SHOWS 22.8 FEET

Increase in 24 Hours Only Three-Tenths of Foot.

Higher Water Reported From Several Strategic Points of Columbia System

A stage of 22.8 feet in the Willamette river at Portland by Sunday was predicted yesterday by Edward resterday morning showed a stage of 22 feet, an increase of only three-tenths of a foot in 24 hours.

Higher water was reported yester-day from all the strategic points at which the weather bureau has es-tablished observation stations in the Columbia system. At Wenatches the flood had risen .8 of a foot, at Lewis-ton and Umatilla .3 and at The resident of the bank of Woodland, who motored into the city.

"The dikes of drainage districts 5 and 11 are the heaviest and strongest in the northwest," he declared. "Some water is seeping through them, but this is all being taken care of by the water is seeping through them, but this is all being taken care of by the pumping plants. When I left Wood-land fils morning, after inspecting all the dikes, there had been absolutely no erosion, and none can take place. The building of those dikes cost $500,000, and the work was done to last. When the river at Portland reaches a stage of 28 feet, the water will go over the top of our dikes, but there is nothing to worry about until that stage is reached."

TOURISTS SEE HIGH WATER

Columbia at Places Is Mile Wider Than Usual.

HOOD RIVER, Or., May 26 .- (Special)—The high water of the Columbia is providing Columbia river highway motor tourists with new and appealing views. At many points the Columbia is a mile wider than usual, and the wide expanse of water, the islands crowned with light green will-lows and the border of green cliff-sides form pictures of rare beauty. The continued rains of this spring have left the Hood River valley and mid-Columbia districts in fine condi-tion for the motor tourists. Roads, well nacked after scraping were well packed after scraping. never in better condition. Although week by hot, sunshiny days, no smoke has yet developed to produce a haze and obscure distant mountain peaks. Conditions for viewing the mid-Columbia sections are probably better now than at other times of the sum-mer. Roads to Trout Lake, Wash, where fishing is reported excellent and where the student of geological conditions may spend a week observing ice and lava caves, are now at their best.

The Columbia has risen four inches in the last 24 hours. The day, how-ever, has been partially cloudy and extremely cool. River men predict a drop in the stream if similar weather conditions strike the head-waters of the Snake and Columbia.

the dike was still at least 20 feet wide and that it would take five to six feet in uper Catherine creek today. The more of a rise in the Columbia to go over the top or make real danger. Faise reports have originated from the Grand Ronde and the torrent of uninformed persons. Pumps are taking care of the surface and seepage water. Some erosion has occurred from wind and steamer waves but not to affect the dike seriously. Low places are being topped on the diverse of the waters in lower Catherine were rising, owing to the back water from the Grand Ronde and the torrent of the main stream was swishing against and over the banks and dike with tremendous force, but the dikes which were reinforced during the past week seemed to withstand the force. to affect the dike seriously. Low places are being topped out by dredge and teams with scrapers.

No stock has been removed from lands affected. Farmers and dairy-men in bottoms are proceeding with farm work as usual.

COLUMBIA RISING SLOWLY

CREST NOT YET REACHED Stage of Nearly 23 Feet Reached at Vancouver.

> VANCOUVER, Wash., May 26 .-(Special.)-The Columbia river continued to rise slowly today, registering 22.8 feet at 8 o'clock this morning, and by 6 o'clock tonight it was hover-ing very close to 23 feet. The weather was cooler today, but it was expected that the river would continue to rise slowly at least another foot. The high water of 1876 went to the high mark after it had fallen three times, old-timers here say.

There has been so much cool weather and the seaon is so far advanced that there is a possibility of a hot L. Wells, district forecaster, with every evidence that the crest of the flood is not yet in sight and that the steady rise will continue slowly after the stage of 22.8 feet is passed. The gauge on the Morrison-street bridge was less than yesterday.
