

REAR-ADMIRAL SIMS LANDS IN NEW YORK

Bluecoats Massed at Dock to Preserve Order.

EVERYTHING IS PEACEFUL

Naval Officer Is Whisked Away in Automobile and Departs Immediately for Capital.

NEW YORK, June 22.—Rear-Admiral Sims returned home today to explain to Secretary Denby remarks attributed to him in his recent London speech on Irish-Americans.

Refusing to be taken ashore by a cutter, he came up the bay aboard the liner Olympic to meet friends or foes who might be awaiting him near the pier.

Everything was peaceful when the veteran sea dog landed. A thousand bluecoats were massed on the dock to preserve order.

Police lines were drawn several blocks north and south of the pier entrance. Not even when Woodrow Wilson returned from the peace conference were more thorough preparations made.

Admiral First Ashore.

The admiral was the first person to step ashore. He entered an automobile with Rear-Admiral House, commander of the third naval district, who was there to greet him.

Flanked by police, he rode away, announcing he would take the first train for Washington.

From the handful of persons on the pier, there came neither cheers nor taunts.

Among those who met the admiral was his brother.

On the trip from quarantine, the admiral maintained strict silence, declining to make any statement before reporting to the secretary of the navy.

The admiral was dressed in mufti. Indeed, during the voyage, he wore his uniform only at dinner.

Mrs. Sims accompanied him home.

Passengers Cheer Officer.

On her way to the pier, the Olympic passed a sound steamer whose passengers lined the rail.

Across the stretch came the sound of cheers for Sims.

There was no demonstration outside the pier, nor on the way to the Pennsylvania station.

At the station, however, there were a few hoos and cheers and one woman was seen passing a banner.

Admiral Sims in his London speech, the woman was not troubled by the police.

Admiral Sims and his party left for Washington at 11:08 A. M.

Irish Resolutions Sent.

Colonel M. Kelly of the League for the Recognition of the Irish Republic, said a copy of the resolutions adopted by the organization, denouncing the admiral for his speech, was handed to him upon his arrival.

Admiral Sims declared he had not seen the documents.

ADMIRAL SIMS IN WASHINGTON

Conference With Secretary Denby May Be Held Today.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 22.—Rear-Admiral Sims arrived at the navy department today to report to Secretary Denby for questioning regarding his speech in which he was quoted as attacking sympathizers of the Irish republic.

He was accompanied by Mrs. Sims and was met by a few friends. There was no demonstration.

Admiral Sims went directly to a hotel. As his automobile left the station a gray-haired man shouted: " Bravo, admiral."

The officer probably will see Secretary Denby tomorrow.

SOVIET STARS ARE BILLED

TROTSKY, RADEK AND LENINE TO BE AT INTERNATIONALE.

Preliminary Skirmishes Won Over Conservatives and Reports on Conditions Will Be Made.

RIGA, June 22.—(By the Associated Press.)—Leon Trotsky, the Russian soviet minister; E. Zinovieff, soviet governor of Petrograd; Karl Radek, and their followers won preliminary skirmishes over the more conservative elements and have assigned leading roles in the third internationale of Moscow, according to information received from the soviet capital.

A Moscow dispatch from the official bolshevik agency, Rosta, says: "The executive committee of the internationale, together with the delegates, already have arrived and worked out the plan for the congress.

To Zinovieff has been assigned the report on the activity of the executive committee; to Trotsky the international situation and the problems of the communist internationale; to Radek problems of tactics. The report on the internal and external situation of Russia will be made by Lenine, and Hinehook of the Russian central co-operative union will report on the co-operatives."

KING ASKS IRISH TO FORGIVE AND FORGET

Ulster Parliament Opened With Peace Prayer.

BELFAST HALL IS PACKED

Ceremony Similar to That Attending Inauguration of British Body at Westminster.

BELFAST, June 22.—(By the Associated Press.)—"I speak from a full heart," said King George in his speech formally opening the Ulster Parliament here today, "when I pray that my coming to Ireland today may prove to be the first step toward an end of strife amongst her people, whatever their race or creed.

"In that hope I appeal to all Irishmen to pause, to stretch out the hands of forbearance and conciliation, to forgive and to forget and to join in making for the land which they love a new era of peace, contentment and good will.

