

GIRL BRIDE ADMITS PLOT FOR FORGERY

Husband Said to Have Been Instigator of Scheme.

WOMAN CAUGHT IN STORE

Police Are Now Looking for Man Who Married Ruth Baker, 18, in Seattle a Week Since.

Because she was wildly infatuated with a romantic youth who wooed and won her in a whirlwind courtship, Mrs. Ruth O. Baker, 18 years old, and a bride of a week, turned forger in order to supply her husband with sufficient funds for their honeymoon.

WEDDING JUNE 25

Mrs. Baker, who is a striking blonde, and apparently of a good family, told the police that she had married Baker in Seattle June 25. After their marriage the husband suddenly produced a sheaf of forged checks, she said, and asked her to take them to department stores to be cashed.

FORGERY DECLARED GOOD

The forged checks, which were made out on the Northwestern National bank, with the name of Paul Long, an attorney, forged to H. Mr. Long inspected the check and said it was an excellent forgery of his signature, but he was at a loss to know where a sample of his signature had been procured by the couple.

GIRL BREAKS DOWN

It was not until Mr. Long had revealed his identity to the girl and assured her that the check was a forgery, that she broke down and made a complete and frank confession of all her operations under the name of her husband during the week of their honeymoon.

HUSBAND IS SOUGHT

Police believe the girl has been duped by some suave crook who saw that her striking but unattractive appearance would disarm a majority of merchants who might have the forged checks presented to them.

HONEYMOON'S END REACHED

Mrs. Baker said last night that she had reached the end of her honeymoon and was just about to be released that she has been made the pawn of a clever crook.

FACE DEFORMITY HELD EXCUSABLE

Plastic Surgery Declared to Have Accomplished Wonders.

MANY ORPHANS ARE CURED

Misshapen Nose Often Prevents One From Getting Employment, but It Need No Longer View.

That the shape of noses has almost become a sociological problem in many respects was an opinion voiced yesterday afternoon at the tri-state medical meeting at the Multnomah hotel by Dr. Virlyr P. Blair, professor of plastic surgery at Washington university at St. Louis, and head of the plastic surgery department of the American expeditionary force's medical corps.

DEFORMITIES PREVENT EMPLOYMENT

Maid afflicted in the same way have great difficulty in getting positions, and those who are afflicted with a hard for many people to get employment, he said. In speaking of the orphans suffering from facial deformities, he said he had acquired much of the opinion of the Chinese, that it was better to kill them than let them grow up in an orphan asylum, held aloof from the world by their unsightliness.

TRUSTEE IN BANKRUPTCY DECIDES TO POSTPONE FURTHER ACTION UNTIL AFTER JULY 4.

Bids were regarded as absurdly low for the assets of the estate held by the defunct bond house of Morris Bros., Inc., and Judge E. C. Swanton, referee, decided yesterday to reject definitely all save two, one for capital stock of the Ladd & Tilton bank, amounting to $10,000, and shares of the Oregon Life Insurance company to the value of $2000.

SEARS OFFER MADE WORSE

Scars were made worse when it was attempted to remove them because no allowance was made for the natural drawing together and pinching of the scar when the result. Triangular scars frequently did this and his experience had shown that the successful bidder to remove one angle of the scar and leave a linear mark which often closed.
