BUSINESS OF PORT FOR MAY IS GOOD

100,000 Tons Increase Over 1920 Is Shown.

STRIKE LOWERS RECORD

Trade Better Than in Same Month Last Year, According to Merchants' Exchange.

In spite of strike conditions which held up many vessels and caused a temporary tie-up of a large percentage of the coasters operating in and out of this port, tonnage entering and tonnage clearing from Portland harbor for the month of May aggregated more than 100,000 in excess of the tonnage for the same mont h last year, according to figures compiled yesterday by the Merchants' Exchange.

The total tonnage of vessels entering and those clearing for May, 1921, was shown to have aggregated 326,209 compared with a tonnage of 196,096 for the moth of May, 1920. During May of this year the number of ships entering and clearing amounted to 10 compared with 108.

Strike Keeps Down Tonnage.

If the coasters had not to a large extent been held up by the strike, it was believed that the number of ships for May of this year would have been greatly in excess of the number for the same month last year, and in addition the tonnage figures would probably have been more than doubled.

Aggregate tonnage of vessels entering the clearing for the first five months of this year was shown by the Merchants' Exchange table to have been nearly double the tonnage for the same period last year. During the first five months of the year ships entering and those clearing Portland harbor amounted to 658 with an aggregate tonnage of 1,781,052. Ships entering and clearing for the first five months of last year numbered 525, with a tonnage of 929,224.

Foreign Commerce Increases.

It is in the development of the foreign commerce of the Port of Portland that the most remarkable increase has been shown. Tonnage of vessels entering and clearing this port in the foreng trade was nearly three times as great for the first five months of this year as for the same period last year, and the number of ships was more than double. The table showed that ships entering and those clearing for the first five months of this year amounted to 147, with an aggregate tonnage of 627,855. The number for the same period last year was 71, with a tonnage of 219,435.

There is an increase in the domestic commerce, although it is not so great. Ships entering and those clearing in the domestic commerce of the port for the five-month period this year numbered 511, with a tonnage of 1,153,197. For the same period last year the figures were 454 ships with a tonnage of 709,794.

Tonnage entering and tonnage clearing for the month of May this year in foreign business aggregated 122,167 compared with 70,322 last year. In the domestic business for May the tonnage this year was 204,042 compared with 125,724 for last year.

ATLANTIC CARGOES RECORD

Grays Harbor Sets New High Mark in May Despite Strike.

HOQUIAM, Wash., une 5.—(Special.) Despite the strike of marine workers, Grays Harbor during the month of May established one record for itself in coastwise shipping, that of cargoes to the Atlantic seaboard. Six steamers took a total of 10,671,043 feet of lumber to the Atlantic side, according to figures of the Grays Harbor Stevedore company.

In all only 19 vessels cleared last month, against 39 in April, which was a direct result of the strike, shipping men feel. One reason for the larger shipments to the Atlantic during the strike period was that the ships came to the Pacific with a crew signed for the round trip. The 19 ships carried away 21,945,633 feet of lumber from Hoquiam and Aberdeen.

Two ships took 1,224,304 feet of lumber to foreign ports, and two cleared for Honolulu carrying 1,380,286 feet. The trade along the Pacific coast was under the usual, with 3,650,000 feet.

Activity in shipping circles appeared again yesterday. Steamer Cross Keys came in from Seattle to load 2,000,000 feet at the Grays Harbor and National mills, Hoquiam, for Taku Bar, China. Other vessels are loading.

PRUNE OUTLOOK BETTER

PROSPECTS IMPROVED BY FAVORABLE WEATHER.

Bottom Lands Fare Better Than Hill Orchards and Crop May Be Nearly Normal.

Prospects for a prune crop in western Oregon have materially improved during the past week, according to reports received by the Oregon Growers' Co-operative association. Favorable weather has improved prospects and now reports are that the crop may run 50 per cent of normal:

In the Willamette valley, bottom lands fared better than hill-land orchards. Many orchards will yield almost a normal crop An inspection of bottom land orchards indicates a fair crop of prunes. Many hill orchards that reported no prunes whatever, now have prospects of a light crop, running up to 50 per cent.

In the Umpqua valley Italian prunes will run above the average of the past ten years, according to the association's reports. Petites are doing fairly well in the Umpqua, setting a little less than normal. With about a 50 per cent of a yield of prunes in western Oregon and with the trees in good condition, it is thought that the crop will be of the larger sizes.

According to reports received by the association within the past few days, the general crop situation is as follows:

Cherries — California, 60 per cent crop; Oregon, 60 to 70 per cent; good crop northern Idaho and light in the southern part. Very light crop throughout the east. Estimates for Washington are 500 cars, compared to 460 cars last season.

Pears—In California, 70 per cent crop; good crop in northern Idaho with light crop in southern districts. Washington estimates are 2200 cars this season, compared with 2060 cars last season. Very light crop in the east.

In Oregon the pear district of Medford and Grants Pass have prospects of three-fourths the heavy crop of last season.

Apples—Washington crop estimated at 29,500 cars, compared to 21,100 cars last season. Idaho, prospects of 80 per cent crop. Colorado, 50 per cent crop except Grand valley district. Crop hurt slightly in Utah. Light crop throughout the east.

In Oregon, there will be a large apple crop in the Rogue river valley, in the Umpqua the crop will run two to three times that of one year ago, perhaps the heaviest ever shipped from that valley. In the Willamette valley crop will be about double that of one year ago, and much better quality and larger sizes.

The state board of horticulture of Washington has issued the following report of last season's Washington crop and estimates for this season, as follows:

	1920. Cars.	Est'd 1921. Cars.
Apples	21,100	29,500
Pears	2,060	2,200
Peaches	470	1,000

BETTER STOCK IS SOUGHT

Poultrymen and Cattle Breeders Enlist in Big Movement.

WASHINGTON STATE COLLEGE, Pullman, June 5.—(Special.)—Poultrymen of Washington owning nearly 41,000 birds, 39,000 of which are purebreds, now are enlisted in the "better stock" campaign conducted in Washington since 1919 by the extension service of the state college, according to records in the office of S. B. Nelson, director.

The livestock men, in addition to poultrymen, now enlisted in the campaign own nearly 6000 dairy cows, beef cattle, horses, swine and sheep, nearly 2000 of which are purebred. There are less than 300 scrubs. The rest of the 6000 is made up of grades and cross-breeds.

Counting all classes, 155 of the state's leading stockmen are now lending active support to the campaign, having agreed to raise nothing but purebred stock on their farms. Whatcom county has 40 such farmers, Clallam 26, King 21, Lewis 19, Kittitas 16, Snohomish 13, with Klickitat, Okanogan, Grays Harbor, Stevens, Pacific and Yakima following.
