SUBMERSIBLE EASY PREY OF AIR CRAFT

U-117 Sent to Bottom in 16 Minutes by 3 Planes.

DIRECT HIT IS SCORED

Attack Is First of Bombing Experiments to Test Out Claims of Airplane Advocates.

ON BOARD U. S. S. HENDERSON, off Cape Charles, Va., June 21.—(By the Associated Press.)—Within 16 minutes after the first division of naval seaplanes had attacked the former German submarine U-117 today, the submersible was resting on the bottom of the Atlantic, 50 miles from the Virginia capes.

A direct hit with a 163-pound bomb did the work. Only three naval planes had a chance to attack.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 21.—Naval aviators scored a quick "victory" today in the first of the bombing experiments arranged by the government to test the claims of some airplane advocates that aircraft rapidly are making capital ships obsolete. In two attacks at an altitude of 1200 feet, three naval planes of the F-5-L type sank the former German submarine U-117 at anchor 50 miles off Cape Charles lightship.

Victory Surprises Officers.

The squadron scoring the "victory" was the first to be dispatched to the attack and naval officers were surprised that they were successful with such a limited number of bombs. In the first attack three bombs were launched, one by each plane, and all struck near the submarine. Nine bombs, three from each plane, were dropped in the second attack.

Nearly half a hundred other naval planes were ready to proceed to sea to drop bombs, had the first squadron not been successful. Many army planes also were prepared to attack had the naval aviators not sunk the craft.

Plane Catches Fire.

Naval seaplane No. 7 caught fire while 150 feet in the air and fell into Hampton Roads with her crew of three officers and seven men, the navy department was advised by the commandant of the Hampton Roads naval station. The machine was reported a complete wreck, but none of those aboard was injured, though one man was made ill by swallowing a mixture of salt water and gasoline while struggling in the water.

The crew was rescued by a nearby tug, but the plane could not be saved. The report to the department said the big aircraft of the same type as the NC-4, the first heavier-than-air craft to cross the Atlantic, was on its first practice flight and that it was not participating in the bombing experiments against the former German submarine U-117 off Cape Charles.

The plane had only recently been completed and was running low over the water when an explosion occurred. It quickly caught fire and dropped into the water. The cause of the explosion has not yet been determined, but a naval board of inquiry will conduct an investigation.

LABOR ROWS OVER IRISH

Gompers sustained the point of order, and adjourned the convention while several delegates were struggling for recognition of the chair.

The resolution reported by the committee was virtually identical with one submitted by a committee of Irish sympathizers, headed by Peter Brady of New York, except that some of the more drastic phrases were omitted. The committee also struck out a paragraph demanding that President Harding, his cabinet and congress take necessary steps to demand from Great Britain the defaulted interest and loan due the United States and now used in part to "promote the brutal campaign in Ireland."

The resolution reaffirmed the action of the Montreal convention in supporting the Irish people in their struggle for freedom and for recognition of the Irish republic; instructed federation executive officers and asked all national and international unions to urge the administration officials at Washington and all members of congress to immediately pass legislation recognizing the Irish republic.

The resolutions also urged recognition of the Irish republic; provided for the sending of a special communication to the British premier, his cabinet and members of parliament protesting against the "campaign of violence in Ireland"; instructed federation officers to take up with trade unions of Great Britain, her colonies and dominions a proposal to inaugurate a campaign for the trial and punishment of members of the British regular and auxiliary forces guilty of atrocities in Ireland in a manner similar to that in which German officers are now being tried and punished for violation of the rules of warfare in France and Belgium.

Resolution Causes Split.

The boycott resolution, which was eliminated by the committee's report, was introduced by Irish sympathizers as "the official resolution of the Irish republic." It was also responsible for the split among the delegates, as many of them opposed any such action, declaring that a boycott would "work against the interests of the organized workers of Great Britain and her colonies and dominions."

Sam Evans, personal representative of Frank P. Walsh, is here directing the fight to have the boycott adopted.

That labor and capital contribute equally to production and therefore are equally entitled to the profits of industry was the doctrine advanced by Glenn T. Plumb of Chicago, author of the Plumb plan for railroad operation, in an address before the convention.

The government was charged with "fostering and perpetuating" the non-union shop in a resolution adopted by the convention commending the seamen's union for refusing to submit to the alleged "open shop" policy of the United States shipping board.

"The shipping board will permit union men to work and live," the declaration said, "only upon condition that they be sufficiently submissive to the non-union men and strike breakers to be tolerated by them."

"Hiding behind a smoke screen of hostility to union labor," the resolution said that the shipping board was "torpedoing the merchant marine and sea power of the United States."

Andrew Furuseth, president of the seamen's union, in addressing the convention protested the action of the shipping board in establishing the "open shop" as "part of a conspiracy to destroy the American merchant marine."

