ment of Vegetables, Melons and Apple Crops.

CHICAGO, June 6 - Trans-continental railways announced today that they will reduce rates on carload shipments of vegetables, melons and ap-ples. A new rate of $1.75 a hundred pounds on vegetables and melons, including cantaloupes, from Pacific nts to destinations east of Chicagand the Mississippi river will be ef-fective as early as possible.

A rate of $1.50 a hundred pounds on apples, without the storing in transit privilege, will be made effective Sep-tember I from Pacific coast terminals and intermediate points to eastern defined territories which include Colorado common points and practically all points cast thereof to the Atlantic seaboard, inclusive.

REDUCTION GOOD NEWS HERE

Action of Railroads Promises to Relieve Situation.

Reduction of freights on fresh vegetables, including melons and cantaloupes and appres in carload lots, from the Pacific coast to Atlantic seaboard territory featured the railroad news yesterday.

The railroads themselves asked that they be permitted to offer lower rates, making them effective as soon as possible. The interstate commerce imission granted the request, and the new tariffs will be published on less than the usual statutory notice.

Voluntary action by the carriers was halied as good news for Pacific coast growers of fruits and vegetables, who would thus be able to reach wider markets with products reach wider markets with products of field and orchard. As another blow at the high cost of living the rate reduction is expected to prove

All transcontinental lines concurred in the lowered tariffs. H. A. Hin-shaw, general freight agent for the Southern Pacific lines in Oregon, was advised from the San Francisco headquarters of the company of the pendhanges, tall of the new rates as made Vegetables, fresh or green, includ-

This is a reduction on vegetables from $2.08% per 100 pounds to $1.75, and on apples from $1.66% to $1.50. Last week there was a reduction in rail tariffs on dried fruits originating in this territory shipped east for export, all of which was said to benefit the farmer and orchardist.

The transcontinental lines have been holding hearings at Chicago on the subject of fruit and vegetable rates to eastern markets. Traffic heads have been in session for about three weeks. G. W. Whether the hands of the railroads were forced, somewhat, by hearings before the interstate commerce commission at various points on the Pacific coast and in the interior recently on east-bound transcontinental rates on fruits and vegetables can only be conjectured. Special hearings were held, however, in California and at Yakima, Wash, where Oregon growers appeared and presented their case, at Boise, Idaho, and Denver. It was considered probable that the railroads, prefering to change their rates voluntarily rather than walt for an order from the commission, presented their request, with the remaining made known yesterday.
