

AUTOMOBILE STAGE TERMINAL PLANNED

Station on Park Block Is Believed Feasible.

SEVERAL SITES EXAMINED

Project Proposed by Council Members, It Is Believed, Would Relieve Congestion.

Establishment of an automobile stage terminal on the park block bounded by Burrasie, Couch, Park and West Park streets to be operated by the city of Portland, was proposed by members of the city council yesterday following an inspection of several proposed terminal sites.

The only obstacle to the plan at present is the possibility that provisions in the donation deed of this property might prevent the city using the block as an automobile terminal. City Attorney Grant has been requested to investigate this phase of the subject, and unless such a provision is encountered, it is expected that the council will authorize establishment of the terminal.

It is proposed that the city erect a small passenger station and provide for revenue from the stage lines operating from the terminal sufficient to care for its maintenance. With such a plan in operation city officials believe they would be able to control the automobile stage business.

Congestion Relief Seen. If the terminal is established, as planned, no stages will be permitted to stand on streets in Portland. All stages would be required to use the city terminal at all times and it is believed that such a plan would greatly relieve the downtown congestion.

Members of the city council also believe that if it is decided to revoke stand permits now held by for-hire cars and taxicabs, provision could be made for these cars in an adjoining park block.

City Commissioner Barbur advocates the widening of the downtown streets, as well as the removal of commercial cars as the best solution of Portland's traffic problem.

Mr. Barbur holds that the present streets were laid out for a village and that they must be widened to accommodate the business of a growing city.

Old Plan Inadequate Now. "Seventy years ago our downtown streets were planned," said Commissioner Barbur. "Quite naturally the men who laid them out had no idea that Portland would develop into a large city. Portland must widen its main arteries to care for business needs. If this is not done now we will be forced to extend business blocks a few years hence to get relief."

The city council will tackle the for-hire car problem next Tuesday afternoon. Not many days later the entire traffic adjustment plan will reach the council, and it is believed that before June 1 Portland will have a complete traffic code so far as parking of cars is concerned.

Agitation for several years has crystallized to such an extent that there is now a demand that the city council take up the traffic problem and solve it. Several times Mayor Baker has attempted to lead the way in a traffic readjustment, but on each occasion members of the council have blocked his efforts.

GUARD NUMBERS CHANGE

Pre-War Numerals to Be Given Several Oregon Units.

SALEM, Or., April 21.—(Special)—Several Oregon guard units again will have numbers they had before the world war, according to an announcement made by Adjutant-General White here today following the receipt of orders from the war department at Washington.

The 8th infantry, under the reinstatement order, will become a part of the 182d infantry of the 82d brigade of the 41st division.

Battery A will become a part of the 147th field artillery, while the Portland and Medford companies will have affiliation with the 164th infantry. The engineers of Portland will become a part of the 116th engineers.

Another order received by the adjutant-general today complained that carelessness had been displayed by a number of military officers in Oregon with regard to flying the American flag at half mast during the day of interment of men and women who served in the late war. Under the order, the flag must be displayed at half mast on all armories on the day of interment between the hours of 8 A. M. and 6 P. M.

PAVING PLANS REVISED

Work Will Be Rushed on Pacific Highway in Clark County.

VANCOUVER, Wash., April 21.—(Special)—Plans for paving the Pacific highway, between La Center and Pioneer, have been changed by the state highway department.

The first pavement will be laid ten feet wide, half the width, for 1900 feet south of La Center bridge. This will not close the road. Then the machinery will be moved to nearly a mile south of Pioneer, where the road will be paved the full width from there to the La Center bridge. The detour will be by Ridgefield to one mile west of Pioneer on pavement, taking the old mail route to La Center.

It was expected that the entire pavement will be completed and ready for traffic 45 days after the actual construction starts, which will be next week.

97 WATER PERMITS GIVEN

Construction of 180 Miles of Canal Authorized in 3 Months.

