Lawyers for Both Sides Say Hearings Will Continue.

CASE MAY LAST WEEKS

Banker Declared Determined That Courts Shall Decide About Legitimacy of Boy.

NEW YORK, May 15 -- (Special.)-Repeated reports that James A. Stillman would drop his divorce action were denied again yesterday by lawyers for both sides. Mr. Stillman is so determined to have the courts pass on the question of the legitimacy or illegitimacy of the boy, Guy, it was said, that a settlement out of court was deemed impossible.

At the conclusion of the court action, Mrs. Stillman intends, she had told friends, to live quietly in the country and devote her life to the upbringing of Guy. She asked the court to give her also the custody of the other three children, Anna, James Jr., and Alexander, and has told friends that she would like nothing better than to get away from the city and society and take care of the children.

What Mr. Stillman intends to do after the divorce suit is settled is in doubt. Reports have it that he would spend the rest of his life in Paris, but he has said nothing to affirm or deny he has said nothing to afterm or deny these reports.

At the resumption of the hearings May 25 and 26, Mr. Stillman will con-tinue to produce his evidence as to Mrs. Stillman or Guy. The time when Mrs. Stillman will begin to presen-evidence against the banker seems far distant, and the case may drag on for weeks.

TRIBAL INITIATION IS DENIED GENERAL TALKS TO NATIVES

Chief Says Mrs. Stillman Was Not Admitted to Membership.

MONTREAL, May 15.—(Special.)— Chief Peter Delisie of the Caughna-waga Indians denied today the story that Mrs. James A. Stillman was inducted into the tribe of which Fred Beauvais is a member. The chief is a college graduate and has an office

"Mrs. Stillman has never been accorded any connection with our community. In my time the only white person given any tribal bonnection was a Montreal lawyer who performed great services for us and was given honorary membership. That means that the volume of federal reserve notes in circulation is less today by nearly $6 for every man, woman and child in the United States than it was the first of the year. It also measures to some extent, the rigor with which the buying public applied the lash to war-time prices.

Gold Also Pours In. Another factor that helped mightily to build up the vast reservoir of credit to which legitimate business may turn in its hour of need was the great amount of gold which poured into the country during the winter. It is estimated that nearly 200,000,000 in gold has come to our shores from abroad since January 1, all of which is so-called free gold, or gold available for extending credit. Thus, as the reserve banks stand was $1.02. lay, they have a fund of $810,000 .as the law provides that currency loans equalling two and one-half times the amount of free gold can be made, the federal reserve banks have a lending capacity today of more

While two billion dollars measures the potential credit capacity of the federal reserve banks, it by no means measures the credit capacity of the lending banks which come in contact with the man needing money in his business. That two billion dollar fund is not available for direct loans to business men, but for loans to the 10,000 banks in the federal reserve system. Those 10,000 banks, in time of necessity, can take that credit and theoretically expand it ten-fold through the provisions of the law requiring them to keep with the federal quiring them to keep with the federal reserve bank one dollar out of every ten of demand deposits.

ressing of Resolution on Disarm

THE OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU. Washington, D. C., May 15 .- As the result of the introduction of his resolution instructing the president to conduct disarmament negotiations with Great Britain and Japan, there s a near break between Representaive Theodore Burton of Ohio and the administration. It is said that the atmosphere in the vicinity of the White House is not now congenial to Mr. Burton. The substance of the resolution is not its objectionable feature from the White House point of view but the time and manage of view, but the time and manner of its introduction.

At this critical time in international affairs, the president feels that above all things he needs a free hand in conducting his negotiations with the nations of the world. Aside from the German reparations negotiations, there are the Japanese or alien land question, the Yap controversy, the oil supply problem and vexing relations with almost every European nation to with almost every European nation to absorb the attention of the president and state department.

Mr. Burton, administration friends say, must have knewn many of the details of the situation that confronts the president and Secretary Hughes, and to say the least, they assert, his attempt to place on the shoulders of the administration another problem, through the introduchomes Saturday.
