Commission Agrees on Control Within Week.

BRITISH POSITION STRATEGIC

England to Re-establish German Operators.

POLISH BANDS GIVE WAY

Maximum Production of Coal Plants Essential to Welfare of All Europe.

OPPEIN, June 9.—(Special Cable.)—The interallied commission will be in complete control of upper Silesia within one week, if plans on which the commission is agreed can be carried through. General Le Rond, General Sir Harold Stuart and General De Martini reached an understanding today which, if pursued in good faith, will liquidate the Kerfentz revolution quickly, through united allied action. Should the plan fail to work, the British will go through on their own account and occupy the industrial centers, particularly Beuthen and Katowitz.

The outstanding feature in the upper Silesian situation is that the British intend to break the intercession and to re-establish the German mines and to determine whether they will be called pro-German for so doing. If General Le Rond goes with them, well and good; if not, they will go alone.

Strategic Position Held.

They already hold a strategic military position between Gliwicz and the Oder. While they are not empowered to disarm the Polish bands which hamper their progress, they are pushing them along ahead. When they reached Rosenberg the Polish commander was given one hour in which to get his 5000 men out and let the British in. The Poles went, and British occupation was completed without a shot.

Operations at Gliwicz required delicate handling. Colonel Wauchop of the famous Black Watch command, who is in charge there, has met all the requirements with rare skill and tact. He has taken the mine a foot without having some of the French officers beside him and supporting him; so there is no chance for the Poles to cry out that the Germans are coming back under the screen of the British. Colonel Wauchop slipped six mixed French and British battalions between the Polish insurgents and the German Seltschitz along a 20-mile front without losing a man.

Relations Are Improved.

Several villages, where the German Seltschitz were at one end and the Polish insurgents at the other, allied troops, having no power to disarm either of the would-be combatants have to argue both sides to the rear.

Arrivals of British troops at the front has had an effect quite different from that which had been expected. In the field they are working in seeming full accord with the French, while here the differences between the two forces led almost to an open break.

Sir Harold Stuart, who arrived here three days ago, has been the medium for improved relations. He has not hesitated to reprove British members of the commission, particularly Colonel Percival, for having gone too far in supporting the Seltschitz and he has worked effectively to bring about close co-operation with General Le Rond.

Through General Stuart's good offices and energy the occupation of the industrial region will be made by the united British and French, unless orders from Paris prevent, or effect some other disposition of the French troops.

Re-occupation Is Assured.

General Le Rond, with whom I have had a long talk, assures me that there will be complete re-occupation of Upper Silesia by the allies within the next five or ten days. He admits that he has been swept off his feet by General Stuart's energy.

One point he has been able to carry is that the Polish bands will not be disbanded while the German Seltschitz are permitted to carry arms. He says he supposes his personal prestige has been damaged. In my opinion, the position of the French troops in the field has been unfairly attacked. Fault has not been with the troops, but with the inter-allied commission. The French in the delicate position between Gliwicz and the Oder have proved themselves the finest quality of soldiers.

In the initial differences between Jau General Stuart and Le Rond, General De Martini acted as peacemaker and it was largely due to the savvy of the commission in furthering the British intention of replacing the Germans as masters of the industrial region that the promising outlook has been brought about.

This decision went hard with General Le Rond, but he could not help

WOMAN'S JURY BILL MAJORITY WIPED OUT

LATE RETURNS STILL LEAVE MEASURE IN DOUBT.

Soldiers' Bonus and Loan Proposal Continues to Gain, Total Lead Exceeding 48,000.

Additional election returns received yesterday wiped out the favorable majority heretofore given the woman's jury bill and left the measure almost in the balance with a negative majority of 78.

Somewhat as yet to hear from in Baker, Coos, Deschutes, Douglas, Harney, Jackson, Lincoln, Malheur and Yamhill counties and no election figures at all have been received from Lake and Curry counties.

