

HOME INVESTMENTS HELD HOPE OF CITY

Too Much Money in Foreign Bonds, Says H. H. Ward.

PORTLAND'S NEED CITED

Sugar Refinery, Tannery, Smelter, Rubber and Silk Manufacturers Declared Necessary.

The importance of stopping the flow of Portland investments in out-of-town securities and diverting it to build up the industries of this city was emphasized by H. H. Ward of the Portland Vegetable Oil Mills company...

Mr. Ward said that at the present time Portland needs, and needs badly, a sugar refinery, a tannery, a smelter for copper and lead ores, a silk manufactory and a rubber factory.

In fact, Portland's needs for local manufacturing plants to utilize the raw materials of the orient are so great that Portland people should be encouraged to invest their money in local enterprises...

The speaker also urged the establishment of a clearing house for investment securities with the purpose of investigating all proposed stock issues and the values of stocks of all going concerns...

UMBRELLA FACTORY OPEN

PORTLAND BECOMES CENTER OF NEW INDUSTRY.

Concern Has Attractive Storeroom, With Shops in Rear; Capacity 1000 Parasols Weekly.

Portland became a center of the umbrella industry last week when the newly organized National Umbrella Manufacturing Company...

The new concern has already started operations and is turning out quantities of umbrellas and parasols. At the present time six parasols are employed, and as the demand for the new Oregon product increases...

A feature of the industry is the fact that all the wood stock will be made from Oregon woods. The new concern has an attractive store room with shops in the rear and in the basement.

MOTION PICTURE NEWS

DOUGLAS MACLEAN AND MARGARET LIVINGSTON IN "THE HOME STRETCH" AT THE MAJESTIC.

DOUGLAS MACLEAN AND MARGARET LIVINGSTON IN "THE HOME STRETCH" AT THE MAJESTIC.

TODAY'S FILM FEATURES. Columbia—Milton Sills, "The Faith Healer." Fox—Diana, "Ducks and Drakes." Peoples—Daniela Bremer, "Not Guilty." Majestic—Douglas MacLean, "The Home Stretch." Liberty—George Beban, "One Man in a Million." Star—C. W. Ray, "The Home Stretch." Circle—Agnes Ayres, "The Puritans." Hippodrome—Jack London's "The Little Fool." Globe—Cecil B. DeMille's "Forbidden Fruit."

DOUGLAS MACLEAN goes through "The Home Stretch" at the Majestic featuring a trail of laughs and thrills with his clever work in a fast-moving drama of race horses and romance.

Much of the action in the story takes place at the race track, and proof of the quality of these scenes is shown by bursts of applause which greet the screen appearance of the racing thoroughbreds.

According to reports, "Over the Hill," the picture starring Will Carleton, is encountering an enthusiastic reception in other cities. It is now in the eighth month of a continuous Broadway run.

Pearl White will soon be in Paris, where she is going on vacation after a winter of hard work in New York to purchase gowns for her next season's wardrobe.

Lewis S. Stone, who is known as one of the most finished leading men in the screen, is finally coming out all right for the right persons. MacLean furnishes another big thrill when he jumps off an ocean liner just leaving port. The supporting cast is well selected throughout.

VIRGIN SOILS NEED CARE

POTATOES DO NOT ALWAYS THRIVE, SAYS EXPERT.

Fertilizing Regarded as Necessary in Order to Insure the Best Yields Every Year.

HOOD RIVER, Or., May 1.—(Special.)—Gordon G. Brown, horticulturist of the Hood River experiment station, who has been experimenting with potato fertilizers for several years, said many growers were inclined to place an unduly high premium upon virgin soils for potatoes.

"The assumption is that gradually soils become depleted of plant food and crops will run small," he said. "Where fertilization is not practical this undoubtedly is true. On the other hand, with good management and proper fertilization, yields may be increased gradually over that of virgin soil."

"Last year the experiment station conducted a series of tests to determine the best local potato fertilizer. One of our plots was run shot and near Parkdale. Clover was turned under previous to planting. The soil was handled in a thorough and systematic manner. Nitrogen was furnished by nitrate of soda, phosphoric acid by superphosphate and potash by sulphate of potash. Nitrate was used at the rate of 300 pounds an acre. When used alone this did not increase yields. In fact this plot showed less marketable potatoes than unfertilized area."

BIG APPLE YIELD EXPECTED

Yakima Valley Crop Promises to Be Record-Breaker.

PROSSER, Wash., May 1.—(Special.)—Yakima valley will have a bigger crop of apples this year than in 1919, when all previous records were broken, unless further damage occurs, according to A. M. Nyberg, local representative of Albert McMahon, a New York fruit buyer, with whom he is negotiating for the purchase of orchards between Sunnyside and Benton City.

ARMY HARNESS OFFERED

OREGON FARMERS CAN BUY ARTILLERY SETS CHEAP.

State Farm Bureau and Extension Service of Corvallis Co-operate to Procure Market.

OREGON AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, Corvallis, May 1.—(Special.)—An opportunity to share in the distribution of several thousand sets of harnesses is now being offered through the United States Sales company, Salina, Kan., is open to Oregon farmers.

The harness was bought by the government at $138 a set, and is sold to Mr. Maric to the comparable in weight and quality with harness selling in the local market now at $95. The price charged for artillery harness is $22.50. C. H. Hanson, W. V. Express charges on one set, which will weigh 30 pounds packed for shipping, is $13.07 to Corvallis—practically close to average rate to shipping points in the state.

Orders for sample sets have been telegraphed for each of these agents, who will act without commission, merely to give farmers an opportunity to inspect the harness and forward their checks with orders if made.

Not all the county agents have reported in the matter and others may act as distributors if they so desire.

C. I. LEWIS WINS PROMOTION

Organization Head Made Assistant General Manager of Growers.

C. I. Lewis, organization manager of the Oregon Growers' Co-operative association, has been promoted to the position of assistant general manager, following the reorganization of the staff of the association and election of R. Paulus as general manager by the directors and executive committee April 26.

The promotion is a recognition of the service Mr. Lewis has rendered the association. When he accepted the position of organization manager on August 1, 1919, there were 127 members in the association, which has since grown to 2009 agents. Now the membership is 1619, controlling $2,823 acres.

Before becoming associated with the Oregon Growers' Co-operative association, Mr. Lewis was head of the horticultural department of the Oregon Agricultural college for 14 years. Besides serving as editor and writer for the Oregon Grower, Mr. Lewis is associate editor of the American Fruit Grower and a member of a number of horticultural publications.

LOGANBERRY CROP LIGHTER

Outlook in Salem District Is for Two Tons an Acre.

SALEM, Or., May 1.—(Special.)—The loganberry crop of the Salem district for the year 1921 will average approximately two tons to the acre, according to estimates of the growers in annual session here yesterday.

A committee of growers named at yesterday's meeting, which included buyers from various sections of the northwest later this month when a price for the loganberry crop will be established, now before the county commissioners at the Monday session of the board. The change is asked by the Schafer Brothers company, which has been reduced, thus promising to cut revenues in the immediate future.
