

JAMIES JOHN SCHOOL TO BE BUILT IN 1921

Hawthorne Is Second Unit on Programme, Says Board.

SITE YET TO BE CHOSEN

East Side Business Men Demand Action After Waiting for Seven Years.

The school board decided unanimously last night to make its first units of construction this year the new James John high school and the Hawthorne-Buckman school.

No site was selected for the James John high school, although the matter is under consideration were again presented.

The immediate need for at least one unit of the Hawthorne-Buckman school was presented last night by several speakers and in a petition signed by 1185 residents of the district.

Swimming Tank Also Desired. Mr. Lepper urged that when the building is completed the swimming tank be included, as outlined in the original plan.

Wilson Benefield, president of the East Side Business Men's club, called attention to the unsatisfactory condition of the Buckman school.

All five members of the school board at the conclusion of the presentation of arguments voted to "undertake as the first units of construction the St. Johns and Hawthorne-Buckman schools."

At the opening of the meeting Chairman Thomas stated that "conditions are desperate in the schools."

"We have only 20 cents to spend where a dollar is needed," said W. F. Woodward, director of the schools.

A delegation from the Vernon school presented a petition asking for a swimming tank. They offered to donate unskilled labor and to get contributions of money if necessary.

AD CLUB HOLDS ITS JINKS

Installation of Officers Also Is Feature of Programme.

The Portland Ad club last night held its annual jinks and installation of new officers in the ballroom of the Malvern hotel.

Attired in costumes representing everything from fir trees to powder puffs, members of the club streamed to the ballroom and there, forming a bizarre and motley gathering, held the grand march.

The officers installed were: W. K. Kirkpatrick, president; George L. Bauck, first vice-president; R. R. Bailey, second vice-president; William J. Pipebrink, secretary-treasurer; and W. C. Culbertson, M. R. Klepper, John Lane, W. W. Brown, J. Ball, F. E. Tebbets and E. M. Welch, directors.

At midnight prizes were awarded to those wearing the most unique and appropriate costumes. E. N. Strong, past president, was presented a life membership in the organization.

My face was a sight. I tried different remedies but nothing helped me. I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and after a few days I had a fine skin. I used one cake of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment and I was completely healed." (Signed) Mrs. E. M. Goodwin, 1234 F St., Sacramento, California.

"The disabled veteran," said Cassius R. Peck, another of the "committee of ten," in opposing the cash bonus, "is the man that needs help. It is neither you nor I. He is the man."

"There's something greater than the mere advantage of a cash bonus," asserted Mr. Sammons. "There is a higher ideal. We should uphold the state, rather than hold it up."

Torrents of disapproval drowned all argument against the cash bonus plan, and crisis of "Question" urged the vote on the Sweater resolution

RESPONSIBILITY FOR FAULTS PASSED UP

Department Heads Blamed for Bad Sewer Work.

EX-INSPECTOR COMPLAINS

Recently Discharged City Employee Tells of Faulty Construction. Says Appeals Were Futile.

While an investigation of the department of public works was being started by officials yesterday, as a result of recent revelations concerning construction work in the city's sewer system, W. A. McQuiggin, discharged inspector, issued a statement completely absolving from all blame his superior, Orrin E. Stanley, assistant city engineer, and placing responsibility for the inferior work directly on the department heads themselves.

Those higher up, he said, refused to support the men on the job in enforcing high-grade work on the part of the contracting firm.

McQuiggin, who served with both the British and American armies during the world war, was discharged from the city's service recently when it was discovered that defective work had gone into the construction of the Minnesota and Almsworth avenues sewer system, built by Asar & Co., contractors. Stanley, who has been in the service of the city for nine years and is a veteran of the Spanish-American war, was suspended for a 30-day period.

Support Held Refused. "I want it plainly understood that I am not blaming Mr. Stanley for the faulty construction work," said McQuiggin yesterday. "I think he has had very much the worst of it all around. He had practically no authority at all. When those in authority refuse to back us up, we naturally can't do anything."

About the same time McQuiggin was giving Stanley a clean bill of health A. L. Barbur, commissioner of public works, was outlining drastic reforms about to be instituted in that department.

Hereafter a complete check is to be kept on every employee of the department. A. O. Wharton, employees' representative, personally is going to aming to have a record of his service to which to refer. The necessity for taking on haphazard employees has passed. After this we are going to look into the history of every man who comes to work for us. We are going to be sure of his ability, his past accomplishments and his character.

Ineligibles to Go. "During the past year, with the acute labor shortage, we had to take on a number of temporary inspectors in the sewer department who lacked the experience and ability which we desired. It has come to my attention that some of these men employed temporarily were complaining of civil service examination on the presumption that the eligible list would be so small that they would be retained. They were not to be fooled. Every man taken on in a temporary capacity who did not take the examination is going to be dropped. We will not take a man to pick from and we are going to make a careful selection."

City Declared Remiss. McQuiggin, while not attempting to dodge responsibility, disagreed with the commissioner. "The city never supported us properly in our work," he said. "As an example, we might take this very case where the joints were cemented only on top. An inspector on a job has many things to attend to and must necessarily be away from certain portions of the construction work while examining others."

"During our absence from his locality the putty never could take advantage of putting in faulty work. Immediately after cementing a joint he could throw earth into the trench on top of his work. As there are about 65 joints in a city block, it can be seen that this practice of covering the joints almost nullified our work. We ordered them to discontinue the practice and they refused. Then we appealed higher up, but we never got any satisfaction."

A rule would make out reports verbally to Mr. Stanley as he came around, and to his assistant, J. H. Anderson. We would complain about the contractors' practices to them, but they could do nothing for us. "Forget it," suggested.

"At one time recommended that a man-hole be torn out, as it had been constructed very poorly. I made my verbal report to Anderson. The next day he came back and told me to

GREEDY ONES LASHED

TARIFF "LICENSING PROFITEERING" HELD TOO MUCH.

North Dakotan Announces He Will Fight Import Duties Above Payne-Aldrich Rates.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—Certain American business interests were rebuked by Representative Young, republican, North Dakota, today during consideration of tariff revision by the House ways and means committee for asking duties which he charged would amount to licensing them to continue profiteering.

Earlier in the day Senator McCumber, republican, also from North Dakota, had announced he would seek an increase in the duty on wheat from 30 cents to 50 cents a bushel. He declared the higher rate necessary to stop "enormous importations" of wheat from Canada.

Mr. Young said he was "getting tired" of witnesses coming to ask for prohibitive tariff rates and relating how German competition was cutting into their trade. He said that a lot of industries were complaining of competition when "what has hurt a lot of these industries is the definite decision of the consuming public to submit no longer to war prices."

"The war is over," he said, "and the consuming public is asking why war prices also are not gone. If we grant the rates most of these interests are seeking we will stimulate a continuation of profiteering."

came up during the testimony of E. T. Whitler in behalf of the railroads, which are asking abrogation of the national agreements.

The discussion was precipitated by A. O. Wharton, employees' representative on the board, began questioning Mr. Whitler regarding the employment of car repair men. Under the rule, employees must have had four years' experience in car work. Mr. Wharton brought out that men were employed on many roads who did not have four years' experience. Mr. Whitler replied that this was necessary because men filling the requirements were not available.