SALEM, Or., April 21.—(Special)—Ninety-seven permits to appropriate water were issued by the state engineer here during January, February and March, 1921, according to a report prepared here today. These permits covered the irrigation of approximately 6500 acres of land, development of 20 horsepower, and the construction of 180 miles of canal. The estimated cost of the construction work was $1,400,000. Seven reservoir permits were issued, covering the storage of 1400 acre feet of water at an estimated construction cost of $22,000.

Included among the most important of these proposed developments are: The construction of the municipal water supply system by the city of Molalla, which contemplates the expenditure of $45,000 in securing water supply from Trout creek. The city of Walls, Wash., contemplates the extension of its pipe lines on Mill creek in Umatilla county, Oregon, to obtain water above the present intake, at an estimated expenditure of $92,000. E. G. Faveil of Lakeview contemplates the development of the hot springs located near Lakeview for domestic, medicinal and heating purposes, at an estimated cost of $10,000.

The Ontario-Nyasa Irrigation company of Ontario contemplates the appropriation of additional water from the Snake river for the irrigation of 126 acres of land. The Deser Creek Lumber company of Minam secured permit to appropriate water from Deer creek and a reservoir for fluming lumber at a estimated cost of $6000.

The Regue River Valley Canal company of Medford in connection with the work being done for the Medford irrigation district.

ROTARY CLUB IS FORMED

McMinnville Initial Meeting Is Attended by 25 Citizens.

McMINNVILLE, Or., April 21.—(Special)—Twenty-five citizens attended a dinner at the Elberton hotel in this city last night to listen to District Governor Pike of the 22d district of Rotary clubs on Rotary as it is applied to personal and commercial life. It was voted to organize a Rotary club here.

A temporary organization was effected by the election of Dr. William Stryker, temporary chairman, and Tom Parsons, temporary secretary. Two committees on organization were appointed. The committee on constitution and by-laws is Matt Corrihan, W. P. Macy and James Hurdett. The committee on nomination of directors is W. L. Osborn, A. W. Cameron and Dr. W. H. Barendrick.

The club will meet next Wednesday to elect a board of directors.

MEXICO RADICALS BUSY

Elaborate Preparations Made for May Day Celebration.

MEXICO CITY, May 21.—Elaborate preparations for May day celebrations throughout Mexico are being made by radical elements and in some quarters there is apprehension that the observance of the day may lead to disorders.

Government authorities, while inclined to look on the demonstrations as mere outbreaks for radical enthusiasm, are prepared to meet any emergency.

Linn A. E. Gale, an American radical, expelled from Mexico April 1, as a pernicious foreigner, has returned to this city, according to a parently well authenticated report.

IMMIGRATION BILL WILL PASS HOUSE

Final Action on Measure Now in Prospect.

LARGE MAJORITY CERTAIN

References to Undesirable Aliens, Attributed to Secretary Hughes, Quotations From Reports.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 21.—Final action in the house on the temporary immigration bill, with indications of its passage by a large majority, was in prospect tonight after the house, sitting in committee of the whole, had voted down numerous amendments.

The bill would limit aliens seeking admission to the United States to 3 per cent of each nationality registered by the 1910 census, and would be in effect for 14 months.

Amendments were adopted permitting aliens suffering religious persecutions to enter the country in excess of the 3 per cent specified, provided they present satisfactory proof of their admissibility to the immigration officials.

Investigation by the house immigration committee of conditions at Ellis Island was urged in the house today by Representative Dowell, republican, Iowa. He read a letter from Governor Kendall of Iowa, charging that Mrs. Lucia Leo, wife of Frank Leo, Des Moines, died as a result of exposure and neglect to which she was subjected on her arrival from Europe with her young child.

The letter said Mrs. Leo was detained at Ellis Island ten days and "no provision made for her comfort or convenience." Mrs. Leo died shortly after joining her husband, it was added, and the husband, worried by her death, had disappeared.

