

VOTERS ARE URGED TO BACK COMMITTEE

Choice for School Directors Declared Best Possible.

NOMINEES HELD UNBIASED

Support for Judge E. V. Littlefield, Mrs. Beggs and Messrs. Sammons and Moores Asked.

Support for Mrs. James Beggs, Judge E. V. Littlefield, Charles B. Moores and E. C. Sammons, candidates for school directors at the election Saturday, is urged upon all voters of the city by the citizens' committee, which induced these candidates to run for places on the school board. The statement of the committee issued yesterday follows:

"The vital importance of the forthcoming election to the public schools of the district and the desire to induce suitable men to become candidates induced the City club, in a wholly disinterested way, to name the undersigned committee to undertake that task," the statement reads.

"This committee, after some discussion, selected a sub-committee to ascertain if men and women so well known and of such character as to insure their unselfish devotion to the supreme interest of common school education and their freedom from any bias or prejudice, could be induced to undertake the duty. The matter was given the widest publicity and the date of the sub-committee's report to the full committee was fixed in advance so that all persons interested in the matter could have an opportunity to present their views.

"The sub-committee carefully considered the suitability of the women who had been nominated from other sources. They found both admirably fitted to the position, but it was deemed expedient to nominate only one and some technical objections having arisen as to Mrs. Buland's residence, the choice fell upon Mrs. Beggs, who was found to be possessed in a high degree of the qualifications both in respect to her interest and competence in educational matters and her business capacity for the position.

"Solicitation of many people resulted in acceptance of E. V. Littlefield, Charles B. Moores and E. C. Sammons, all of whom possess capacity and fitness, and who enjoy public confidence. No promise, pledge or assurance was exacted or asked from any of them except that they should, and would, earnestly undertake the duties of the office, if elected, and give to them the necessary time and attention.

"Candidates Held Unbiased. "It is believed that a ticket freer from selfish interest or factional bias was never presented to the public, and it has rarely been possible to induce citizens of such high standing and qualifications and so well known to undertake the arduous and responsible task of school director; certainly never so many at one time. On submission of the report to the full committee, it was adopted.

"We earnestly solicit the support of all voters for Mrs. James Beggs, E. V. Littlefield, Charles B. Moores and E. C. Sammons."

Federation of Patriotic Societies Picks Opposition Candidates.

The Oregon Federation of Patriotic Societies, Inc., has issued a statement to the public, signed by W. C. Eiford, secretary, in which it sets forth its principles and goes on record in support of George B. Thomas, J. E. Martin, N. J. H. Clark and George P. Eisman for election to the board of education at next Saturday's election for school directors.

"As American citizens, regardless of religious or political faith," says the statement, "our attitude is that of protecting and defending our public schools—the little red school house—from the un-American tendency to force upon it sectarian influence and domination, especially by a religious organization which does not believe in our public school system."

COTTON EXPERTS MEET

Uniform Classification Urged by American Delegation Overseas.

LIVERPOOL, England, June 14.—Uniform classification of cotton for the world was urged today before the world's cotton conference by W. R. Meadows, a member of the delegation representing the United States, who has charge of the cotton division of the American agricultural department. J. H. Ziegler of Liverpool, said a uniform set of standards for the world was desirable but declared there were difficulties attending the adoption which perhaps have not presented themselves. The merit of the Liverpool standards was that they were time-honored, he declared. He said he would be loath to see any change made.

It was decided to refer the question of standards to a committee. Giorgio Mylius of the Italian Cotton association, complained that American bankers demanded too heavy security. He thought the signatures of the Italian spinner and Italian banker should be enough. R. S. Hecht of the Hibernia Bank and Trust company of New Orleans, said what worried the average American banker was the political risk. He said the American banker required as much protection as he could get.

BANKING FEES INCREASE

COST OF EXAMINATIONS UP 30 PER CENT.

Decrease in Assets to Reduce Aggregate Revenue, Says State Examiner.

SALLEM, Or., June 14.—(Special.)—Although a new law enacted at the last session of the legislature increases the fees for the examination of banks operating in Oregon approximately 30 per cent, the aggregate to be collected during the first year under the new statute will not greatly exceed that received during the 12 months preceding May 25 of this year, when the new act became effective, according to the statement made here today by Frank Bramwell, state superintendent of banks.

Last year, according to Mr. Bramwell, the state banking department collected a total of $1,848,977 in examination fees, the charges being based on the assets of the respective depositories. Were the assets of these banks to remain the same during the present year the collections would be increased several thousand dollars. The decrease in deposits and other assets of these banks, however, will reduce the aggregate fees considerably, according to Mr. Bramwell.

Under the new law all banks having a capital and surplus of $20,000 and under must pay to the state banking department $30 for each examination. The schedule, as it affects banks having greater capital and surplus, follows: Over $20,000 and not over $50,000, $40; over $50,000 and not over $75,000, $50; over $75,000 and not over $100,000, $60; over $100,000 and not over $150,000, $70; over $150,000 and not over $200,000, $80; over $200,000 and not over $250,000, $100; over $250,000 and not over $300,000, $125; over $300,000 and not over $500,000, $150; over $500,000 and not over $750,000, $200; over $750,000 and not over $1,000,000, $275; over $1,000,000, $350.

In addition to this fee, banks shall pay, at the same time, an amount equal to one two-hundredths of 1 per cent of its total net resources, excepting, however, the deposits of the state, made by the state treasurer, in the designated active depository of the state.

Under the new law all banks having a capital and surplus of $20,000 and under must pay to the state banking department $30 for each examination. The schedule, as it affects banks having greater capital and surplus, follows: Over $20,000 and not over $50,000, $40; over $50,000 and not over $75,000, $50; over $75,000 and not over $100,000, $60; over $100,000 and not over $150,000, $70; over $150,000 and not over $200,000, $80; over $200,000 and not over $250,000, $100; over $250,000 and not over $300,000, $125; over $300,000 and not over $500,000, $150; over $500,000 and not over $750,000, $200; over $750,000 and not over $1,000,000, $275; over $1,000,000, $350.
