

3 BILLS INTRODUCED ON FISH AND GAME

Two Commissions Provided to Handle Problems.

ROGUE RIVER ROW BACK

Commercial Interests Confer With Sportsmen Regarding Terms of Proposed Measures.

STATEHOUSE, Salem, Or., Jan. 11. (Special.)—Complete severance of the functions of the fish and game commission, creation of separate commissions and regulation of commercial and game fishing on the Rogue river was provided in three bills introduced in the house this afternoon by Representative Sheldon. Duplicate bills were also introduced in the senate today.

The bills presented to the legislature today were formulated and agreed upon at a conference of men interested in the fish and game industry in the state, as well as sportsmen, who for years have been engaged in a controversy over fishing in the Rogue river.

Attending this conference were Henry O'Malley and Hugh Mitchell, of the United States bureau of fisheries; Frank M. Warren, representing the commercial fishing industry of the state; George A. Mansfield, president of the state farm bureau; Senator Thomas, Representative Sheldon, Roderick Macleay, representing the commercial fishing industry on the Rogue river, and others.

Bill is introduced. One of the bills introduced by Representative Sheldon provided for the creation of the game commission, to be composed of five members, three republicans and two democrats. The members of the commission were to be appointed by the governor and would serve at his will.

This bill provided for quarterly meetings in the state house at Salem, with per diem pay for members at the rate of $5 a day for each meeting attended and for other duties performed, with the provision that no member of the commission should draw in excess of $200 a year from the state.

Control of all game fish, game birds and game animals will be under the game commission if the proposed bill becomes a law, while under the "master" bill, control of all commercial fishing would revert to the new fish commission. Similar provision for the appointment of the fish commission as with the game commission is provided in this bill.

Funds to be Secured.

Under the two bills, the secretary of state is instructed to make appropriation of all funds now in the control of the state game and fish commission. Provision is made for the calling of joint meetings of the fish and game commissions by the governor in the event of disagreement between the commissions, settlements of disputes is left to the governor for decision.

The Rogue river fishing bill introduced today would abolish use in the river of seines, set nets, diver nets, trammel nets and nets other than drift nets of mesh not less than eight inches.

Commercial fishing in the bills is permitted only between Lobster creek and Douglas rock, near the mouth of the Rogue river, and between these points only between 6 A. M., May 15 and 6 A. M., October 1, with a weekly closed period between 6 A. M. Saturday and 4 A. M. Sunday.

Trout are Protected.

The proposed bill makes it unlawful to take any trout or salmon by any means within a three-mile radius of the mouth of the river. Trout may be taken from the river by angling only, and if any trout are taken in the drift nets, the bill provides that they be liberated immediately. Further restrictions are found in the bill, one provision making it unlawful to take salmon from the river in the river between Hells Gate to one mile below the steel bridge at Eugene except between 6 A. M. June 1, and 6 A. M., October 1, and only by drift nets and hook and line with the weekly closed period.

SENATE MAKES PROGRESS

14 BILLS AND 4 RESOLUTIONS ARE INTRODUCED.

Committee Work Probably Will Not Get Under Way Before Early Next Week.

STATEHOUSE, Salem, Or., Jan. 11. (Special.)—Reading of the senator's message to the legislature interrupted the routine of the senate this morning, with the result that only a few minor matters were considered until noon.

This afternoon two short sessions were held, during the introduction of 14 bills and four resolutions. Only two of these resolutions were of importance, the others relating to the employment of special clerks for committees.

Senators joined in the belief here tonight that the work of the committee would not get under way before next week. It is probable, they said, that adjournment would be taken not later than Friday noon until Monday morning at 10 o'clock.

In this event most of the legislators will go to Portland, where a series of important conferences will be held Saturday and Sunday. Accompanying the legislators to Portland will be a half hundred stenographers, clerks and other legislative attendants.

It was said by senators who have attended many sessions of the legislature that the work of the senate was further advanced at the time of adjournment tonight than at the end of the first two days of any session in their recollection. This situation, they said, was due to the lack of a contest in either house in perfecting an organization and the apparent effort on the part of the legislators to avoid the usual eleventh-hour congestion.

FREE SCHOOL BOOKS SOUGHT

Bill Provides That Districts Shall Buy Supplies for Pupils.

STATEHOUSE, Salem, Or., Jan. 11. (Special.)—Textbooks for all pupils attending the grade schools of Oregon would be furnished free, according to a bill introduced in the senate today by Senator Banks of Multnomah county.

Under the bill, every school district would be required to purchase books for its pupils.

TAX MEASURES INTRODUCED

Referendum on Repeal of Limitation Law is Proposed.

STATEHOUSE, Salem, Or., Jan. 11. (Special.)—Referring to a vote of the people the question of repealing the 6 per cent limitation tax law now in effect in this state, and limiting the life of all millage taxes in Oregon to two years, are proposed in two resolutions introduced today by Senator Smith of Josephine county.

Both proposals, if approved by the legislature, will go before the voters at the next general election, unless a special election should be called before that date. Provision is made in the resolutions for the appointment of a committee to prepare arguments in favor of the measure.

LOAN BASIS CHANGE URGED

Ten Per Cent of Canadian Institution's Capital Proposed.

STATEHOUSE, Salem, Or., Jan. 11. (Special.)—In case senate bill No. 15, introduced by Senator Staples of Multnomah county, becomes a law, the Canadian Bank of Commerce, with headquarters in Portland, will be permitted to lend its funds on the basis of 10 per cent of the capital stock of the Canadian Bank of Canada. The Canadian Bank of Canada is the parent institution and has capital stock of $30,000,000. Computed on this basis, the Portland branch would be in a position to make loans to the amount of $3,000,000.

In all other respects the Canadian bank would be subject to regulation of the state superintendent of banks, as at the present time.

The Canadian National bank is said to be the only foreign institution of its kind operating in Oregon at the present time.