"The question of wages is secondary in this controversy," Mr. Furuseth said, "but that of conditions is primary. They are primary because of the interest of the whole American public.

"The seamen are more interested in the American merchant marine than in the question of wages."

He declared that the seamen were willing to adjust their differences at any time around the conference table, but the ship owners had refused this privilege.

The veteran seaman was given a rousing ovation when he declared during his remarks that in the contest with the shipowners he "would do nothing fundamentally wrong, if I have to go to jail for it."

Oriental Exclusion Favored.

The federation convention went on record as favoring total exclusion of Japanese and other orientals from the United States. The executive council was instructed to take steps to prevent any modification of the Chinese exclusion act. They also were urged to work for the repeal of the "gentlemen's agreement" with Japan.

"The 'gentlemen's agreement,' has proved to be a failure because the Japanese, in a cunning and stealthy manner, have outwitted the intent of the law," said the approved declaration. "In California alone there are more than 100,000 Japanese.

"This peril is not only a serious condition for California, but it is a positive menace to our entire nation.

"The American Federation of Labor is fully justified in taking a firm stand to do away with the 'gentlemen's agreement' and in its place inaugurate a definite policy calling for total exclusion of Japanese with all other orientals."

Committee Is Named.

President Gompers today announced the appointment of the following committee to immediately take up with the administration at Washington "the promise of the national government to pay the wage award to the employes of the Minneapolis Steel & Machinery company and allied companies":

Martin F. Ryan, Matthew Woll, John Moore, D. J. Davis, Lugi Antonini, William Hannon, E. G. Hall, Joseph A. Franklin, D. G. Ramsey, William E. Fiske, Luther E. Steward, James J. Forrester, James P. Noonan, Edward J. Gainor and Thomas F. Flaherty.

Abolition of "gambling in grain futures on the Chicago board of trade, establishment of co-operative producers' and consumers' organizations, and government regulation of corporations and monopolies" were urged today by the convention of the American Federation of Labor as a means to combat the high cost of living.

The work of the federal trade commission was commended and congress was urged to provide funds for investigation of all industries and publication of statistics showing the cost of production and marketing of all staple commodities.

A resolution presented by the Fargo, N. D., trades and labor assembly asking labor's indorsement of the non-partisan league programme and assistance in selling bonds of the State Bank of North Dakota was referred to the executive council without recommendation.

Pension Plan Fails.

After a lengthy debate the machinists' union failed in an attempt to have the convention instruct its executive council to immediately draft and present a bill to congress providing for old-age pensions with an "urgent request for speedy adoption."

The Kansas' court of industrial relations was unanimously condemned as an institution that "makes for tyranny, injustice and unfreedom, and is inimical to the interests of not only labor, but the farmers and the people generally."

The convention called upon congress "to withstand all efforts to bring about the destruction of the department of labor." The resolution would be sent at once to President Harding, Secretary of Labor Davis and members of congress.

Postmaster-General Hays was commended for establishing an "enlightened and humane policy" in regard to employes of the postal service. The resolution declared that policies announced and put into effect by Mr. Hays met demands made by labor in behalf of postal employes.

Newspaper Plan Held Up.

A proposal that the federation establish a chain of daily newspapers was referred to the executive council for further investigation.

The executive council was instructed to aid rural letter carriers in their efforts to get an equipment allowance from the postoffice department similar to that given city letter carriers.

PICTURE GIVEN OFFICER

Lieutenant-Commander Elder Is Honored by Kiwanis Club.

R. H. Sawyer spoke on the Anglo-Israel movement yesterday noon at the meeting of the Kiwanis club in the Multnomah hotel.

A framed photograph of Portland and Mount Hood was presented by A. E. Wheelock on behalf of the Kiwanis club to Lieutenant Commander Frederick K. Elder, who will leave Portland July 1 for naval sea duty.

Visiting Kiwanians who addressed the local club were Glenn W. Ripley of Akron, O., Harry L. George of Duluth, Minn., and L. H. Robertson of Minneapolis, Minn. Frank McCrillis told the club of the Realty board's trip to Chicago. Fred Merrill of the Oregon dairy council urged the club members to eat Oregon cheese.

Apple Crop Breaks Records.

HOOD RIVER, Or., June 21.—(Special.)—The Underwood, Wash., fruit district, according to growers of the section who have been here shopping, will harvest its record tonnage of apples this year. The crop was estimated at 300 carloads. In 1919, the largest crop ever marketed from the section, reached 287 cars. The Underwood orchards, it was stated, are in a healthy state.

WHY DOES SHE LOOK SO OLD?

This question has been asked about many a woman under thirty, who has married and taken upon herself the cares of a house and young children.