Protests Deluge Secretary Hughes. Protests are continuing to be made to the state department as a result of an Associated Press dispatch which incorrectly stated that Secretary Hughes had recommended to congress rigid restrictions on immigration, and had characterized immigrants of certain nationalities, among them Jews, Lithuanians, Russians, Armenians, Persians and others, as undesirable.

In reply to all these the state department is pointing out that Secretary Hughes made no recommendations whatever, and made no characterization of any class of immigrants. His letter to Representative Johnson of Washington, chairman of the house immigration committee, was purely a formal one, transmitting paraphrased abstracts of reports concerning immigration received from officials of that government who have been abroad.

The paraphrase of the reports concluded that "there are, of course, many individual exceptions to the classes which are characterized as undesirable immigrants, but the congressmen, nevertheless, take exception to the document. While Secretary Hughes personally signed the letter, it is understood that he did not personally read the reports which were attached in the usual manner in which replies to congressional requests for information are prepared.

Although officials who prepared the paraphrases edited them vigorously, they are frank in saying they feel now they did not edit them vigorously enough. The original reports in some instances went much farther than the paraphrases in the characterizations which are being objected to.

Liquor Possessor Fined. T. Vassiloff, who was arrested in his soft-drink establishment Wednesday morning in possession of two pints of moonshine, was fined $100 and sentenced to 10 days in jail yesterday by Municipal Judge Rossman.

Crop Conditions Good.

BEND, Or., April 21.—(Special)—Spring plowing in preparation for sowing potatoes is well under way on the ranches of central Oregon. Planting will begin in about three weeks. Winter grains were reported in excellent condition, the unusually heavy precipitation during the winter providing sufficient moisture even for unirrigated lands to carry the crop well into the summer.

Traffic Offender War Goes On.

Motorcycle patrolmen under command of Lieutenant Ervin continued their drive yesterday on traffic offenders with the result that 46 persons faced Judge Rossman in police court during the course of the day. A major portion of the violations were for cutting corners and driving with improper lights, although a few speeders were included in the police court line-up. Fines ranging from $1.

LORD DOUGLAS TO WED
MRS. BARNARD MOSSELMANS OF LONDON BRIDE-TO-BE.
Third Son of Late Marquis of Queensberry Divorced Recently From California Dancer.

LONDON, April 21.—Announcement has been made that Lord Sholto Douglas, third son of the late Marquis of Queensberry, next Saturday will marry Mrs. Barnard Mosselemans of Park Lane, this city. She is a daughter of a wealthy Dutchman. Lord Douglas received a divorce May 21, 1920, from Loretta Mooney, the California dancer, whom he married in May, 1895.

SPOKANE, Wash., April 21.—Lord Sholto Douglas purchased a saloon and a lodging house here in 1903 and a year later he held a "grand closing" at which he gave away his entire stock of liquors and cigars. Afterward he bought a ranch in British Columbia. He was accompanied by his wife during his residence here.

OAKLAND, Cal., April 21.—Lord Sholto Douglas met Miss Loretta Addie Mooney of Oakland, a dance hall favorite, in 1895, in Bakersfield, Cal., where he was looking over ranching properties. They were married in San Jose, Cal., in May of that year. The honeymoon was spent in an Alameda Beach cottage. When his remittance from England was cut off, the wife returned to the stage in Los Angeles. Lord Douglas later took out a $110,000 insurance policy in her favor. He is said to have conducted a cigar store in Seattle, Wash., and a jewelry business in Detroit, Mich.

In 1906, Lord Douglas was arrested on a charge of bigamy at Lake Sebage. Mistaken identity was proved. He was acquitted by a jury in 1909 at Nelson, B. C., on a charge of shooting with intent to kill J. B. Rowlands, British ex-officer.

A Case of Persistency Keeping at It

PERSISTENCY earns a big reward in business. It carries individual and institution over many rough spots in the road to success.

True savers and business builders go on—finding opportunity in conditions which to the less courageous would spell adversity.
