TOURING.

This car is not a "bargain." That is, it has not been doctored up to cover defects in the motor or running gear, and offered at a "sacrifice." The price is stiff, but it is worth every cent I am asking for it, and I will guarantee it to be free from any mechanical defects, subject to the examination of any mechanic you pick. If you want a car that has more power than you will ever want to use; the easiest riding car you were ever in; a car that will respond to the slightest touch of the accelerator; a car that combines grace of outline with speed and power, you will appreciate my Marmon. I've good reasons for selling, but I'm in no hurry and I'm going to pick the new owner. I will not discuss the car over the phone nor entertain any proposition from a dealer. Write me for a personal appointment. W 455, Oregonian.
