AMERICAN BUSINESS MEN TO TALK TARIFF

U. S. Chamber of Commerce Meets Next Week.

NATIONAL POLICY IS TOPIC

Protection as It Affects Foreign Trade Viewed From Standpoint of Creditor Nation.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., April 20.—Many questions at present agitating the business world will come up for discussion at the ninth annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, to be held in Atlantic City April 27 to 29. A large attendance is expected.

The proposition to change the tariff will be considered in these phases: Should the tariff not be framed with due regard to export trade sales or the protection of manufacturing in the United States? Should the fact that the United States now is a creditor national alter the American tariff policy with respect to protection? Should the United States tariff offer trading or bargaining possibilities for international commercial treaties to encourage export trade? Should the United States tariff be liberal in its provisions in view of the American desire for liberality of tariff on the part of other countries?

Exposition in 1926 Favored.

A resolution favoring the holding of an exposition in Philadelphia in 1926 to commemorate the 150th anniversary of American independence, with proper business, governmental and foreign support, will be offered for adoption.

Other proposals that are expected to be acted upon by the convention are:

Preparation of legislation calling for an aeronautical code and the necessary machinery for its enforcement.

Promulgation of desirable and economic methods of adjusting commercial disputes and also offering relief to the courts whose dockets are usually crowded.

Necessity that independent lines of communication, cables, etc., be developed promptly between the United States and other countries.

Reconsideration of cuts in appropriations for consular service so that export business will be in all-American hands.

Trade Laws to Be Adjusted.

Adjustment of laws relating to foreign trade so as to give merchants and firms a competitive opportunity with the nationals of other countries.

Creation of a federal highway commission to lay out and direct construction and maintenance of an interstate system of highways.

Modification, amendment or repeal of all legislation that restricts the operation of natural economic laws.

Adoption of a national budget system.

Development of the American merchant marine and of ports on the Atlantic and Pacific.

Insistence upon proper treatment and facilities for American ships in foreign ports.

Reduction of freight rates, if it can be done without impairing railroad credit and efficiency.

Readjustment of wages, valuation, taxes, cost of production and cost of living.

TEACHERS HIKE 30 MILES

ONE HAS NARROW ESCAPE FROM DEATH IN OCEAN.

Miss Bloomberg and Miss Palmerlee Walk Along Coast to Attend Institute at Newport.

NEWPORT, Or., April 20.—(Special.)—Miss Bloomberg and Miss Palmerlee, teachers at Devil's Lake and Taft, respectively, arrived here last night after a 30-mile hike down the coast to attend the teachers' institute here.

Miss Palmerlee had a narrow escape from being drowned in the tide at Schooner Point and was perched high on the cliffs when a party of men from this city found her. The party had been sent out by Miss Bloomberg, who had seperated from her companion and who had arrived in Newport alone.

The girls separated because one of them was afraid to walk over a railroad trestle at Otter rock. Miss Palmerlee started down the beach and reached Schooner point about dark.

The tide was coming in, but she kept on in hopes of rounding the point before the water reached the rocks. By the time she found that the water had closed in ahead of her the path behind her also was flooded. The young woman climbed up a cliff and perched there in the rain until she was rescued by A. J. Van Wassenhove, who heard her cries for assistance. She has recovered from the effects of her adventure.

Governor Denies Extradition.

BOISE, Idaho, April 20.—(Special.)—Governor D. W. Davis today denied the demand of the governor of Montana for extradition of Patrick Burke of Wallace, wanted in Butte on a charge of larceny. After a hearing begun Tuesday and continued to today the governor decided that the complaint on which Burke was arrested was defective, as contended by his attorneys. Burke, who operates a mine at Murray, was accused of defrauding persons at Butte of $3000 on misrepresentations. The nature of the offense was not clearly stated and the owners of the property secured were not established in the complaint.

Work on Highway Begun.

NEWPORT, Or., April 20. — (Special.) — Thomas E. Young, Portland contractor, started work on the grading of the highway between this city and Toledo today. This contract was started last year and will be finished in a short time. This stretch of road is one unit between Newport and Benton county. Upon completion of grading the state highway commission is to place rock on this piece this year.

Gilliam Taxes Delinquent.

CONDON, Or., April 20.—(Special.)—Owing to the low prices of wheat, wool and livestock, only about 70 per cent of the first half taxes for Gilliam county have been paid, amounting to $103,600.

MOVING PICTURE NEWS

TODAY'S FILM FEATURES.

Rivoli—Mack Sennett's "A Small Town Idol."
Peoples—Vera Gordon, "The Greatest Love."
Majestic—Gladys Brockwell, "The Sage Hen."
Liberty—Charles Ray, "The Old Swimmin' Hole."
Columbia—Mae Murray, "The Gilded Lily."
Star—Leatrice Joy, "The Invisible Divorce."
Circle—Wanda Hawley, "Her Beloved Villain."
Hippodrome—Corinne Griffith, "It Isn't Being Done This Season."
Globe—"Polly With a Past."

IN these days of much heavy melodrama and pastry-flinging comedy "The Old Swimmin' Hole" at the Liberty is as refreshing as a dip in the aquatic paradise of boyhood presented in the picture. The production is an ideal vehicle for Charles Ray, and the master of country-boy roles does the best work of his career.

The theme of the picture was taken from the poem of the same name by James Whitcomb Riley. It is a simple story, filled with human and appealing situations which are handled splendidly. A remarkable thing about the picture is the absence of a single caption or sub-title. Without these mechanical aids the story moves so smoothly that an audience often does not realize this interesting fact. This is said to be the first picture made in this way.

Ray's talent and sincerity are shown vividly, and he wins laughs with almost every gesture and facial expression in many scenes. The plot deals with the adventures of Ezra, a carefree barefoot boy. His hatred of school, his fights under the rules of the chip on the shoulder, his first smoke in the "pirates' cave," and dozens of other simple, human incidents in everyday life in a small village are shown in a skillful way.

Ezra is also at the age of puppy love and his romantic adventures are divided between a haughty beauty who scorns his attentions and the little girl in pig-tails who finally wins him as a steady beau after many disappointments. "Whiskers," a frisky little dog who has appeared in other pictures with Ray, shares honors with his master and adds a realistic touch to the picture. The settings of the production are a treat.

Screen Gossip.

"It Isn't Being Done This Season," starring Corinne Griffith, will be the motion picture offering at the Hippodrome theater today. Miss Griffith takes the part of Marcia Ventnor, a girl whose mother, on her deathbed, has warned her that men are to be sought only because they have money.

After the mother's death Marcia is wooed by two men, Oliver Lawton, penniless heir to a great fortune, and George Hunt, a rich rug importer. Her choice between them and the manner in which she tests her husband's love makes up a striking plot.

* * *

Production of Pauline Frederick's latest film, "The Greater Love," is being hurried by Henry King, Miss Frederick's director, who is preparing to make a three-weeks' trip to New York on a combined business and pleasure mission. While there Frank Borzage, the famed director of "Humoresque," will take him on a tour of the new plays and roof shows.

* * *

Plans are completed by Louis B. Mayer for filming "The Wandering Jew." It is an interesting coincidence that the stage version of this famous classic is to be put on in the fall by David Belasco.

* * *

On completion of her current production, Mildred Davis will take a motor trip through the high Sierras with her mother and small brother Jack. Accompanying her are to be her fishing pole and her mountain attire, and she is thus to take the first real vacation she has had since she came to Los Angeles two years ago to play opposite Harold Lloyd.

* * *

Tom Santschi will star in another series of eight out-of-doors pictures to be produced by Cyrus J. Williams, according to a contract just signed.