The incomplete returns indicate that the remainder of the vote will be unfavorable to the measure in Baker, Douglas, Harney, Jackson and Malheur, and that they will be favorable in Coos, Deschutes, Lincoln and Yamhill. Complete or official returns have been received from all counties except those mentioned. The final fate of the bill remains in doubt.

The new returns brought up the majority in favor of the soldiers' bonus amendment to more than 48,000.

The following are the present totals and majorities:

Legislative Regulation.
Yes	39,692
No	34,218
Majority against	26,736

Soldiers' Bonus.
Yes	52,258
No	34,218

Frederick O'Brien's Expedition Hits Shadows in South Seas.

HONOLULU, T. H., June 9.—(Special.)—Like nearly all expeditions to the South seas, which start off in a blaze of glory and end in mutiny of the crew, or other mishaps, the expedition of Frederick O'Brien, author of "White Shadows in the South Seas" has hit a shoal of misunderstanding. Practically all the crew of the Wisdom II has returned to San Francisco.

O'Brien had 20 Americans on board when the Wisdom II sailed from San Francisco. Of the bunch but seven remained, and the crew was made up for the remainder of Tahiti sailors.

The Wisdom II visited the Marquesas Isles, Tahiti, Bora Bora and Raiatea before reaching American Samoa, which was the last American port of call for the next two years cruise of the yacht.

SHERMAN COUNTY BEATEN

Yamhill and Washington First to File Election Returns.

SALEM, Or., June 9.—(Special.)—Sherman county, which for many years has had the distinction of being the first county in Oregon to file the returns of elections with the secretary of state, now has to take a back seat. Yamhill and Washington counties filed their returns for first place in filing the results of Tuesday's special election with the state department.

The returns from these two counties reached the secretary of state today. Canvassing the votes in Tuesday's election probably will start early next week and probably will be completed before July 1, according to the secretary of state.

WALLACE URGES CAUTION

Secretary Would Not Bar Legitimate Trade Practices.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 9.—Opposition to legislation which would restrict legitimate methods of grain exchanges was voiced by Secretary Wallace today in discussing the house bill to check trading in grain futures at committee hearings.

At the same time, however, he said there was evident need of some federal control to eliminate evils and abuses.

Plans to Provide Credit for Cattle Raisers, Considered.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 9.—Plans for providing credit facilities for cattle raisers without new legislation are under consideration by treasury officials.

The proposals, it was explained today, would be an alternative to the federal reserve board's recommendations for legislation to make available to the war finance corporation $50,000,000 for loans in the industry.

Scheme of West Coast Fir and Pine Mills to Beat Consumer Is Assailed in Sweeping Report.

THE OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, D. C., June 9.—Organized price-fixing by the mills of the West Coast Lumber men's association of Oregon and Washington, curtailment of production to hold prices up, close co-operation between the Douglas fir mills and those of the Western Pine Manufacturers' association, with headquarters in Portland, in fixing prices, a most effective loggers' association combine, backed by and often owned by the big timber owners, and a dangerous control of the nation's future lumber supply in the Pacific northwest by a few great timber barons, are charged in one of the most sweeping reports—yet made by the federal trade commission in a long document submitted to congress by that commission today.

In the presentation reference is made to a similar report on the Southern Pine association, filed in February of this year, which was followed by prosecutions through the department of justice, and the inference is drawn that the same is expected by the trade commission against the approximately 200 mills in the West Coast Lumbermen's association.

Price Control Is Charged.

Numerous quotations are made in the report from minutes of meetings of the lumber associations affected, correspondence of individual mill managers and committee members handling production and price problems, and the commission says that it has gathered thousands of such documents from which no quotations are made. Out of the whole the commission presents its conclusions that there can be no doubt of deliberate and long-sustained effort by the association to control prices of its products and excerpts from communications of the secretary, R. B. Allen, are offered to show his belief that certain practices had this effect.
