Senator Stanfield said, when in Portland, that the matter of patronage would not be formally discussed until after congress started. Congress has started so the next thing is for Senator MeNary and Senator Stanfield to compile a list of all of the applicants and then assort the accompanying testimonials and recommendations.

An opportunity school will be an important part of the summer programme of the Young Women's Christian association. The dates are June 27 to August 5, and courses will be offered in Latin, English, history, mathematics and French, as well as in elementary subjects.

Miss Blanche Small of the Irvington school, who was in charge of the elementary work last summer, and was unusually successful, will be in charge again this year. Senator Stanfield said, when in Portland, that the matter of patronage would not be formally discussed until after congress started. Candidate Has 600 Letters. One canditdate for United States marshall is said to have 600 letters in his behalf. This sounds pretty skoo-kum, but another candidate for the same appointment has caused 700 let-ters to be written. One thing the campaign for federal jobs has done is to increase the sale of postage stamps and strengthen the market in sta-sonators will endeavor to get in their fine work.

It has been said that the three house members will be invited to sit in, but the representatives in congress are not particularly anxious to do so. This patronage, outside of the small stuff in the postoffice line, goes to the senators and the representatives may consider that it is a thankless task to vote for or against applicants in whom they are not personally interested. If it comes to a showdown, however, and the senators cannot find someone on whom to compromise, then the representatives may step in, but otherwise the house members are not expected to vote. At bers are not expected to vote. At least, this is the way the situation is figured out in local political circles.

At the meeting of the Alberta Forward club held at the home of Mrs. R. C. Crane 505 Going street, Thursday, the members responded to rolicall with quotations on spring, and Mrs. A. C. Perrin gave an interesting talk on the ground gof gladioli. Officers elected for the coming year were: Mrs. R. N. Pogne, president; Mrs. B. M. Hurst, vice-president; Mrs. B. M. Hurst, vice-president; Mrs. B. M. Hurst, vice-president; Mrs. Dwight Green, secretary, and Mrs. J. B. Clark, treasurer. A dainty luncheon was served.

kum, but another candidate for the same appointment has caused 700 letters to be written. One thing the campaign for federal jobs has done is to increase the sale of postage stamps and strengthen the market in stationery.

Having assorted the applicants for each postition, the senators will see a series of mountains on the desk, if they can find a tabletop large and spacious enough to carry some 200 heaps of letters and applications. Then will start the game of picking the winners. So far as known, the two senators are not of one mind for any individual for any job. In other words, while most applicants think they have the support of both senators, most of them have the support of neither and only a very limited few have the backing of either.

Seasion is to Be Held.

Because things are as they are, the senators will engage in a session which would make the average member of the diplomatic corps look like a rank amateur. First each senator will have to feel out his colleague on each of the several score of candidates. It will not take long for the Rebeksh assembly to be held at Albany May 7. Amelia de Vors was also unanimously recommended for deputy district president. A large class of candidates will be initiated at the next meeting to be held Tuestanged on the discard, and when this has been accomplished, and the field narrowed down to the possibilities, the senators will endeavor to get in their fine work.
