

OREGON AUTO MEN HERE TO SEE SHOW

State Association Will Be in Annual Session.

WELCOME GIVEN VISITORS

Educational Value Attested by Fact That Class in Automotive Mechanics Will Attend.

Automobile dealers from all over Oregon will be in Portland today to attend the premier automobile event of the northwest, the 13th annual Portland show now in progress at the municipal auditorium. While a considerable number of the outside dealers have been in the city for several days enjoying the show, today has been set aside particularly for the benefit of the outside motorists and two scores of more dealers from eastern, central and southern Oregon and from Willamette valley and Pacific coast points are expected.

Business Session Today.
The important event of the day, from the standpoint of the visiting dealers will be the annual session of the Oregon Automotive Dealers' association, which will open at 10 o'clock at the auditorium. The meeting, which will be the regular annual business session, will continue throughout the morning and luncheon will be served at the auditorium at 12 o'clock. Officers of the association are: W. A. Johnson, The Dalles, president; Homer Ross, McLinnville, first vice-president; Sherman Lovell, Astoria, second vice-president; A. S. Robinson, Portland, third vice-president; A. B. Mount, Baker, fourth vice-president; C. C. Simonsen, Eugene, treasurer; J. H. Cassell, Portland, secretary.

A visitor of prominence both in the political and in the automobile world who will visit the show Saturday is W. J. Coyle, famous quarterback for the University of Washington a few years ago and recently elected lieutenant-governor of Washington. Coyle, who also holds the position of manager of the state automobile association in Washington, was sent by telegraph yesterday a special invitation from the board of directors to attend the show. He replied by telegram that he would be here Saturday and special arrangements are being made to receive him.

Educational Value Attested.
The educational value of the show is attested by the fact that the class in automotive mechanics at the Vancouver barracks has been ordered to attend the show in a body at 1 o'clock Friday afternoon. Under the plan adopted in the army, vocational classes in a number of trades are organized and enlisted men are allowed to choose which class they desire. Some 45 of the uniformed men are now taking the automobile mechanics work, and Friday's class, under charge of Charles L. Blakeley, instructor, will consist of a visit to the auditorium.

Last night proved the gala event of the show thus far. It was society night and judging from crowds and the handsome women in the latest "40s" and a considerable proportion of Portland's "two million" was on hand to enjoy the occasion. Evening dress was the order for the women and salesmen, and even the booths and the motor cars themselves were "dolled up" a little bit more than usual for the event.

Officers Welcome Visitors.

Officers and directors of the automobile dealers' association of Portland, which has charge of the show, received the visitors at the door and welcomed them on behalf of the automobile fraternity, following which the other dealers, salesmen and other members of automobile row presented took the visitors in hand in the effort to show all a good time. Special music was provided for the occasion. Thus far attendance records at the show have exceeded those of any past event of the kind, and every indication is that the show will close at the end of the week with a record. The glimmering special features are being planned for tonight, Friday and Saturday, and the last three days are expected to be the biggest and best yet at the show. The event will come to a close Saturday evening at 11 o'clock.
