IRISH ARE EXPECTED TO ATTEND PARLEY

London Believes Conference Bill Will Be Accepted.

LETTER AMAZES DUBLIN

Profound Change of Heart on Part of Lloyd George Thought to Be Indicated in Message.

LONDON, June 27.—(By the Associated Press.)—Belief that Eamonn de Valera, "president of the Irish republic," will accept Premier Lloyd George's invitation to come to London for a conference with the government and Premier Craig of Ulster, designed to bring about a settlement of the Irish problem, was expressed in the majority of reports reaching this city from Dublin.

Lloyd George's invitation caused a profound sensation in Dublin.

Sources predicting that De Valera will accept are agreed that he probably will attach sharp conditions to his acceptance, one being that more binding guarantees than were contained in the premier's letter must be given for the safe conduct of certain other Irish leaders, and that he would insist upon release of republicans now interned or imprisoned in order that they might accompany him. It was pointed out that the wording of the premier's letter would make it impossible for him to refuse such a demand.

Change of Views Indicated.

The prime minister's letter was regarded here as indication of a remarkable and significant change of attitude in the British premier.

In the event that De Valera refuses the premier's invitation, it is generally believed that the government will make energetic preparations for a vigorous campaign to suppress Sein Fein activities.

Troops which would be used for this purpose are constantly arriving in Ireland and the extension of martial law to all of Ireland except Ulster is known to have been considered for some time.

Moderate Sinn Feiners are represented as being extremely anxious that De Valera accept the invitation. They can see no possibility of ending the conflict under present conditions and they fear terrible results if an intensified military campaign is begun as a result of rejection of Lloyd George's overtures, it is declared.

Extremists May Oppose.

An authority anonymously quoted by the Daily Mail in dispatches from Dublin declared that peace would be posible if the British government agreed to permit Ireland to govern herself, excluding only matters pertaining to foreign relations, the army, navy and other strategical considerations and if the six northern counties were granted by the rest of Ireland such measures of self-government as De Valera has indicated his willingness to concede, within the limits of an autonomous Ireland. Such a settlement, however, this authority pointed out, would involve abandonment of the demand for complete independence and might for that reason be repudiated by the extremists.

LONGER CONFERENCE LIKELY

Triple Alliance of Britain, Japan and America Now Is Suggested.

LONDON, June 27.—The imperial conference which reassembled today is likely to last much longer than originally was proposed, probably throughout the month of July. Even then, it is believed, it will be found necessary to postpone action on many subjects pending further discussion.

Possibility of delay in the proposed daily meetings also is seen in the fact that Premier Lloyd George has invited Eamonn de Valera, "president of the Irish republic," and Sir James Craig, premier of the Ulster government, to come to London for a discussion of the Irish problem.

During the last week there has been a full confidential reviewing of the empire's foreign policy, but none of the speeches delivered in this connection will be made public.

There has been a noticeable development recently in press comment on the subject of the renewal of the Anglo-Japanese treaty.

Hitherto it had been generally assumed that the government policy contemplated renewal of the treaty, but with modifications clearly defining its position with respect to the United States and China.

A number of influential newspapers, however, in their most recent comment have favored the idea of replacing the treaty by some tripartite agreement or understanding between England, the United States and Japan, which would regulate all questions regarding the Pacific ocean and China.

This idea appears to be the outgrowth of a proposal raised in some quarters that America be brought formally into the treaty and is advanced because it is considered that there may be serious drawbacks to any extension of defensive alliances. It is argued that while such alliances exist, it is hopeless to expect any serious effort at disarmament.

PAY CUT IS EXTENDED

tion of the board's cut to all employes of the larger railroads will probably make the $400,000,000 reduction a reality.

While no definite returns have been announced from the referendum being taken by all the railway unions on acceptance or rejection of the 12 per cent cut, it was expected that conferences here on July 1 would agree to accept the board's decision.

The new order involves practically all classes of employes.

The only change in the rates of reduction made by today's decision was in the case of some marine workers at eastern ports.

DR. SUN WARNS AMERICA

JAPAN SAID TO BE PLANNING TO STRIKE IN 1924.

President of Chinese Republic Wants United States to Help Him Get to Pekin.

