal of All THOSE CLAIMING EXEMPTION Armed Forces in Ireland.

LONDON, Jan. 1—(Special Cable.)

British labor, supported for the first time by Irish labor, has begun its organized fight to wreck the mailed. ganized fight to wreck the mailed-fist regime in Ireland and to secure the peace of instice for the Irlah people. Arthur Henderson character-ized it as the greatest campaign in the history of labor and declared it will be waged "until the Irish people get what justice demands." The delegates present represented more than 3,603,000 workers in Great Britain, as well as Irish labor. The seventhy manimously approved the labor commission's report on Ireland and adopted a resolution challenging the British government to disprove the statements of the labor commission by a judicial inquiry and to punlish the guilty. It also unanimously adopted resolutions demanding the withdrawal of all armed forces in Ireland and that the Irish, through a constitution to work out

"whatever constitution for Ireland
the Irish people desire," subject to only two conditions which were already acceptable to organized Irish labor, that protection be afforded minabor, that protection be afforded minabor, that protection be afforded minabor that protection be afforded minab a military or naval menace to Campaign Opens January 17.

The actual campaign to arouse the people of the country begins on Jantary 17 and will be continued until February 17.

Many delegates loudly concurred in this view. Bromley and other speakers demanded that these forces be smashed by the united strength of labor. Adamson, leader of the parliamentary labor party in the house of commons, said that the day was not far distant when other nations would take out of British hands the settlement of the Irish question un.

Griffith, Cardinal Logue, representa-tives of Irish labor and spokesmen for other elements of the Irish people, and all wanted peace, "but peace with onor." The premier's speech in par-jament announcing intensified sup-pression, at the same time as he proessed a willingness to continue the sence ralks, was Henderson asserted the turning point in the negot ations, adding, "the peace negotiations are now at a standstill, but British labor Ill continue to work for the peace of justice in Ireland."

Working up to a burst of effective oratory, Henderson aroused the meeting to an intense pitch when he asserted that the British government could no longer stand before the world as the professed champion of small nations while denying to Ireland the right of self-determination. Last night for the first time, he said, Jrish labor, through its representa-tives, joined hands with British work-ers to demand a government in Ire-land based on the will of the Irish The meeting adjourned, confident that its intensified campaign before parliament sits will have such a far-reaching effect that it will force the British government to scrap the mill-tary machine in Ireland.
