

SOUTHARD CASE UP TO HIGHER COURT

Bail Is Refused Alleged Slayer of Husband.

PAPER GIVES UP POISON

Frequent Visits by Woman to Room of Mate in Hospital Recounted by Superintendent.

TWIN FALLS, Idaho, June 17.—(Special.)—Judge Duval at noon today ordered Ann Eliza (Daisy) Meyer Southard held to the district court for trial on the state charges of first degree murder. The court refused a petition of counsel for the defense for option of bail. Judge W. A. Babcock of the higher court announced later this afternoon he would clear his docket tomorrow morning to give right of way for hearing arguments on petition for release of Mrs. Southard on bond.

Trial in the case will not come until the September term, according to Frank L. Stephens, prosecuting attorney. Disposal of the preliminary hearing came suddenly a few minutes before recess at noon, when Prosecutor Stephens, after examining three witnesses today, announced his case was complete.

Chemist Testifies to Arsenic.
The morning's testimony, introduced through four witnesses, tended to strengthen materially the state's case in showing the possibility of the defendant's connection with the death of Meyer through arsenic poisoning. The chief witness today was E. R. Dooley, city and county chemist, who said that examination of stomach, intestinal and hair specimens had revealed the presence of arsenic. He declared that in his judgment the entire body contained more than a killing dose of the drug.

Louis A. Snyder, sexton at the cemetery, where Meyer's body was buried, testified that the grave had remained undisturbed from the time of the Meyer burial to the time of exhuming by the authorities on April 2. A number of sheets of arsenic fly paper were introduced during the period Dooley occupied the stand. These sheets were identified by Granville Haight, manager of the Blue Lakes ranches, as part of a supply brought into and left at the ranch cabin by Mrs. Meyer, who attended her husband during the early part of his illness.

Poison Extracted From Paper.
Asked by counsel for the defense whether arsenic could be extracted from this paper, by what process, and how long it would take to extract, the witness said the poison was readily soluble, that it would come out of the paper under saturation process, and that some would extract immediately while more would pass into the water if the paper were allowed to remain very long. Dooley said that in one square of the paper submitted as a sample for testing, he had extracted four grains of arsenic while from another he procured seven grains.

Miss Georgia Maxwell, next witness, said that the time Meyer was a patient at the county hospital, she was superintendent of that institution. She asserted that she frequently saw Mrs. Meyer at the hospital; that Mrs. Meyer visited her husband frequently in his room; that on at least one occasion she saw Mrs. Meyer alone with Mr. Meyer in his ward.

Asked to fix the time she saw Mrs. Meyer alone with her husband, the witness said she had no recollection from which she could fix the date accurately, but that to the best of her recollection it was on or about the day previous to his death. She adhered to this statement on cross-examination which was brief.

Paul Vinod, Southard, arrived in Twin Falls at 11 o'clock today to be with his bride during her troubles.

ABE ROSENBERG WINNER

UNIVERSITY ORATOR TAKES FALLING PRIZE OF $150.

John J. Canoles of San Francisco Captures Beekman Award in Contest at Eugene.

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene, June 17.—(Special.)—Abe Rosenberg of Portland last night won the Falling Prize of $150 in the Beekman oratorical contest. His subject was "A Debt of Honor Unpaid," it being a plea for adequate compensation for disabled soldiers.

The Beekman prize of $100 was taken by John J. Canoles of San Francisco, who had as his subject "Monuments for the Soldiers." Ralph Hoerber of Portland was the only other contestant. "The New Despotism" was his subject.

Rosenberg is a debater and orator of large experience. He debated for Lincoln high school in Portland, and when a freshman in the university he won both the Old Line oratorical contest and the northwest contest. He also has been a member of several variety debate teams.

Canoles also had considerable experience, having won the state oratorical championship for Albany college two years ago and been a member of this year's variety debate team. He was a member of the team which debated Princeton in Portland last winter.

The Falling prize is derived from the income on a gift of $2500 made by Henry Fallings of Portland, and the Beekman award is from the income from a like gift of $1600 made by C. C. Beekman of Jacksonville. Last year the Falling prize was won by Kenneth Hendricks of Eugene, and the Beekman award went to Ethel Wakefield of Long Beach, Cal.

The judges of last night's contest were F. W. Mulkey of Portland, class of '96; Jennie Beattie Harris of Salem, class of '96; and H. O. Bowen of Eugene.

BRITISH LOYALTY ASSURED
American understanding of world-wide scope, particularly on disarmament.

The correspondent declared, in substance, that while Ireland and the apparent unwillingness of this country to apply the principle of equal opportunities in mandated territories were the chief obstacles to a working agreement between the United States and Great Britain, the first step might be made in agreement to limit expenditures for naval armaments. The dispatch suggested that the initiative in reaching such an agreement might come from the British side. The editorial, referring to the correspondent's suggestion that the coming imperial conference should result in an announcement of the willingness of the British empire to agree to naval disarmament, commended the idea that the plan for limitation be determined by a financial formula. It declared that while Great Britain eagerly reciprocated the desire for an agreement, it must be conditioned to circumstances in which this country stands.

"Obligations of honor, as well as vital interests relative to the maintenance and consolidation of our relations with France on the basis of the Versailles treaty," the newspaper asserted, "are essential parts of our world policy."