When a woman is suffering from female weakness, bearing-down pains, head and backache and nervous irritation, it is well nigh impossible to attend to her duties and retain the charm and freshness of youth. Must she then struggle on toward the inevitable nervous breakdown or premature old age?

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has saved many women from such a fate. Thousands of grateful letters from such women testify to the merits of this wonderful root and herb medicine for female ills.—Adv.

IRISH TOWN BURNS; PEOPLE IN TERROR

Inhabitants Take Refuge in Church; Arson Attempted.

EARL BANDON KIDNAPED

Band of Men Captures King's Lieutenant and Sets Fire to His Castle; Wife Locked in Stable.

DUBLIN, June 21.—The burning of virtually the entire village of Knockroghery, near Roscommon, by raiders, was reported today. The village contained about 50 houses, only three of which were left standing.

The inhabitants rushed from their houses in terror amid a fusillade of bullets and ran through the fields. Later the children and aged persons found refuge in a Presbyterian church, which the raiders attempted to burn but failed.

CORK, June 21.—(By the Associated Press.)—James Francis Bernard, fourth earl of Bandon, was kidnaped this morning from his residence in Bantry, County Cork, by a band of men. Castle Bernard, his home, was set afire and this afternoon was still burning. Earl Bandon's whereabouts is unknown.

Earl Bandon, who has been king's lieutenant of County Cork since 1874, was born September 12, 1850, and succeeded his father in the earldom in 1877. He is the owner of about 41,000 acres of land.

The earl was kidnaped at 5 o'clock this morning, after which the castle was set afire and virtually destroyed. Meanwhile Lady Bandon and the servants had been locked in a room adjoining the stables.

KING LEAVES FOR BELFAST

Royal Party Gets Rousing Sendoff on Trip to Ireland.

LONDON, June 21.—(By the Associated Press.)—King George and Queen Mary were the objects of a remarkable send-off at the railway station here today when they left for Holyhead on the way to Belfast to take part in the state opening of the Ulster parliament tomorrow.

A great crowd repeatedly cheered the king and queen and sang the national anthem. At intervals there were shouts of "good luck and a safe return to your majesties." The station was gaily decorated.

The king and queen will embark at Holyhead on the royal yacht early tomorrow and proceed to Belfast. The royal vessel will be escorted by two light cruisers and ten destroyers on its trip across the Irish sea.

Elaborate precautions are being made by the police and crown forces in Belfast to insure the safety of the king and queen while they are in that city. Use of the roofs of buildings for any purpose during the hours the king and queen are in Belfast has been prohibited.

PULMOTOR SAVES WOMAN

Aged Seattle Resident Has Narrow Escape in Lake.

SEATTLE, Wash., June 21.—Two men at a boathouse on Lake Washington here today found a woman floating face down, apparently dead, but after hard work with a pulmotor she was revived. At the city hospital it was said she would recover. The police reported that she was Mrs. Anna L. Hollenbeck, 61 years old.

According to the police, she had been missing from her home since early morning and left a note, signed checks and money. Relatives, however, were positive she had fallen into the lake accidentally. She had been in ill health and was said to be subject to fainting spells.

MORE PROTEST EXPECTED

Council Today to Consider Permit for New Hospital.

Renewal of protests against the granting of a permit for erection of a new hospital at East Sixtieth and Belmont streets to replace the present Portland sanitarium buildings is expected at the city council meeting today. A resolution is to be presented by Commissioner Barbur authorizing issuance of the permit.

Residents of the district put up a hard fight before the council about a year ago when a permit was sought for the building. The council disregarded the objections and granted the permit, but the building was not erected. The directors of the hospital have altered their plans and now are ready to begin work on the building if a permit can be obtained. The original plans did not call for the wrecking of the present structure, but the new plans contemplate an entirely new plant.

BRITISH ISLES RETARDED

BANKER SAYS COAL STRIKE HOLDS UP INDUSTRIES.

Normal Conditions Held Dependent Upon Settlement of United Kingdom Labor Problems.

Continuation of the great coal strike is the one big thing that is retarding the return to normal conditions in commerce and industry throughout England, according to F. C. Malpas, manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce of Portland, who has just returned home from a trip to the United Kingdom. He was accompanied by Mrs. Malpas. They were absent from home three months.

"Conditions are better than might be expected, considering what the United Kingdom went through during the war," said Mr. Malpas. "The great coal strike, which has been in progress now for approximately three months, is seriously holding back the return of the country to normal conditions.

"We were attracted to a store in Bond street, London, where a sign announced a sale of Oregon prunes at one shilling and eight pence, or about 30 cents the pound. When leaving New York harbor, outbound, the last steamer we saw heading toward New York was the Oregonian and the first one we saw on reaching Southampton was the Yamhill. We thought that quite a coincidence."

$3000 Given University of Oregon.