"It is my earnest desire that in southern Ireland, too, there may ere long take place a parallel to what is now passing in this hall; that there a similar occasion may present itself and a similar ceremony be performed."

Occasion Memorable One.

King George and Queen Mary, journeying from England on the tenth anniversary of their coronation, presided at the opening of the parliament. It was the first time in nearly 20 years that Ulster had entertained the British sovereigns and its people helped make the occasion memorable.

The ceremony held in the city hall was similar to that attending the inauguration of the British parliament at Westminster, and was a brilliant spectacle.

The hall was packed with those having cards of admission, but the distinguished assembly regarded the event as marking an important epoch in Irish history.

Sinn Fein and nationalist members of the parliament did not participate in the exercises.

From the moment the royal yacht Victoria and Albert dropped her anchor at the entrance to Belfast Lough, to make her way up the straight channel to the dock, the king and queen were the objects of enthusiastic demonstrations by the loyalists of Ulster.

Noisy Welcome Accorded.

An even noisier welcome awaited the royal pair as their yacht steamed past the shipyards where the cheers of thousands of workmen mingled with the shrieks of siren and whistle.

King George and his consort stood on the bridge of the steamer and acknowledged the greeting.

As the monarchs set foot on the dock the royal salute boomed out, and the cheering of the Irish soil.

With the exception of the formal reception by Viscount Fitzalan, lord lieutenant of Ireland, and Lord Pirrie, who appeared in behalf of the city, there were no ceremonies at the dock.

A squadron of police headed the procession and the carriages of the royal party were followed by those of the officers and dignitaries. The escort of honor was chosen from the Tenth Hussars.

On each side of the street was stationed a force of nearly 6000 regular troops, standing shoulder to shoulder and separated from the crowds by a heavy railing.

Other parts of the city were met by the lord mayor and members of the Belfast council.

Royalty Is Entertained.

After the ceremonies the king and queen were entertained at luncheon by Sir James Craig, the premier of Ulster, and the lord mayor.

More through the flag-decorated streets to Ulster hall, where they received addresses of loyalty from various organizations.

King George and Queen Mary departed from Belfast for London in perfect safety this afternoon.

Last night four union jacks hoisted over the municipal building in Londonberry, and banners bearing the words "God Save the King," were removed in accordance with the declaration made at his election by the nationalist lord mayor, O'Doherty, that no emblem would be permitted during his term.

Union jacks included in the decorations in the northwestern part of Londonberry also were torn down.

IRISH SENATORS AVOW AIMS

Memorial Stating Purposes Sent to British Premier.

LONDON, June 22.—(By the Associated Press.)—Senators of southern Ireland have sent a memorial to Premier Lloyd George, saying:

"Having been elected to serve in the senate of southern Ireland, we desire to place on record in accepting such appointment, that we do so with the intention of exercising the fullest freedom of action regarding the powers to be hereafter granted the parliament and government of southern Ireland.

"We are of the opinion that the powers given under the present act are insufficient. We urge on the government that the earliest possible date be taken to recast the act."

"We desire further to make it clear that we are ready to act in the second chamber with a lower house elected constitutionally as representing a majority of the electors, but we are not prepared to exercise our functions in connection with anybody maintained by the lord lieutenant to replace the elected lower house."

JURY GETS M'COY CASE

EX-CONVIC IS CHARGED WITH DYNAMITING BANK VAULT.

Prisoner Testifies He Went Out to Practice With Revolver and Became Ill.

JURORS chosen to determine the guilt of innocence of Archie McCoy, charged with dynamiting the vault of the Trousdale State bank on the night of April 23, were impaneled yesterday afternoon at 8 o'clock.

McCoy, an ex-convict, was found the day after the burglary sick on the road between the bank and his home at the edge of the city on the Base Line road.

Witnesses testified his illness was similar to that induced by inhaling fumes of nitro powder, and it was the theory of the state that he prepared this powder at the bank and blew off the door of the bank vault.

Shoes taken off McCoy's feet after his arrest were said to have fitted tracks near the bank. McCoy, when arrested, had a revolver, a pair of pliers, a bunch of skeleton keys, a flashlight and a heavy hammer with a metal handle.

On the stand in his own behalf, McCoy said he started out that day in the early morning for a point east of the Twelve-mile house for target practice with his revolver.

In the brush, he became sick from stomach trouble and sought to make his way back home. Because of his condition, this required hours.