The newspaper declares, in discussing the address of Charles E. Hughes, American secretary of state, at Providence, R. I., June 15, that there should be no discrimination in favor of nationals of any country.

While Great Britain should without delay settle the Irish question, the editorial concluded by saying:

"Those who wish Ireland well cannot make a worse mistake than to regard the Irish question, even by implication, as an international problem."

TAXES DEVOUR PROPERTY

SEATTLE IMPROVEMENTS ARE FOLLOWED BY DISASTER.

Several Thousand Pieces of Real Estate Are Facing Foreclosure
as Result of Extravagance.

SEATTLE, Wash., June 17.—(Special.)—The heavy toll exacted for local improvements in Seattle during the last ten years, and its disastrous effects on many property owners, were emphasized when, following a default judgment for delinquent assessments obtained by the city against the Guion Investment company, it became known that foreclosure suits against several thousand pieces of property on which local improvement taxes are delinquent were in process of preparation for the courts.

Marking the inauguration of a system whereby the city of Seattle hereafter will resort to the courts to enforce collection of long overdue payments on local improvement assessments, the Guion case was the first of a series of foreclosure suits against delinquent property on 25 local improvement assessment rolls, six of which already have been docketed in the superior court and the rest about ready for filing.

These proceedings were separate and apart from measures taken by King county to collect arrears of general taxes under which approximately 1600 pieces of Seattle property were sold December 20, 1920, for general taxes delinquent for 1914 and subsequent years, increasing to approximately 10,000 the total number of properties now in possession of the county on tax sales.

Investigation of records in the city controller's and the city treasurer's offices show:

First—Assessments for local improvements in Seattle have averaged more than $2,500,000 annually during the last ten years, despite heavy curtailment during the war.

Second—During the period begun January 1, 1911, and ending May 31, 1921, local improvements and assessments aggregated $28,248,234.70 were turned over to the city treasurer by the city controller for collection.

Third—Annual outlays for local improvements were steadily increasing, last year's rolls amounting to $3,344,617.85, the greatest any year since 1911.

Fourth—With rolls aggregating $1,662,301.35 filed during the first five months, and two large projects aggregating $750,000 to be given to contract this month, local improvement assessments levied during the first half of 1921 exceeded $2,000,000, forecasting a total for the year that will establish a record for the decade.

Fifth—Certificates of sale issued by the city treasurer last year on account of delinquent assessments numbered 10,560, and amounted to $144,000, the number of certificates deemed delinquent for the year being 3901, amounting to $60,000. Tax deeds were issued on 23 pieces of property.

SLAYER STILL AT LARGE
Murder of Benjamin Rich Remains Unsolved in Clarke County.
VANCOUVER, Wash., June 17.—(Special.)—Nothing has been heard of the assassin of Benjamin Rich, Ridgefield councilman slain in his home Sunday night, June 5.

Rewards now offered total $1600. Sheriff Thompson was giving much time to this case.

The county offered a $500 reward, $100 of which was for the arrest of an aged man who might know something of the crime. Residents of Ridgefield offered $500, and a brother, Charles F. Rich of Woodland, offered another $500.

HOUSE PACKER BILL PASSED BY SENATE

Long Fight Over Regulation
Virtually Ended.

FEW AMENDMENTS ADDED

Measure Reported by Senate Committee Rejected, Likewise Sterling Substitute Bill.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 17.—The long fight in congress over legislation to regulate the packing industry was virtually ended today through adoption by the senate, 45 to 31, of the regulatory bill recently passed by the house. Several amendments by the senate necessitated return of the bill to the house, which probably will order it sent to conference.

Passage of the house bill came after seven days of continuous and heated debate and after the senate had voted down the bill reported by the agriculture committee and a measure offered by Senator Sterling, republican, South Dakota.

The house bill as passed provides for regulation of the meat packers of the country by the secretary of agriculture. The agriculture committee bill, which provided for regulation by a livestock commissioner, was rejected, 37 to 34, yesterday and today was defeated again 24 to 31. The Sterling bill, with provision similar to the committee measure except for regulation by the federal trade commission, went down to defeat, 32 to 31.

The more important amendments made by the senate included one by Senator Kenyon, republican, Iowa, requiring packers and stockyard operators to keep such records and statements of account as the secretary of agriculture may require and authorizing the secretary to prescribe uniform methods of accounting and to examine business methods. Insertion of this amendment was described by packer regulation forces as having "put teeth in the house bill."

Another amendment adopted is designed to remove the small butcher from the regulation.

ARMY CUT IS DEMANDED

House Breaks With Senate Upon
Time Set for Reduction.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 17.—Refusing to agree to the senate stand that the war department be given until May 1 next to reduce the size of the army to 150,000 enlisted men, the house, by a vote of 157 to 128, insisted today that the reduction must be carried into effect by October 1.

The house originally had voted $72,000,000 for maintenance of the army during the coming fiscal year, with the understanding that steps would be taken to place the army immediately on a 150,000 basis.

The senate, however, contended it would be impossible to cut the army below approximately 220,000, to 150,000 before next spring and increased the item for pay of enlisted men to $81,000,000 to permit gradual reduction.

Representative Anthony, Kansas, proposed that the house offer to compromise at $70,000,000 and this was adopted. Unless the senate agrees to the house compromise the bill will go back to conference.