SEATTLE, Wash., June 27.—(Special.)—W. E. Priestley, a Seattle fireworks manufacturer, said, on his arrival here today, that as he was leaving China six weeks ago, Dr. Sun Yat Sen, president of the South China republic, called him into his office and warned him that Japan was preparing for war against the United States.

"Dr. Sun sent for me just as I was leaving Canton," said Priestley. "He said he was very anxious to obtain recognition for his government by the United States government.

"He said the British and the Japanese were working strenuously against him, having combined to drive him out of Canton.

"During our conversation he warned me that the Japanese were preparing to declare war on the United States in 1924.

"He pointed out that the Japanese work in ten-year cycles. In 1894 they started war with China, in 1904 they launched a war on Russia, in 1914 they joined in the war against Germany and, as he said, they are getting ready for the biggest scrap of all in 1924.

"Up to the present, he added, they have found the war game has been quite profitable.

"I assured him the Americans weren't losing much sleep over the threatened invasion. Dr. Sun grew very serious.

"He said if the American government would give him recognition and assist him to get to Pekin he would keep the Japs so busy in China for the next five years that they wouldn't have time even to glance across the Pacific.

"I believe Dr. Sun is working for the best interests of China, and if he could get to Pekin would make good as the real president of China. He does not believe, however, that he ever will achieve this ambition again, as the British and Japanese power is too great."

TIME HELD INOPPORTUNE

Statement of Japanese Minister Favorable to Disarmament Conference Rouses Interest.

LONDON, June 27.—(By the Associated Press.)—The question of disarmament, particularly as to an agreement in which Great Britain and the United States might be parties, and the possibility of Japan joining in such a disarmament move, was brought up in the house of commons today by Commander Carlyon Bellairs, unionist member for the Maidstone division of Kent.

Commander Bellairs asked Premier Lloyd George "whether his attention had been drawn to the statement of the Japanese minister of marine to the Associated Press of America that should the powers come to a reliable understanding and agree unanimously to limit their armaments, Japan would limit her armaments to a certain extent and would not necessarily insist upon the completion of her programme; and whether the government will ascertain if this statement would apply to a naval agreement to which Great Britain and the United States are parties."

Government Leader Replies.

Austen Chamberlain, government leader in the house, replying for the prime minister, said:

"I have seen the statement referred to and taken note of its importance, but I cannot add anything at this moment to what was said by me June 17, and by the premier to the imperial conference."

In an interview with the Associated Press in Tokio March 24, last, Vice-Admiral Kato, Japanese minister of marine, said:

"If a dependable international agreement comes into being, whereby all naval powers should agree to restrict their naval forces, I would be very glad to join to a reasonable extent if a suitable formula should be found. Therefore, I do not insist upon the competition of our so-called eight-eight programme."

The programmee referred to by the admiral was that providing for a Japanese fleet of eight battleships and eight battlecruisers, not more than eight years old.

Admiral Glad to Co-Operate.

The admiral said that whenever an international conference on armament reduction was called, he would be only too glad to co-operate with other governments to give effect to the principle.

Questioned by another member as to whether the British ambassador at Washington had taken any steps to bring about a disarmament conference, Mr. Chamberlain said it was undesirable to make a statement on this phase while the whole question was under consideration by the imperial conference.

LEVEE BREAK EXPECTED

FIRST LINE OF DEFENSE FOR IMPERIAL VALLEY IN DANGER.

Much Depends on Direction Waters Take After Getting Through, Engineers Declare.

CALEXICO, Cal., June 27.—The Ockerson levee, which parallels the Colorado river for about 20 miles from the international boundary south in Lower California, was expected to give way at any minute, according to a ord telephoned to the offices of the Imperial irrigation district here from its engineers on the works late today.

The Ockerson is the first line of defense for the Imperial valley region. The Salz, which is next, is already under water and the engineers practically abandoned it 10 days ago. Work has been concentrated on the Volcano lake levee, which is still east and north of the Salz and the engineers were hopeful today that if the Ockerson went out, the Volcano would hold the waters off the valley.

They said much depended on the direction the river current took. If it swung south slight damage might follow a break in the Ockerson, but if it turned north the results might be serious. Property damage only was anticipated in either case. Life, they said, would be safe.