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene June 21.—(Special.)—A gift of $3000 from the class of 1896 of the University of Oregon, to be used as a student loan fund, was announced by Dr. Clarence Keene of Silverton on behalf of the class at the commencement exercises yesterday morning. The money is to be used for student loans until the compound interest on it shall make a total of $1,000,000, and then the whole amount shall be turned over to the regents of the university to do with it as they see fit.

Work on Dam Resumed.

GRANTS PASS, Or., June 21.—(Special.)—Work was resumed yesterday on the Savage rapids dam, which is to supply water for the irrigation of 10,000 acres of Rogue river valley lands adjacent to Grants Pass. A force of 75 men was put at work repairing the cofferdam, which was slightly damaged by the high water. It is expected that the dam will be completed within 90 days.

Few Vote at School Election.

ROSEBURG, Or., June 21.—(Special.)—A. N. Orcutt and A. A. Bellows were re-elected as school directors in one of the lightest elections ever held in this city. Only 148 votes were cast. No nominating petitions had been filed.

COURT TO ACT IN STRIKE PICKET ROW

Judge Declares Unions Should Fight Violence.

SEAMEN BALK AT CUT

Cooks, Stewards and Bakers Refuse to Accept Agreement With U. S. Shipping Board.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., June 21.—A motion for a permanent injunction to prevent the Masters,' Mates' and Pilots' Association of the Pacific from picketing or otherwise interfering with the operations of private steamship lines was taken under advisement today by the United States district court. A temporary restraining order was issued two weeks ago.

Judge William C. Van Fleet declared that since the unions themselves disclaimed responsibility for any acts of violence they should join with the shipowners in asking for an injunction against persons committing them. Affidavits were submitted by shipowners in support of their motion, one of them from a woman, who alleged she had been beaten by two members of the union because she refused to tell on which ship her husband was working.

NEW YORK, June 21.—Local organizations of the International Seamen's union and the Cooks', Stewards' and Bakers' union by referendum vote have declined to indorse the agreement reached last week with the Marine Engineers' Beneficial association and the shipping board to end the nation-wide marine strike. This announcement was made today.

GREAT FALLS, Mont., June 21.—Despite action at a mass meeting of citizens here yesterday, declaring their intention to man the city garbage department unless employes on strike in protest against a wage reduction returned to work today, no effort was made to move the accumulation of the last three weeks. Mayor Armour is out of the city.

The wage was reduced by the city council to $5 a day.

BAKERSFIELD, Cal., June 21.—Two hundred and eighty of 286 members of the federated shop crafts of the Southern Pacific company in Bakersfield last night voted to reject the 9 per cent wage reduction awarded the railroads against them, effective July 1, and to strike if the reduction is enacted, it was announced today by M. T. Palmer, secretary of the local crafts. He said a 98 per cent affirmative vote was polled on the rejection.

PORTLAND IN GOOD REPUTE

Rug Dealer Says Merchants East and South Respect City.

Portland has the reputation both east and south as a substantial and financially sound city, is the word brought back by H. O. Cartozian of Cartozian brothers, who has returned from a business trip that included New York, Chicago and other large cities.

"I found that eastern business men felt themselves harder hit by the business slump than do those of the west," he said yesterday. "They spoke of the west with high regard and possibly with a bit of envy.

"Just now the oriental rug business prospects are the most encouraging in years. Three years ago the outlook was dark, due to the sources of supply being closed. The war turned many master weavers into more profitable employment. We thought we saw the end of the industry. Supplies could not be obtained and one of our shipments was two years in transit. Dealers canvassed private homes to increase their stocks.

"Two things have saved the market—the economic misery of the oriental people, which forced them to market their oldest and best weavings, and the world-wide decline of prices and credit difficulties."

City to Buy Power Plant.

MARSHFIELD, Or., June 21.—The city council of Bandon has approved the inventory of the municipal power system and distribution lines, and authorized the committee in charge of the proposed hydro-electric plant to proceed with the purchase of the system and construction of the dams. J. F. Kronenberger, manager of the city system, will remain in charge of the plant until the city procures a new manager.

Powers Resident Robbed.

SALEM, Or., June 21.—(Special.)—While Iva Klyner of Powers was waiting for a train at a local depot last night an unidentified man appropriated her purse containing a railroad ticket from Salem to Powers, a small quantity of money and some valuable jewelry. The purse and jewelry later were recovered from a garbage can, where it had been deposited by the thief.

Vancouver Plans Farmers' Rally.

VANCOUVER, Wash., June 21.—(Special.)—E. J. O'Connell, secretary of the Clarke County Farm Loan association, and M. J. Newhouse, manager of the Washington Growers' association, are planning a big farmers' picnic for this summer. It is proposed to have D. G. O'Shea, in charge of the loan association for the district of which Spokane is the headquarters, speak on the farm loan association.
